Course description: This semester's topic is: Classics of Rationalism

Rationalism is a philosophical tradition or tendency with ancient roots and modern-day sympathizers. Some of its main features are:

- The belief that some human knowledge is innate; that we can know things before experience;
- The belief that at least some knowledge of the world may be derived deductively, from rational arguments, without recourse to experience; that the deductive methods of geometry may be successfully deployed in other areas of human inquiry;
- The belief in a soul, or at least a certain degree of independence of mind and body (variously formulated).

In short, rationalism approaches the topics “mind, world and knowledge” in a particular way: recognizing the importance of experience, but privileging the role of mind and reason in the attainment of human knowledge. In this course we will consider rationalism historically, closely reading and critiquing some of its classics: Plato, Descartes, Spinoza, and Leibniz. We will end by critically examining more recent versions of rationalism, in particular Noam Chomsky's “cognitive revolution” in linguistics and psychology.

Required Texts: (All texts are available for purchase at the Carleton U bookstore. Copies of the readings, where possible and in whatever editions are available, will also be put on short-term reserve at MacOdrum Library. Some of these books, in various editions, are fairly easy to find in used bookshops.)

- Plato: Meno and Phaedo
- Descartes: Meditations on First Philosophy
- Spinoza: Ethics, Treatise on the Emendation of the Intellect and Selected Letters
- Leibniz: Discourse on Metaphysics and Other Essays
- Chomsky: Cartesian Linguistics: A Chapter in the History of Rationalist Thought

Evaluation: Students will be evaluated based on one mid-term test, one essay, and a final exam.

- Midterm test: Oct. 10 (20% of course grade)
- Essay: Due in class Nov. 14 (40% of course grade). Detailed instructions below.
- Final exam: Date and location TBA (40% of course grade)

OPTIONAL REVIEW CLASS Dec. 5

Essay Assignment (40% of course grade, due in class Nov. 14)

Answer ONE of the following questions. Your answer should demonstrate a strong knowledge of class discussions and relevant readings. Above all, you must ARGUE your opinion. The point of a philosophy paper is not simply to give your opinion on a topic, but to convince the reader using reasoned argument. Essay expectations will be further discussed in class, and I will post a document on the WebCT called “How to write a philosophy paper”.

- 1) Explain how Descartes tries to put science on a sure footing. Is his attempt successful? Explain why/why not.
- 2) Spinoza gets around Descartes’s interaction problem by positing one substance – God, i.e. Nature. Despite the fact that Spinoza calls this substance God, does his view amount to a form of atheism? Explain why/why not.

Word limit: 2000-2500 words (approx. 8-10 pages), not including notes and bibliography.

Marks will be deducted at the rate of 5% per calendar day written work is late without valid reason. Valid reasons for late submission of written work include illness, disabling stress, and family emergencies. Documentation (e.g. doctors’ or counsellors’ notes) is required.

Department of Philosophy and Carleton University Policies (2012-13)

Assignments:

Unless specifically told otherwise by their instructors, students:

- must not use a plastic or cardboard cover or paper clips
- must staple the paper (there is a stapler on the essay box)
- must include the following in the lower right corner of the cover sheet:
  - student name
  - student number
  - course number and section
  - instructor's name
- The Philosophy Department does not accept assignments by FAX. You may send them by courier, if necessary.
- No assignments will be accepted after the last day for handing in term work – see dates in next column.
- Assignments handed in through the essay box (just inside the glass doors, Paterson Hall, Floor 3A) must be dropped into the box by 4:15 on a regular business day in order to be date-stamped with that day's date. Assignments handed in after 4:15 or on a non-business day will be stamped as having been handed in on the next business day.
- Students are required to keep copies of their assignments. If your paper is lost at any point, you will be considered not to have submitted it if you cannot produce a copy immediately on request.

Deferrals for Term Work:

If you miss a final examination and/or fail to submit a final assignment by the due date because of circumstances beyond your control, you may apply for a deferral of examination/assignment. For deferred examinations, you must apply within 5 working days after the scheduled date of your exam. To apply for deferral of a final assignment, you must apply within 5 working days of the last scheduled day of classes. Visit the Registrar's Office for more information.

Plagiarism:

It is the responsibility of each student to understand the meaning of 'plagiarism' as defined in the Undergraduate or Graduate Calendars, and to avoid both committing plagiarism and aiding or abetting plagiarism by other students. (Undergraduate Calendar Academic Regulations, section 14.3, or <http://www4.carleton.ca/calendars//ugrad/current/regulations/acadre/univ14.html#14.3>)

Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at <http://carleton.ca/equity/accommodation>.
