

Migration & Diaspora Studies (MDS) provides support for graduate students engaged in key topics relating to the movement of people and ideas (which include, but are not limited to, citizenship, cosmopolitanism, diversity, exile, integration, forced migration, refugee communities, state security, and transnational identities).

As part of its commitment to support student research, MDS would like to invite incoming and current students to:

- 1) Submit proposals for the MDS Graduate Student Colloquium at Carleton University on November 27, 2015. Proposals should include a title, an abstract of 350 words and a 50-word bio, and should be submitted by October 12, 2015 to MDS through Johnny Alam at johnnyelalam@cmail.carleton.ca.
- 2) Submit applications for a $20,000 TD Fellowship in Migration and Diaspora Studies by October 19, 2015 to MDS through Dawn Schmidt at dawn.schmidt@carleton.ca. Further details about the TD Fellowship in MDS are enclosed below.

TD Fellowship in Migration and Diaspora Studies

Description: Awarded annually by the Dean of Graduate and Postdoctoral Affairs to a full-time graduate student who is pursuing courses in Migration and Diaspora Studies. Recipients may be residents of any province or territory in Canada and must qualify as entitled to the Canadian Resident Tuition Fee Structure. Established in 2014 by the TD Bank Group.

The award seeks to recognize students who will use their studies to contribute to scholarship on migration and diaspora and the recipient will be recommended to the Dean of the Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Affairs by the awards committee of the Migration and Diaspora Studies Initiative.

Value: $20,000 (scholarship)

Tenure: 1 year

Application: Application forms must be accompanied by a CV and Letter of Support from the applicant's advisor or Graduate Supervisor. As noted above, they must be submitted to MDS through Dawn Schmidt at dawn.schmidt@carleton.ca before October 19.

Criteria: Academic Excellence. Interest in themes of migration, diaspora, and associated social and cultural exchange where relevant.

Selection: Dean of Graduate and Postdoctoral Affairs and the Migration and Diaspora Studies Initiative awards committee.

Registration Requirement and Eligibility:

Students must fulfill Canadian residency requirements. They must be registered full-time in a graduate program at Carleton University in the term for which the fellowship is awarded and must maintain fulltime registration for the duration of the award. Students conducting research will normally be registered in the thesis, research essay or major research paper.

Reporting:

Students are requested to submit a yearly written report on the progress of their research, and will be asked to give a public lecture on their research at the conclusion of the Fellowship. TD's support must be mentioned in all relevant media releases and communications related to the TD Fellowship in Migration and Diaspora Studies.

TD Bank will be given the name and email address of the successful candidate unless a request for anonymity is received at the time of the application.
