Generic Calendar Blurb: Study of a period or theme in Greek History.

Winter 2015: This course focuses on the evolution of warfare (in technology, strategy, tactics, and organization) from the Bronze Age until the Hellenistic period. Not only will it cover infantry, cavalry, naval and siege warfare, but also considerations of command, intelligence, logistics, medicine (including psychology) and atrocities of war. It will place the act of war within the social and cultural context of each period in history.

Required Text:

Hans van Wees, Greek Warfare: Myths and Realities (Bloomsbury 2004).

Students will also be required to read several passages from primary sources relevant to ancient warfare. Translations will be posted on the course cuLearn website.

Requirements:

Essay Lecture (Feb. 2)	minus 5% penalty if not present
Midterm Test (entire class Feb. 11)	25%
Research Project: get topic approved by Feb. 11
Annotated Bibliography (due Mar. 2)	15%
Essay (due Mar. 23)	30%

The instructor must be informed immediately and appropriate documentation produced. Make-up tests are scheduled within one week of the original test and at the professor's convenience. Students will be expected to produce their Carleton Student ID card at the final exam.

Research Bibliography and Essay: Students should develop their essay topic IN CONSULTATION WITH THE PROFESSOR. All topics must be approved by the professor by February 11, 2015. Research on a topic that has not been approved will not be accepted or graded.

The research bibliography and essay are due at the start of their respective classes. If they are not in my hands by the time I begin lecturing, they are late and a penalty will be assessed. The penalty for late submission will be 10% subtracted from the grade for each working day late:

ie. 1 day = minus 10%; 2 days = minus 20%; 3 days = minus 30%; 4 days = minus 40%; 5 days = minus 50%). After five days, the late work will receive a mark of zero.

Academic offences: All students are expected to know what constitutes an academic offence, to avoid committing academic offences, and to take responsibility for their academic actions. Academic offences include things like plagiarism, cheating, improper research, obstructing academic activity, double submission, unauthorized cooperation / collaboration, impersonation, falsification etc. When the commission of an academic offence is established, disciplinary penalties will be imposed in accordance with the regulations of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences.

REGULATIONS COMMON TO ALL HUMANITIES COURSES

COPIES OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED

Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

PLAGIARISM

The University Senate defines plagiarism as "presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own." This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another's data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs."

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course's instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of "F" for the course
