Canada and Korea are not strangers to each other especially when it comes to military relations due to Canada's strong support during the Korean War. Furthermore, North Korea's continued provocative actions are posing threats to the global community including Canada therefore; Korea's reunification is not a regional issue but a global issue that Canadians must pay close attention to.

Hence, 'The Korean War and Reunification Symposium 2015' will be a great venue for scholars, veterans, diplomats, high school and college students to interact and share ideas on the two important topics; the Korean War and reunification.

The selected applicants will present their papers and the commentators will comment and provide insights in a panel discussion. The audience will also get an opportunity to share their ideas during Q & A session. Please come out to this exciting and a meaningful symposium.
