Academic Accommodations:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://carleton.ca/equity/>

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://carleton.ca/equity/>

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). Requests made within two weeks will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website (www.carleton.ca/pmc) for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at <http://carleton.ca/equity/>

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the Internet. Plagiarism is a serious offence.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course examines the intersection of medicine and the criminal law through a variety of topics and current issues, including historical developments in the criminal law as a mechanism of social control, medical (particularly psychiatric) treatment within the prison system, laws on assisted death, and reproductive rights. The class will be primarily delivered through seminar discussions. Regular attendance and participation are crucial to success in this course.

REQUIRED TEXTS

There is no required textbook. Course readings will be available online and/or through CuLearn. Cases can be accessed on CanLii or through Carleton's library resources.

EVALUATION

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Department and of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Department and the Dean.

Research Outline	If you would like to receive early and detailed feedback on your plan for your final paper, you may submit a research outline anytime before the beginning of class (i.e. by 6:10 pm at the latest) on March 9 th . Please note that this is an optional assignment . If you do not submit an outline by the due date your final paper will be worth 55% of the total grade). You are encouraged (but are not required) to work in pairs for the research outline and final paper.	10%
Midterm	Administered in class on March 2 nd . The midterm will consist of multiple choice and short answer questions testing your knowledge of all readings, lecture discussions, and course material up to the date of the exam. The exam will last 1.5 hrs.	45%
Final Paper	Due April 6 th in class. The paper must be based on content delivered in one of the post-midterm lectures . Further guidelines on writing and general expectations for the final paper will be provided in class throughout the semester and reviewed in detail February 16 th and again on March 30 th . Late papers will be penalized 5% per day, including weekends. You are encouraged (but are not required) to work in pairs for the final paper.	45%

Please note:

*You are responsible for checking our course website on a regular basis. Any updates to be communicated outside of class hours will be posted on CuLearn; however, attendance is crucial to success in this course, as not all course content reviewed in class will be posted online. Students are individually responsible for catching up on missed classes.

The final exam period will be April 10 – 25, 2017.
