Students with disabilities needing academic accommodations in this course are required to contact a coordinator at the Paul Menton Centre to complete the necessary letters of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss their needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first class or ITV test. This is to ensure sufficient time is available to make the necessary accommodation arrangement. Please note the deadline for submitting completed forms to the PMC for formally scheduled exam accommodations is March 14, 2008 for April examinations. For further information, please see, http://www.carleton.ca/pmc/students/accom_policy.html

DESCRIPTION:

This course examines the emergence and modern organization of 'policing' through an examination of legislation, common law and transformations in social relations. Special attention is paid to the private sector and students are encouraged to expand their notions of policing to include the myriad agencies involved in contemporary security provision. In particular, how changes in security provision relate to surveillance, human rights, and the role and function of the state.

EVALUATION:

Participation is a key requirement of seminar courses. We will set aside time for class discussion about course materials including films. Students are also required to complete a take-home examination and a term paper. The term paper is dependent on the course materials and in particular theories of policing.

Attendance & Participation: 20%

In-class exam 1: 15% ON: January 28th, 2008

In-class exam 2: 15% ON: March 3rd, 2008

Essay: 50% Due: April 7th, 2008 or earlier

 Students must complete all course requirements in order to receive a passing grade

ESSAY:

For the term essay you are required to apply what you have learned in class to contemporary security and surveillance practices. Remember: the key here is to demonstrate your knowledge of the course materials and to establish your understanding through practical application.

Topics:

1. Go to a mall or your workplace and observe the panoply of security and surveillance practices that surround you. Take special note of CCTV cameras, dataveillant processing, physical security, regulations and even private guards, etc. that monitor your movements as an employee or consumer.
2. Take a ride-a-long or patrol with a police officer or a security guard. Observe and theorize the panoptic measures utilized and their relative effectiveness.
3. Conduct another observational study of your choice cleared by Rigakos.
