

NOKOKO

11

2024

Militarization and Shifting Dynamics of Power in Africa

NOKOKO

11

Militarization and Shifting Dynamics of Power in Africa

We are committed to a world where people are free from all forms of oppression and exploitation, where respect for individuals' varied differences is maintained, and where everyone can realise their full potentials. A critical step in creating such a world requires us to analyze, reflect on, and debate the world as it is, as it might, could, or should be.

Nokoko aims to be a site for such important conversations related to Africa, the African diaspora, and the continent's relationship with the rest of the world. Nokoko is a platform for public intellectuals, academics, social movements and organizations that share our vision. The journal is open access, with no fees to submit, publish or read.

Hosted by the Institute of African Studies, at Carleton University (Ottawa, Canada), the journal Nokoko offers a space for emerging and established scholars to publish and engage in discussions about their work on Africa and the African diaspora. Published annually, articles and contributions to the journal are peer-reviewed. Submissions should be robust, clearly written and accessible to academic and non-academic readership alike (see below for author guidelines).

Nokoko is a Ga word that means something new, novel, surprising and interesting.

Editor-in-Chief: Nduka Otiono, Associate Professor and Director, Institute of African Studies, Carleton University

Associate Editor: Richard Levi Raber

Special Issue Editors: Toby Leon Moorsom and Richard Levi Raber

The Editorial Board of Nokoko is

Alex Caramento, PhD Candidate (ABD) Department of Politics, York University

Blair Rutherford, Professor of Anthropology and African Studies, Carleton University

Chichi Ayalogu, Graduate Student, Institute for Comparative Studies in Literature, Art and Culture, Carleton University

Christine Duff, Department of French, Carleton University

Christopher Huggins, Associate Professor, International Development and Global Studies, University of Ottawa

Daniel Baheta, Senior Development Officer, Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA)

Daniel Tubb, Associate Professor, University of New Brunswick

Elizabeth Cobbet Lecturer, Politics and International Relations, University of Plymouth

Firoze Manji, Adjunct Professor, African Studies, Carleton University; Activist, Publisher and Scholar

James Tar Tsaioor, Professor of English, Media and Cultural Studies, and Independent Scholar

Pablo Idahosa, Professor, Development Studies, York University

Shireen Hassim, Canada 150 Research Chair in Gender and African Politics, Institute of African Studies, Carleton University

Toby Leon Moorsom, Adjunct Professor, Institute of African Studies, Carleton University

Wangui Kimari, Adjunct Professorial Lecturer, School of International Service, American University, Nairobi

Cover Photo: Joe Penney, <https://www.joepenney.com/>

Editorial Assistance: Christopher Huggins, Firoze Manji, Willow Berridge, Chichi Ayalogu, Pablo Idahosa, Elizabeth Cobbett, Shireen Hassim, Blair Rutherford, and Horace Campbell

Production Editor: Kolade Olanrewaju Freedom

Table of Contents

A Note from the Editor-in-Chief	xiii
Nduka Otiono, Navigating the Complex Terrain of Militarization in Africa
Introduction	xv
Toby Leon Moorsom and Richard Levi Raber, Militarization and Shifting Dynamics of Power in Africa
Feature Articles
Danson Sylvester Kahyana, Singing against the State's Guns and Goons: Timothy Wangusa's Poetry and the Quest for Democratic Governance in Uganda	1
Mahder Serekberhan, The Struggle to Transform Sudan	15
Kiale Nyiayaana, Constructing Security Communities in Nigeria? Interrogating the Politics of Regionalization of Vigilante Protection and the Dynamics of Ethnic Security Dilemma	33
Tindo Narcisse and Elokobi Eposi Ethel, State Fragility, Non-State Armed Groups, and the Privatization of Violence in the Anglophone Conflict in Cameroon	47
Briefing Notes
Padraig Carmody, Shifting Geopolitics in Africa	61
Sobantu Mzwakali, Community Protocols: The Legal Framework to Safeguard Biocultural Rights in South Africa	69
Photo Essay
Tshepiso Mabula, "Ukugrumba: Recollecting Dry Bones: Revisiting the Aftermath of the Liberation Struggle"	79
Review Essay
Chibueze Darlington Anuonye, The Autobiographical and Feminist Backgrounds of Ukamaka Olisakwe's Ogadinma : Inclusion of Low-Class Women in the African Feminist Discourse	109

Institute of African Studies
Carleton University (Ottawa, Canada)
2024 (11)

Contributors

Chibueze Darlington Anuonye, a doctoral student in the English Department at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is a literary conversationist, editor and contributing writer for The Hopkins Review and World Literature Today.

darlingtonchibueze94@gmail.com

Pádraig Risteard Carmody, is Professor in Development Geography and Director of the Masters in Development Practice, Trinity College Dublin, He has taught at the University of Vermont, Dublin City University, St. Patrick's College, Drumcondra and the University of Cologne. He has consulted for the Office of the President of South Africa and is a Senior Research Associate at the University of Johannesburg. He has formerly been editor of Irish Geography and on the boards of Political Geography, The Journal of the Tanzanian Geographical Association, Hungarian Journal of African Studies, Irish Studies in International Affairs, Politics and Development in Contemporary Africa (Zed Books) and previously editor-in-chief of Geoforum, He is an Associate Editor of Transnational Corporations, published by the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and Chair, Standing Committee on International Affairs of the Royal Irish Academy. He is a former Chair of the Development Studies Association of Ireland. CARMODYP@tcd.ie

Elokobi Eposi Ethel holds a Master's degree in International Relations and Conflict Studies from the Pan African Institute for Development-West Africa. Ethel has a considerable interest in researching African institutions, political economy, migration patterns, armed conflicts, humanitarian assistance, urban governance, decentralized governance, and ethnic politics.

Danson Kahyana is Associate Professor in the Department of Literature, Makerere University and English Department, Stellenbosch University. He is Fellow at The Carr Center for Human Rights Policy, Harvard Kennedy School, Harvard University and President Emeritus, Ugandan PEN, dkdan76@gmail.com

Toby Leon Moorsom (PhD, Queen's, History) is Adjunct Professor, Institute of African Studies, Carleton University. He currently holds a SSHRC Postdoctoral Fellowship in Anthropology, University of New Brunswick (part-time) and was formerly Senior Lecturer, Lancaster University Ghana. He has taught at Queen's University, the University of Toronto, Trent University, and at Carleton. He has been a contributing editor of Nokoko, since its first issue and has published in Review of African Political Economy, Canadian Journal of African Studies, Socialist Studies, Pambazuka, The Bullet, Rankandfile.ca and Al Jazeera English, among others. tobymoorsom@gmail.com

Sobantu Mzwakali is the programme manager at Resource Africa, a southern Africa-based organisation supporting rural African community efforts to secure rights to access and sustainably use of natural resources to sustain livelihoods. Previously, he was Programmes Manager at Natural Justice, lawyers for communities and the environment;

Campaigns and Advocacy Officer at Tshintsha Amakhaya, an action-learning network for civil society organisations supporting local community movements in land and agrarian reform; and a Writer for the Land and Accountability Research Centre in University of Cape Town, Faculty of Law. His work has appeared in Open Democracy, Counterpunch, and the Daily Maverick, among others. Sobantu.mzwakali@resourceafrica.net

Tshepiso Mabula ka Ndongeni has a practice that encompasses documentary photography and literature. Mabula's reflections on the themes explored in her writing are processed through her photography. She was awarded the 2021 Toyin Falola Award, the 2018 Tierney Fellowship, and she is a member of the Umhlabathi Collective in Johannesburg. She has exhibited at the Africa Foto Fair, Constitutional Hill, and her first solo exhibition was titled 'Ukugrumba'. Her practice aims to serve as a critical archive for future generations. Her work deals mostly with identity, displacement, memory, and the fleeting sense of what it means to truly belong. She captures the dignity in ordinary people, far removed from the glamorous or ideal atmospheres of high-profile photography. tshepismabs@gmail.com

Kialee Nyiayaana is a senior lecturer at the Department of Political Science, University of Port Harcourt, Nigeria. He holds a Ph.D in Political Science from the University of Nigeria, Nsukka, Nigeria. His research interests encompass peace, conflict, security and identity politics. He has conducted research on ethnic and resource nationalism, and politics of extractivism in the Oil-rich Niger Delta region of Nigeria. His current research focuses on the extractivist politics of the Ogoni environmental remediation projects and implications for environmental peacebuilding in Nigeria. kialee.nyiayaana@uniport.edu.ng

Joe Penney is a director/DOP, photographer, and journalist based in NYC and Lagos, Nigeria. He directed a documentary, "Sun of the Soil: The Story of Mansa Musa," about the reign of Mali's 14th-century king. Penney's articles and essays have been published by The Intercept, The New York Times, Quartz, Reuters and Paris journals. He was West Africa photo bureau chief for Reuters, and his pictures have appeared in Geo, Jeune Afrique, Le Monde, The Guardian, The Los Angeles Times, The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal and Time, among others. Penney co-founded Sahelien.com, a news company covering the Sahel region, in 2013. penney.joseph@gmail.com

Richard Levi Raber is a Postdoctoral Research Associate at the University of Exeter. He is researching the militarization of childhood and the history of Angolan child soldiers and their families. He holds a Ph.D. in History from Indiana University. Previously, he held a Social Science Research Council Mellon International Dissertation Research Fellowship as well as a Fulbright award to South Africa, and multiple Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowships. His work has been featured in Cold War History as well as Left History. Richard is Associate Editor of Nokoko. richardraber93@gmail.com

Kaze Tindo Narcisse Saturnin, has a Ph.D. in International Relations from University of Yaounde 1, where he is currently a Postdoctoral Researcher. He is a trans-disciplinary researcher, development practitioner, and international consultant. He teaches international relations, political history, and Gender, among other courses, at the Pan African Institute for Development-West Africa. Kaze is interested in Indigenous African institutions, political economy, migration patterns, armed conflicts, humanitarian assistance, urban governance, decentralized governance, and ethnic politics. He has published in Alternate Horizons Platform, at the University of Pretoria, Afro Asian Journal of

Social Sciences, Transatlantic Journal of Multidisciplinary Research, International Journal of Research and Innovation in Social Science, among others. kazenarcisse@gmail.com

Mahder Habtemariam Serekberhan is a PhD student in Political Science at Syracuse University. She got her MA in Pan-African Studies from the same university in 2021. Her research interests include African politics and political economy, social and women's movements, and emancipatory politics. She is currently serving as a Board Member of the Africa Initiative and VP of the African Graduate Students Network (AGSN) at Syracuse University. She also serves as Vice Chairperson of the Global Pan African Movement, North America Delegation. mhserekb@syr.edu

