

Institute of Political Economy
Visiting Professor's Symposium on
The Politics of Possibility:
Pushing the Boundaries of Feminist Political Economy

Wednesday, April 6th, 2011, 1:00 – 5:00 p.m.
2203 Dunton Tower, Carleton University

1:00 p.m. Welcome

1:10 p.m.

Kate Bedford, Visiting Professor, Institute of Political Economy and Senior Lecturer, Kent Law School, University of Kent, UK

Beyond casino capitalism: Gender, sexuality and gambling liberalization

2:30 p.m. Panel 1

Teresa Healy, Adjunct Research Professor, Institute of Political Economy, and Senior Researcher, Canadian Labour Congress

We Fight Back: Non-union immigrant women confront a plant closure

Sarah Ryan, M.A. Candidate, Institute of Political Economy

Home-based child care workers organize: Pushing the boundaries of employment status

Susan Braedley, School of Social Work, Carleton University

Whose there? Feminist political economy and subjectivity

4:00 p.m. Panel 2

Janet Siltanen, Fran Kłodawsky, Carleton University, and Caroline Andrew, University of Ottawa

Living the future today! Reclaiming the prefigurative for feminist organizing

Dan Irving, Sexuality Studies, Carleton University

Non-capitalism is Queer: Exploring LGBT Economic Initiatives and the Promise of an Unforeseeable Future

Everyone Welcome