COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course explores justifications and practices of punishment and social control from a socio-legal perspective. Theoretical perspectives are applied to explore questions such as: Why do we punish? Are prisons the best option? What are the purposes of punishment? Students are encouraged to explore these issues from a critical and theoretical perspective.

COURSE STRUCTURE

COURSE MATERIAL: Course reader available at Octopus Books, 116 Third Avenue, 613-233-2589

- LECTURES: Lectures will take place Monday 6 8pm in SA 520, followed by a one hour tutorial. Each lecture will cover material from the readings, supplementary readings, videos, and learning activities.
- TUTORIALS: Tutorials will take place in the 3rd hour of the lecture, 8 9pm. The class will be split into two groups, and each group will attend a tutorial every other week with either myself or our TA. In these tutorials we will both focus on the assignments as well as discuss issues related to class materials. Tutorials will also be your chance to discuss class materials and make sure you understand the readings. In tutorial you are expected to both attend and participate in discussions.

Participation in tutorials account for 10% of students' final grade. Participation marks are earned by attending and actively participating in discussion/activities.

EVALUATION - All components must be completed to pass this course

Tutorial Participation	10%
Journal 1	10%
Journal 2	20%
Journal 3	30%
Final Take Home Exam	30%

Journals (60%)

Students will submit 3 journal responses during the semester. Each journal response will involve following format guidelines, answering assigned questions, recording your reactions and thoughts, and providing a written discussion on the assigned readings. DO NOT summarize the readings. Instead, think about the following questions:

What is the author's main argument?

How does this reading make me think differently about punishment?

Does this reading connect with other things I've been thinking about or other things going on in the world? What further questions are raised as a result of the reading?

Is there anything that doesn't make sense about what the author is saying or that the author has missed?

Good journals will also relate to class discussions and teaching materials. Students are encouraged to incorporate news items, artistic representations of punishment, or other books you have read and so on. Students must follow proper citation guidelines for APA or MLA.

Final Take-Home Exam (30%)

The final take-home exam will cover ALL course material including lectures, tutorials, and assigned readings. The format will include short answer and essay questions. Students will be assigned questions and given two weeks to complete the assignment.

Submitting Assignments:

Assignments are to be submitted in person at the beginning of class. Students may NOT submit assignments via email.

Late Assignments:

Late assignments will be penalized 3% per day (including weekends). Students may NOT submit late work if the assignment has been returned to students in class.
