A Writing-Attentive Seminar in Twentieth-Century Literature

This seminar introduces students to the mechanics of analysis, argument, and formal writing through the lens of twentieth-century literature. Skills associated with the study of language and literature (close reading, rhetorical techniques, writing the formal essay, advanced scholarly research) will be developed in conjunction with a study of some of the most influential works of the Modernist period. We will track the rise of Modernism on both sides of the Atlantic: from its roots in a conscious reaction against nineteenth-century literary forms, thought, and culture, through the crisis of the First World War and the birth of psychoanalysis, to the excitement of European expatriation and the Harlem Renaissance.

We will begin by examining some of the strategies used by proto-Modernists such as G.B. Shaw, Henrik Ibsen, and Anton Chekhov to distinguish themselves from their literary and ideological predecessors. The rise of psychoanalysis provided some of the chief insights that separated modern conceptions of the self from older models, and we will explore F. Scott Fitzgerald's and Djuna Barnes's conflicting treatments of Freudian psychology for evidence of the deep contradictions in an intellectual climate where the barriers of class, race, and gender were both contested and defended. Additionally, we will examine how poets such as Ezra Pound, T.S. Eliot, and Wallace Stevens led an extraordinary revolution in poetic expression. Questions about the duties of the artist and the quest for meaning in what was viewed as an increasingly meaningless world were exacerbated by the coming of World War I. In an attempt to gauge the impact of the carnage of the war upon the minds of combatants and non-combatants, we will read a number of war poets alongside writings by Antonia White and Ernest Hemingway. The social and geographic mobility instigated by rapid advances in technology prompted rich (and often devastating) cross-currents of migration, expatriation, and colonization. Works by Joseph Conrad and Nella Larsen will raise the question of moral responsibility in the face of racial and cultural otherness.

The seminar will adhere to the following aims and principles common to other writing-attentive seminars taught within the Department of English and Literature:

● Students will spend a significant amount of class time learning and improving university-level forms of thinking and writing (particularly essay-writing skills) that will concentrate on the following:

- establishment and refinement of literary-critical skills through close analysis of texts from a variety of genres
 - generation and proof of an argument (thesis) across an essay
 - establishment and refinement of sophisticated ideas and opinions using proper, correct and effective academic English style
 - use and citation of primary literary texts in appropriate and convincing ways
 - development of fluency in and facility with genre-specific literary terminology
 - introduction to the fundamentals of secondary research (including critical evaluation, use, and citation of academic sources)
- Students will complete a minimum of two graded writing assignments per term, in which they will be expected to demonstrate the above skills
- Students will write at least one formally scheduled examination

NB: Students who miss eight or more classes will not be eligible to submit work or write exams.

Terms of Evaluation

Grade Distribution: 5% first essay (3 pages); 15% second essay (6 pages); 15% third essay (6 pages); 10% fourth essay (5 pages); 15% in-class test; 20% final exam; 5% participation; 5% five beginning-of-class unannounced quizzes; 5% five end-of-class unannounced quizzes; 3% attendance of workshops organized by Learning Support Services (LSS); 2% attendance of Library Workshop and Career Centre Tour and Workshop.

Essays: The essays are designed to teach students the skills involved in writing a formal literary essay, such as close reading, methods of persuasion and argumentation, and protocols of citation. Essays should be printed double-spaced in 12-point font. A penalty of 2%/per day (including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) will be applied for late essays. The penalty does not apply in case of illness upon the presentation of a doctor's note. Papers should be submitted on paper rather than electronically. Essay deadlines are listed on the reading schedule; essays are due at 8:35 am (beginning of class) on the day of the deadline. After this time, penalties begin to apply.

A choice of essay topics will be distributed in class in advance of the deadlines (see reading schedule), and students are encouraged to consult with the instructor regarding all aspects of the research, organization, argument, and writing style of the essays. Each essay will be graded on form—organization, grammar, syntax—(50%), and content—knowledge of texts, complexity of argument and analysis, appropriateness of scholarly research—(50%). NB: Fall-term essays will not be accepted after December 8, and winter-term essays will not be accepted after April 8. The final-essay grades are contingent upon an informal oral examination by the instructor.

In-Class Test (first-term only): The in-class test is designed to evaluate students' close reading and retention of the course material as well as their understanding of class lectures and discussions. Consequently, the test will contain two sections: a. a number of multiple choice questions designed to test students' close reading of the studied texts (10%); b. a choice of short questions designed to test students' comprehensive knowledge of the studied texts (60%); a choice of essay questions designed to showcase students' understanding of the mechanics of argument and analysis as applied to works studied in class (30%).

<http://www.gutenberg.org/cache/epub/526/pg526.html>

Final Exam: The final exam will follow the same format as the in-class test but will take place during the formal examination period at the end of the academic year. The material covered on the final exam is non-cumulative.

Attendance and participation: Faithful attendance and informed participation are mandatory. Members of the class are expected to attend all sessions and to prepare readings and assignments carefully. NB: Students who miss eight or more classes will not be eligible to submit work or write exams.

Quizzes:

a. Five unannounced multiple-choice quizzes at the beginning of class: In order to ensure that students come prepared for lectures and class discussions, they will write five unannounced multiple-choice quizzes designed to test their detailed knowledge of the works scheduled for analysis during that particular class. Each quiz will contain ten questions and will be worth 1% of the final grade. Those who have missed one or more quizzes will be able to write one make-up quiz at the end of the academic year. The make-up quiz will include questions taken from the readings covered throughout the course. All multiple-choice quizzes will be written at the beginning of class; those arriving late will not be able to write the quizzes and will therefore forfeit the quiz grade.

b. Five unannounced quizzes at the end of class: In order to ensure that students are attentive to lectures and class discussions, they will write five unannounced quizzes designed to test their detailed understanding of the lecture material and class discussions. Each quiz will contain one question and will be worth 1% of the final grade. Those who have missed one or more quizzes will be able to write one make-up quiz at the end of the academic year. The make-up quiz will include questions taken from the material covered in lectures throughout the whole course. Multiple-choice quizzes will be written during the last 20-30 minutes of the class; those departing from class early will not be able to write the quiz and will therefore forfeit the quiz grade.

Attendance of Workshops Organized by Learning Support Services (LSS): LSS is a branch of the Student Academic Success Centre (SASC), Carleton University's one-stop-shop for student support. Its primary goal is to help first-year students transition successfully from high school to university, and prepare them to meet the expectations of their instructors. 3% of the final grade must be earned by attending three workshops organized by LSS. Students are encouraged to choose the three workshops most suitable to their particular needs from the following options:

- Critical Thinking
- Memory and Concentration
- Note-Taking in Lectures
- Preparing for Exams and Easing Anxiety
- Procrastination
- Reading Your Audit

Research Skills
Time Management
Tips for New Students
Writing Essays
Writing Exams

These workshops are delivered by trained LSS Peer Helpers, academic advisors, library staff, or tutors from the Writing Tutorial Service (WTS). Students must attend these workshops during the fall semester and outside class hours. The names of the participants in these workshops will be collected and forwarded to the class instructor by the workshop leader. Workshops will begin the last week of September. Please visit www.carleton.ca/lss to register for workshops.

Academic Accommodation

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term because of disability, pregnancy or religious obligations. Please review the course outline promptly and write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist.

Students with disabilities requiring academic accommodations in this course must register with the Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) for a formal evaluation of disability-related needs. Documented disabilities could include but are not limited to mobility/physical impairments, specific Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/psychological disabilities, sensory disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), and chronic medical conditions. Registered PMC students are required to contact the PMC, 613-520-6608, every term to ensure that your Instructor receives your Letter of Accommodation, no later than two weeks before the first assignment is due or the first in-class test/midterm requiring accommodations. If you only require accommodations for your formally scheduled exam(s) in this course, please submit your request for accommodations to PMC by Nov. 1, 2014 for the Fall term and March 1, 2015 for the Winter term.

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at <http://carleton.ca/equity/accommodation>.

Religious and Pregnancy Accommodations

Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of religious obligations should make a formal, written request to their instructors for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor. The instructor will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Students who want to confirm accommodation eligibility of a religious event or practice may refer to the Equity Services' website for a list of holy days and Carleton's Academic Accommodation policies, or may contact an Equity-Services Advisor for assistance (613-520-2600, ext. 5622, www.carleton.ca/equity).

Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a Letter of Accommodation (613-520-2600, ext. 5622, www.carleton.ca/equity). Students must then make an appointment to discuss their needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

All Students

Students are strongly encouraged to make optimal use of the instructor's office hours. Office hours are set aside for students to discuss with the instructor all aspects of the course and to seek assistance with any problems they might encounter in fulfilling the assigned tasks. Two weeks after the beginning of the course, each student will be asked to attend a short, informal introductory meeting with the instructor in order to discuss the student's aims and expectations in the course.

All students are also strongly encouraged to take advantage of the services offered at Carleton University, such as the following:

Plagiarism and Other Instructional Offences

The University's policy concerning plagiarism and other instructional offences is outlined in the Undergraduate Calendar (see particularly regulation 14 – Instructional Offences). The Undergraduate Calendar defines an act of plagiarism as an attempt "to use and pass off as one's own idea or product the work of another without expressly giving credit" to the original author. Any act of plagiarism will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the guidelines set out in the Undergraduate Calendar.

The Undergraduate Calendar further specifies that the act of submitting "substantially the same piece of work to two or more courses without the prior written permission of the instructors from all courses involved" constitutes an Instructional Offence. Please note: "Minor modifications and amendments, such as changes of phraseology in an essay or paper, do not constitute a significant and acceptable reworking of an assignment." No piece of work written for another course will be accepted for credit in this course.

General Guidelines

1. Turn off cell phones upon arrival to class.

2. Do not arrive late to class. Arriving late is disrespectful and it disturbs both the instructor and the students. If arriving late due to unforeseen circumstances, please minimize the disturbance by sitting in a seat close to the doors.
3. Chatting with classmates during a lecture or class discussions is unacceptable in a university setting.
