Erin Jessee is a Human Security Postdoctoral Fellow with the Liu Institute for Global Issues at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, Canada. She holds a doctoral degree in the Humanities from Concordia University in Montréal. In addition to several recent peer-reviewed articles, she is writing a manuscript on the political uses of history surrounding the Rwandan genocide in 1994 and the Bosnian War from 1992 to 1995. In addition, she has recently launched a new research program that assesses domestic and international efforts to locate, identify, and repatriate the victims of the 1994 Rwandan genocide from the perspective of Rwandan survivors.
