

European Border Security and the '2015 Mediterranean Migration Crisis'

NICK VAUGHAN-WILLIAMS

Department of Politics and International Studies
The University of Warwick, Coventry (United Kingdom)

September 20, 2016

4:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

Senate Room 608 Robertson Hall, Carleton University Campus

Public talk, no registration required

What spatial formations and modes of governance are reflected in attempts to manage flows of mobility and immobility in the context of the '2015 Mediterranean crisis'?

And how are these experienced by 'irregular' populations targeted by apparatuses of border security?

What are some of the key conceptual challenges we need to be engaging with and how to best approach them?

In reflecting on these questions, our invited speaker will draw on some of the arguments of his recent book, Europe's Border Crisis: Biopolitical Security and Beyond (OUP, 2015), and the interim findings of fieldwork conducted in Malta as part of his current project entitled 'Crossing the Mediterranean Sea by Boat: Mapping and Documenting Migratory Journeys and Experiences'.

Borders in Globalization.
An International Research Network.
Connecting Research to Policy.
Building Excellence in the Knowledge of Borders.
@BIG_Uvic – www.biglobalization.org

A Transnational Research Collective.
Formed by Students, Emerging Scholars and Practitioners.
Based out of Carleton University. With Collaborators in Canada & Beyond.
@mobpoli – www.mobpoli.info

Carleton
UNIVERSITY

Department of Geography & Environmental Studies

Social Sciences and Humanities
Research Council of Canada

Conseil de recherches en
sciences humaines du Canada

Canada