

Software Developer(s)

Milieu is an award winning and dynamic start-up that is changing the way urban planning consultation happens in Canada. Do you want to be part of a fun and exciting start-up?

Milieu Team is looking for software developers with experience in any of the following languages: Ruby, Java or using javascript frameworks. The work will be paid by contract.

We're currently in the process of assembling a Data Science team to integrate IBM Bluemix tools into our web application. Specifically we want to include an automatic text processing element into our services.

If this sounds like a project you'd be interested in please follow up with trevordeley@cmail.carleton.ca

You can check out the web application here and see our work in the news here!
