An Artist Talk by Leslie Hossack

Thursday, October 17, 11:30-1:00PM
Mackenzie Building, Room 4494
Carleton University

Ottawa photographer Leslie Hossack will present her award-winning photographs exploring the monumental events and architecture of Berlin and Moscow.

Hitler and Stalin both understood the significant role played by architecture. The buildings constructed during their era provide us with a historic record written in stone. Hossack examines this record through her interpretative fine art photographs.

Leslie Hossack is a Canadian photographer whose work has been exhibited in galleries in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver. Hossack was selected to participate in The Canadian Forces Artist Program, following in a long tradition of national war artists, and in 2013 she was deployed to Kosovo.
