

Political Economy: Old Challenges, New Responses
Event Schedule

Monday, March 20th, 2017

1:00pm- 2:45pm

Opening

Venue: Richcraft Hall 2220-2224

Welcome Remarks

Dr. Cristina Rojas (Director, Institute of Political Economy, Carleton University)

Dr. Wallace Clement (Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology,
Chancellor Professor, Interim Dean of Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, Carleton
University)

Opening Keynote: After Development: Surplus Population and the Politics of Entitlement

Dr. Tania Murray Li (Professor, Department of Anthropology, University of Toronto;
Canada Research Chair in the Political Economy and Culture of Asia)

2:45pm-4:15pm

Panel 1A&1B

Panel 1A—Environment, economic development, and public policy

Venue: Richcraft Hall 2220-2224

Bottled Water and the Political Economy of Taste

Dr. Andrew Biro (Department Head and Professor, Department of Politics, Acadia University)

The Historical State

Dr. Danielle DiNovelli-Lang (Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Carleton University)

From By-product to Co-product: Distiller Grains

Dr. Sarah J. Martin (Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, Memorial University of Newfoundland)

Panel 1B—Global governance
Venue: Richcraft Hall 2228

The State of Theory on the Business of Government

Dr. Heather Whiteside (Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, University of Waterloo; Assistant Professor, Balsillie School of International Affairs)

What is Secrecy Today?

Dr. William Walters (Professor, Department of Political Science/ Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Carleton University)

New Challenges, Old Responses: The Blockchain and the Future of the Global Political Economy

J.Z. Garrod (PhD Candidate, Department of Sociology, Specialization in Political Economy, Carleton University)

Boycotting Apartheid

Michael Bueckert (PhD Candidate, Department of Sociology, Specialization in Political Economy, Carleton University)

Tuesday, March 21st, 2017

9:00am-10:30am

Panel 2—Roundtable: Countering Rising Inequality
Venue: Richcraft Hall 2220-2224

How to Counter Rising Inequality

Andrew Jackson (Senior Policy Advisor, Broadbent Institute)

Getting rich on the backs of women: Moving from an economy that shortchanges women to one that supports economic and gender equality

Diana Sarosi (Women's Rights and Policy Specialist, Oxfam Canada)

Populism, Political Economy and the Crisis of Neoliberalism

Dr. Jeff Ayres (Professor and Dean, Department of Political Science, Saint Michael's College-Vermont)

Tax Measures to Reduce Inequality

Dennis Howlett, Executive Director, Canadians for Tax Fairness

10:30am-12:00pm

Panel 3A&3B

Panel 3A—Factoring gender, class, race, and colonialism in research and policy

Venue: Richcraft Hall 2220-2224

Political Economy Responses to Indigenous Uprisings: Beyond Anti-Neoliberalism

Dr. Cristina Rojas (Director, Institute of Political Economy, Carleton University)

Towards a Feminist Epistemology of Work: Uncovering Relations of Value

Maggie Fitzgerald Murphy (PhD Candidate, Department of Political Science, Specialization in Political Economy, Carleton University)

Decolonial praxis, Indigenous futures, and transformative political economy approaches

Dr. Julie Tomiak (Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, Ryerson University)

Panel 3B—Financial Regulation and social justice
Venue: Richcraft Hall 2228

Canada's Trade Negotiations Approach

Hadrian Mertins-Kirkwood (Policy Analyst, Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives)

The Chinese Capital: Chances and Challenges for Canada

Emma Huang (M.A. Candidate, Institute of Political Economy, Carleton University)

Rethinking the Emerging Power Approach to International Political Economy: The Case of Brazil

Dr. Sean Burges (Senior Lecturer at College of Arts and Social Sciences, Australia National University)

1:00pm-2:30pm

Panel 4—Roundtable: Towards a Pluriversal Political Economy

Panel honoring David Blaney

Visiting Professor, Institute of Political Economy, Carleton University

Venue: Richcraft Hall 2220-2224

Reading IR with Neoclassical Economics: IPE as Colonial Science

Dr. David Blaney (Professor, Department of Political Science, Macalester College)

Reflections on the Classical Political Economy Approach as Relevant to the New Canadian Political Economy

Dr. Wallace Clement (Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Chancellor Professor, Interim Dean of Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, Carleton University)

Between Political Economy and Political Ontology: Indigenous Andean World-Making Projects

Dr. Peter Gose (Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Carleton University)

The Political Economy of Canadian Resource Extraction: Theoretical continuities and contemporary challenges

Rebecca Hall (PhD Candidate, Department of Political Science, York University)

Political Possibilities in a Pluriverse

Dr. Hans-Martin Jaeger (Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, Carleton University)

2:30pm-3:45pm

Closing

Venue: Richcraft Hall 2220-2224

Closing Keynote: Towards a More Global International Political Economy

Dr. Eric Helleiner (Professor and Faculty of Arts Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Waterloo; Professor, Balsillie School of International Affairs)

Concluding Remarks

Dr. André Plourde (Dean, Faculty of Public Affairs, Carleton University)