Course description:

Discussions of the existence and nature of God play a central role in early modern philosophy. In this course we'll consider some of the ways in which God figures in the philosophical arguments of the 17th and 18th centuries. We will be consulting primary texts from philosophers including Descartes, Malebranche, Spinoza, Locke, Berkeley, and Leibniz, and looking at such diverse topics as proofs of the existence of God, God and the possibility of human free will, God and the problem of evil, God's role in perception, God's causal role, and God and the laws of nature.

Prerequisite for undergraduates: eligibility for fourth-year standing in a Philosophy Honours program or permission of the Department.

Required texts:

We will be consulting a variety of primary texts in this course.

I have made an anthology of primary texts available at the Carleton bookstore. The anthology is entitled "Modern Philosophy: An Anthology of Primary Sources," edited by Roger Ariew and Eric Watkins, published by Hackett. I will not require you to purchase this book (although if you are taking my 18th century philosophy course this semester, you will indeed have to purchase it) but it is a reasonably good compilation of primary sources, and I recommend it.

Because there are so many primary sources, I will not require you to purchase any of them individually, either. Instead, I will ask you to consult the versions available at the library (or through the online "Past Masters" database, available to you on the library's website), and I will typically make readings available on cuLearn. If, however, you do want to purchase the individual texts that we will be looking at, they are all available for purchasing online. If you decide to do this, let me know, and I will send you references for the standard academic version of the texts.

Note: many of these primary texts are also available in full in various places online. However, some online sources are abridged or otherwise altered. If you wish to consult an online source other than the Past Masters database, you must discuss this with me, so that I can help you to evaluate whether or not the source is appropriate.

Sometimes I will ask you to consult secondary sources. These will be made available on cuLearn, and you will often also have access to them through your Carleton library access. (E.g., a number of these secondary sources are available through the JSTOR database.)

cuLearn:

Please note that this course will be supported by the cuLearn Course Management System. A variety of resources may be made available through the cuLearn site, including some readings for the course. You can access your cuLearn account by going to www.carleton.ca/culearn and entering your MyCarletonOne username and password.

Students will be fully responsible for reading and responding appropriately to all information distributed to students through the cuLearn Course Page. Information provided on this page will be considered to have been provided to all registered students within 24 hours of posting.

Evaluation:

1. Response papers – over the course of the semester, I will ask you to write four (4) short response papers of 1-2 pages each. These response papers will be due at the beginning of class and should be on the topic of the previous week's reading / class discussion. I will be asking you to read these response papers in class; you should be prepared to briefly discuss them, as well.

Response papers might involve a brief reconstruction or summary of at least one aspect of the previous week's reading, as well as (the following list is not exclusive):

- A clarification of a difficult issue addressed in the reading, or
- A question raised by the previous week's reading, along with the author's answer to that question, or your answer on behalf of the author, or
- An objection to the previous week's reading, along with the author's answer to the objection, or your answer on behalf of the author, or
- An issue addressed by the author that was not raised in the previous class discussion, and that you think ought to be addressed

Response papers should be submitted on cuLearn. You may also submit a hard copy if you like. Each response paper will be worth 10% of your final grade for a total of 40%.

2. Final take-home exam – a mid-length paper (8-10 pages) on a topic of your choosing, due on the last day of exam period for the Winter Semester (April 23rd.) You must consult with me on your topic at least two weeks before the end of classes. Topics must be approved.

Final papers should be submitted on cuLearn and will be worth 60% of your final grade.

Late papers: I will not accept response papers late, as we will be discussing them in class. Additionally, no extensions will be granted for final take-home papers, as it is university policy that the last day for handing in take-homes is the last day of exam period (in this case, April 23rd, 2015.)

Department of Philosophy and Carleton University Policies (2014-15)

Assignments:

Unless specifically told otherwise by their instructors, students:

- must not use a plastic or cardboard cover or paper clips
- must staple the paper (there is a stapler on the essay box)
- must include the following:
 - student name
 - student number
 - course number and section
 - instructor's name
- The Philosophy Department does not accept assignments by FAX. You may send them by courier, if necessary.
- No assignments will be accepted after the last day for handing in term work – see dates in next column.
- Assignments handed in through the essay box (just inside the glass doors, Paterson Hall, Floor 3A) must be dropped into the box by 4:15 on a regular business day in order to be date-stamped with that day's date. Assignments handed in after 4:15 or on a non-business day will be stamped as having been handed in on the next business day.
- Students are required to keep copies of their assignments. If your paper is lost at any point, you will be considered not to have submitted it if you cannot produce a copy immediately on request.

Deferrals for Term Work:

If you miss a final examination and/or fail to submit a final assignment by the due date because of circumstances beyond your control, you may apply for a deferral of examination/assignment. For deferred examinations, you must apply within 5 working days after the scheduled date of your exam. To apply for deferral of a final assignment, you must apply within 5 working days of the last scheduled day of classes. Visit the Registrar's Office for more information.

Plagiarism:

It is the responsibility of each student to understand the meaning of 'plagiarism' as defined in the Undergraduate or Graduate Calendars, and to avoid both committing plagiarism and aiding or abetting plagiarism by other students. (Undergraduate Calendar Academic Regulations, section 14.3, or <http://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/regulations/academicregulationsoftheuniversity/acadregsuniv14/>)

Academic Accommodation:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to your professor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>

Religious obligation: write to your professor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with your professor to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable) at <http://www2.carleton.ca/pmc/new-and-current-students/dates-and-deadlines/>

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at <http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>
