

Separating the Good from the Bad: The Global Governance of Illegal Markets

Anja P. Jakobi

Senior Lecturer, Department of Politics and International Relations, Royal Holloway, University of London

© UNODC

February 6, 2014

D492 Loeb Building Carleton University

3:00 - 4:30 pm

Anja P. Jakobi's work analyzes global crime, illicit markets and non-traditional security threats. Among her recent publications is Common Goods and Evils? The Formation of Global Crime Governance (Oxford University Press, 2013).

This event is co-sponsored by the Department of Law and Legal Studies and the Institute of Political Economy