Rhetoric and Roma: Minorities and the Political Right in Europe

Presenter: Dr. Robert Gould, Carleton University

Date: September 30, 2010

Time: 12:00 noon — 1:15pm

Location: History Lounge, 4th Floor, Paterson Hall

Robert Gould is an Adjunct Research Professor in the Institute of European, Russian and Eurasian Studies, as well as in the School of Linguistics and Language Studies.

Recent events in France have drawn attention to attitudes towards minorities in Europe, and to the discrepancy between the position of the EU and that of some political actors in EU member states. This presentation will look at visual and verbal rhetoric used on the political Right to delegitimize certain minorities.
