For Students With Disabilities: Students with disabilities needing academic accommodations in this course are required to contact a co-ordinator at the Paul Menton Centre to complete the necessary letters of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss their needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first class or ITV test. This is to ensure sufficient time is available to make the necessary accommodation arrangement. Please note the deadline for submitting completed forms to the PMC for formally scheduled exam accommodations is November 9, 2007 for December examinations and March 14, 2008, for April examinations.

For Religious Obligations: Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of religious obligations should make a formal, written request to their instructors for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Students or instructors who have questions or want to confirm accommodation eligibility of a religious event or practice may refer to the Equity Services website for a list of holy days and Carleton's Academic Accommodation policies, or may contact an Equity Services Advisor in the Equity Services Department for assistance.

For Pregnancy: Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss her needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Law is one way of ordering a society. Did you buy breakfast this morning? There is law involved in that. Did you stop at a stop sign on your drive in? Or pay for a bus ticket? Law again. From these issues to more abstract questions such as the kind of society we want to live in law has a role. For this reason this course focuses on how law structures society in the Canadian context. In this course we will ask key questions about law: What is law? How does law work? Who shapes the law? When does law affect change in society? And where does the law end and society begin? Through these questions we will explore several important topics. We will begin with an overview of the concept of law – its definition, theories of law and the role of power in law. We will move on to discuss the structure of Canadian law, with a focus on law making and reasoning. We will then explore the people of law –lawyers and judges as well as issues of access to justice. We will then look at the relationship between law and social change, law and social control and law as a method of resolving disputes in society.

While this course is designed to introduce you to ideas about law in society, it will also teach you skills that are necessary to study law, such as how to critically evaluate legal topics. We will focus on building skills by talking about topics such as legal reasoning, exam and essay skills and also by holding tutorials that focus on teaching you specific skills and reviewing key concepts in the course. By the end of the course you will have not only an understanding of the outlines of the Canadian legal system, but have gained skills to think critically about law and its place in society.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

There are two required texts for this course.

1. S. Vago and A. Nelson, Law and Society, 2nd Canadian Edition (Pearson Prentice Hall, Toronto 2007) [referred to as Vago and Nelson].
2. Carleton University, The Carleton Department of Law Casebook Group, Introduction to Legal Studies, 3rd Edition (Captus, Concord 2001) [referred to as the Casebook].

These books have been ordered for you at HAVEN BOOKS, 43 Seneca Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1S 4X2 Tel. (613) 730-9888. Please note that the Vago and Nelson text is a new edition this year. You may want to find used copies of the Casebook (just make sure it is the right edition).

EVALUATION:

The evaluation for the course will be broken down as follows:

Fall Term Assignment	15%
December Exam	30%
Winter Term Assignment	20%
April Exam	30%
Tutorial Attendance	5%

Assignments:

The Fall Term Assignment will be handed out on Thursday, October 11, 2007 in class (and posted on WebCT thereafter) and will be due on Thursday, November 15, 2007. This assignment will require you to read and summarize a court case (which I will assign and is the same for everyone) and then relate that case to the course materials. It will be 4-6 pages in length (double spaced). The Winter Term Assignment will be handed out in class on Thursday, January 31, 2008 (and will be posted on WebCT after that day) and will be due on Thursday, March 13, 2008. This assignment will be an essay question which must be answered in essay format. This assignment will be 5-7 pages (double spaced) in length. ALL assignments are to be handed to the DROP BOX in the Law Department Office in Loeb C473 in accordance with DROP BOX policy and will be returned by your Tutorial Assistants in your Discussion Group. Assignments cannot be submitted electronically or to any other place other than the DROP BOX. Also please keep a copy of all assignments as a backup until your final grade is confirmed.

Please note that for written assignments marks may be deducted for spelling, grammar and style. Any late assignments will be penalized at a rate of 3% a day (that means Saturday and Sunday too).

All written work must be yours alone, and any ideas you include in your work which are not original to you should be properly referenced, otherwise this is plagiarism. I will explain further in class about what plagiarism is and what academic integrity means at Carleton but as a good first step you should familiarize yourself with the department's policies on proper referencing and citation. For example, the Department of Law has a Departmental Course-Related Policy and Procedure Statement on its website and as well you should take a look at the university's academic integrity policy and the library's web page on plagiarism.

To create a consistent and fair policy I grant extensions only in the circumstances approved by the Registrar's office, and only for the period up to the due date. If you think you may require an extension please see me BEFORE the assignment is due and I will be able to consider your request. Also, I cannot accept assignments AFTER the assignment has been returned to students (approved extensions aside). If you have not submitted your assignment by the time it is returned in tutorial you will not receive a grade, and this is important because ALL assignments must be completed to receive a passing grade in this course.

Exams:

The two exams will be multiple choice exams during the assigned exam periods on dates set by the University. I do not set the date, nor can I change it. You should not make travel arrangements before knowing your exam schedule since I cannot change this date. The exams will each contain 60 questions and will be two hours in length.

Tutorials:

Marks will be given for attendance at tutorials. Attendance at Tutorials will be worth a total of 5%. This means attending each tutorial is worth approximately 0.25%. Your Teaching Assistant will take attendance for each tutorial.

You should also note that standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that any grades submitted by me may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

COURSE HINTS:

My goal for this course is provide you with the knowledge, skills (and enthusiasm) to allow you to achieve your best as well as giving you the basis to go forward and succeed in Law courses at Carleton. So here are some tips for how to achieve this...

1. Preparation – Studies show that regular attendance at class is linked to higher grades. The second key, however, is preparation – doing your readings before class will help you get the most out of the lecture. I also (see WebCT below) post some guided reading questions and my slides the night before each lecture to help you come prepared.
2. Web CT: Please sign up for a WebCT account. I use WebCT regularly. This course outline will be posted on WebCT as will all assignment sheets after they are handed out, so you can always find them there. WebCT should be a first stop if you have any administrative questions since all the documents for the class (outline and assignments etc.) will be posted there. Also, as mentioned, I post guided reading questions and lecture slides on WebCT the night before each class so please print those off and bring them with you to class if it helps. Lastly, the e-mail on WebCT is the e-mail address to use to get in touch with me for this course.
3. Note taking: Note taking can take a bit of getting used to. There is a skill to being able to quickly synthesize what I am saying and make it into points you can study from later. Don't worry if this seems hard at first, it gets easier. Also, you'll notice right away the slides I post are a good OUTLINE to what I am saying, but not the whole story, so attending class and writing your own notes on what I say is necessary.
4. Questions: If you are unsure please ask. Your TAs and I are here to answer your questions. That's our job. Please don't hesitate to ask if something was unclear or if you have any questions about an assignment. Also, there are many great services available on campus that can also provide you with advice, for example there is the Writing Tutorial Service (Learning Support Services, Room 411 ML), the Student Academic Success Centre (SASC 302 Tory) and the Learning Commons (4th Floor of the Library).

5. E-mail etiquette: E-mail is a funny thing, it feels like a conversation but it is really a formal way of communicating to your Instructor or TA. Please read your e-mails over before sending them and take the time to consider if this is what you would like your TA or me to see in writing as e-mail is a formal record of communication.

6. Forms of Address – I am pretty flexible on how you address me and I don't mind Betina. If you prefer not using first names, I am happy to answer to more formal titles in class and in e-mails.

7. Contesting a grade – If you think you have a reason to contest a grade on assignment please follow this procedure. 1. Wait a week and think carefully about the reasons why you want to contest the grade – you have to make a case as to why you feel (based on the comments and marking grid) your grade should be changed. Grades can be changed only for valid reasons. 2. Contact your TA with your concerns by e-mail (it helps to set them out in writing) and then set up an appointment to discuss your concerns with them. 3. If, after meeting with your TA you are still concerned please contact me by an e-mail in which you set out your concerns and then we'll make arrangements for you to provide me with the graded paper. After I have had a chance to review the paper we'll set up a meeting to discuss your concerns. I am always happy to change grades for valid reasons, but requesting to have your grade reviewed can mean that your grade may go down, so please keep that in mind.
