OFFICE HOURS: Mondays: 10:30 AM -12:00 PM;
Tuesday: 10:30 AM -12:00 PM.

Or by appointment. Many issues can be dealt with before or after class, but if you want to set up a more formal appointment, contact me by email or by phone.

Email: Because of the spam filtering tools I use, I would greatly prefer if any email communication with me either comes from your Carleton Connect email address or has "3501" in the Subject line of the email. Unless one of these two conditions is met, there is a very high likelihood that your email will end up in a junk folder, and may not be seen.

"Students with disabilities requiring academic accommodations in this course must contact a coordinator at the Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities to complete the necessary Letters of Accommodation. After registering with the PMC, make an appointment to meet and discuss your needs with me in order to make the necessary arrangements as early in the term as possible, but no later than two weeks before the first assignment is due or the first test requiring accommodations. For further information, please see: http://www.carleton.ca/pmc/students/accom_policy.html. If you require accommodation for your formally scheduled exam(s) in this course, please submit your request for accommodation to PMC by November 16, 2009 for December examinations and March 12, 2010 for April examinations.

COURSE DESCRIPTION (from University Undergraduate Calendar)

Legal responses to challenges of the information society. Topics may include privacy, surveillance and monitoring, access to information, freedom of expression, control of objectionable content, Charter and human rights issues, and security.

COURSE OVERVIEW

The idea that we live in an information society correlates with the development and increasing ubiquity of communication technologies, the economic and social importance of information, and the angst ridden debates about what to do about issues such as privacy, copyright, controlling Internet content, etc. The Internet, in particular, has given rise to a new set of possibilities and concerns, or raised old concerns to a new level because of its power to facilitate cheap, virtually instantaneous, and global communications.

This course will focus on Internet regulation and governance, and the impact of the Internet on legal issues. It will assess the potential of the Internet for realizing goals such as greater equality, maximizing expressive freedom and promoting democratic participation, as well as address the fear that law will be unable to control the bad things made possible by Internet communications. Some questions to be considered throughout the course include:

- What role can and should law play in the regulation of the Internet and Internet activity?
- How does law interact with other regulatory mechanisms that have a significant impact on the shape of the Internet and practices in Internet communications?
- Does cyberspace pose a challenge to the foundations of law?
- Can state sovereignty through law be maintained over activity that is difficult to localize?

- Is there an emerging global approach to governance of the information society?
- How can privacy, intellectual property, and undesirable Internet activity be regulated in a globalized environment?
- How is Canada, in particular, addressing Internet regulatory and governance issues?

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Identify characteristics of the information society that pose challenges for law
- Develop an understanding of the legal framework governing the information society
- Gain an understanding of a diverse set of scholarly opinions concerning the interaction of law and information society
- Develop abilities to critically analyze scholarly literature
- Improve skills in assessing legal, regulatory and governance policy options
- Assess comparative approaches to information society issues, especially in a globalized social and economic environment
- Enhance communicative skills through classroom participation, group work, and in class presentations
- Refine research skills
- Facilitate collaborative learning and teamwork through classroom participation, group projects and online discussion groups

REQUIRED TEXTS

Lawrence Lessig, Code, Version 2.0, (New York, Basic Books: 2006)

Additional readings will be assigned throughout the term, and will primarily be available on the Internet with hypertext links posted on WebCT. Some readings may be put on reserve in the McOdrum Library.

Students are expected to read assigned material before coming to class. Analysis of the assigned material will take the form of classroom discussion in which everyone is expected to participate, supplemented by lecturing. Problems may be assigned from time to time for review in class, and all students are expected to prepare answers in advance. Only by participation in class discussions combined with advanced preparation can you expect to obtain maximum benefits from the course.

WEBCT, CARLETON CONNECT

This course will make extensive use of an Internet-based course management tool known as WebCT. WebCT provides a facility whereby a course website is maintained, allowing me to provide you with links to relevant readings, to post course notes, commentary, and assignments, to facilitate the electronic submission of assignments, and to provide you with access to your grades. It also contains a discussion group facility, the ability for students to create their own webpages and webpages for group presentations. Not all of the WebCT facilities will be used, but it is absolutely essential that you regularly check the WebCT site for the course. WebCT is accessible through the Internet from off-campus or through the University's computer labs, using compatible web browsers. The URL for WebCT is <http://webct.carleton.ca>.

In order to access WebCT, you require an ID and password, which is the same as your Carleton Connect ID and password. Carleton Connect is an Internet based facility that provides you with email and links to relevant material. It is available at <http://connect.carleton.ca>. If you have not already done so, it is absolutely essential that you obtain a Carleton Connect account. Information about doing so is available at: <http://connect.carleton.ca/cp/home/loginf>.

In addition, because of the spam filtering tools I use, I would greatly prefer if any email communication with me comes through WebCT or from your Carleton Connect email address. If it does not come from that address, there is considerable risk that it may not get through to me.

EVALUATION

		Due Date
Term Project	60%	Group and individual elements; due dates throughout the term
Final Exam	40%	To be Scheduled

In order to obtain a passing grade in this course, the Final Exam must be written.

Term Project (60%)

Students groups will work on a major project throughout the term. The project will be broken into six stages, some of which will require group submissions and some of which will require individual submissions. For the project, you will be assigned a topic. The project will have six stages:

Stage 1: Paper Proposal – Due January 31 (Group) 5 marks

Stage 2: Annotation of 5 Sources – Due January 31 (Individual) 15 marks

Stage 3: Paper – Due March 7 (Group) 15 marks

Stage 4: Class Presentation – Due March 14 or 21 (Group) 10 marks

- Stage 5: Time Log and Assessment of Individual Contributions to Group – Due March 15 or March 22 (Individual) – No Marks, but submission is a prerequisite to obtaining group marks and will influence group marks assigned
- Stage 6: Individual Assessment of another Group's Paper and Presentation – Due March 28 or April 5 (Individual) 15 Marks

Final Exam (40%)

The final exam will be a three hour exam during the formally scheduled final examination period. It will contain a variety of short answer and essay questions. Students will be permitted to bring into the exam two sheets (no larger than 8 1/2" x 11") with notes they you have made yourself. You can write on both sides of the sheets. More precise details as to the format will be discussed in class later in the term. Note that final exams are not returned to students. They are retained by the instructor. Contact me if you want to review it.

GENERAL GUIDELINES ON ASSIGNMENTS FOR THIS COURSE

Late Policy

Assignments that are due in-class are deemed late if not submitted at the start of the class. Assignments that are required to be posted to WebCT or to other sites are deemed late if not submitted by the time stipulated. Late assignments will be penalized one grade point per day that they are late (i.e. B to B-, B- to C+, etc). See the departmental policy regarding assignment submission on the last page.

The Law Department outlines its general policies regarding assignments in its Policy and Procedure Statement that is attached to this syllabus. You should be familiar with these regulations. If you require any clarification please ask me.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs."

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of "F" for the course.

Please consult the complete Academic Integrity Policy at http://www2.carleton.ca/studentaffairs/ccms/wp-content/ccms-files/academic_integrity_policy.pdf.
