

Advanced Topics in Child Studies: The History of 'the African Child'

CHST 4003/AFRI 4003

Winter 2024

Seminar Meeting Time: Tuesdays, 11:35am- 2:25pm

Location:

Professor: Monica Eileen Patterson, PhD

Office: Dunton Tower 1314

Office hours: Tuesdays after class (2:30-3:30 by appointment)

Email: monica.patterson@carleton.ca

Prerequisite(s): fourth year standing

Course Description:

Why is the diverse continent of Africa so often represented through the singular figure of a (usually suffering) child? Where does this construction come from, what are the meanings embedded with it, and why does it endure? Today, images of malnourished infants, dusty child laborers, AK-47-wielding child soldiers, and in some cases, smiling, playing children feature centrally in contemporary visual depictions and narrative accounts of Africa. These images appear in historical narratives, popular media, journalistic accounts, fundraising campaigns, development work, and human rights initiatives. What are the implications of what some have called the 'infantilization' of Africa and Africans? What is the history of this representation, and how does this association with children inform our understandings of Africa historically and today?

In this course students will develop the critical skills necessary to analyze the history of the figure of 'the African child' using a range of visual, primary, and secondary sources from colonial officials, anthropologists, historians, advertisers, charity and development workers, and African children themselves. Topics will include children's roles and representations in their communities, the project of colonialism, revolution, philanthropy, development work, human rights discourse, and memoir.

Weekly readings will be required (journal articles, book chapters, visual, and other materials). Students will be marked on participation, two curatorial contributions throughout the semester, an in-class group presentation, a short writing assignment (5-6 pages), and a take-home final exam.

Learning Outcomes:

This advanced topics seminar will engage students in critical thinking and dialogue. At the end of this class, you should be able to:

1. Understand, analyze, and critique the meanings and histories of the figure of 'the African child' in various contexts
2. Disrupt overly simplistic notions of Africa and of children as coherent, static, or "natural" categories
3. Interrogate representations of 'the African child' through critical analysis and contextualization

Required Texts

Course readings have been selected to introduce you to various dimensions and variations of the figure of 'the African child' from multiple disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives. As this is an advanced topics seminar, this course is not oriented around lectures from the professor but rather active, critically engaged discussions led by student presenters and guest speakers. Discussions will focus on key concepts and themes associated with each week's readings, building on earlier conversations, providing deeper context, and making connections with relevant examples from popular culture and contemporary discourse. The reading material is designed to be a shared foundation for these discussions, and as such all readings are absolutely mandatory for all students. Students must attend and actively participate in all classes to ensure their academic success in this course.

Course Website:

The course website is located on Brightspace at:

<https://brightspace.carleton.ca/d2l/home/224921>

On this site you will find the course outline, schedule, discussion forums, updates, course feedback tools, marking rubrics, and a variety of useful links. It is going to be a dynamic space with many opportunities for you to make a meaningful contribution to the course and connect with your peers. The discussion forums represent an excellent place in which to ask questions of your colleagues, share your thoughts on the material, post interesting and relevant links, arrange study groups, etc.

The site may also include PowerPoint presentation slides. While these slides are meant to assist your efforts in the course, they are only a starting point for what we talk about in class. Material will be covered in class that is not included on these slides. In other words, the slides cannot be regarded as a substitute for class attendance.

Course Requirements:

Participation: 20%

Attendance and active participation.
One absence allowed without penalty.

Curatorial Contribution: 10%
(2 submissions at 5% each)

Two times in the semester, one before reading week and one after, students will submit a carefully selected image (photograph, cartoon, movie poster or still, meme, advertisement, work of art, etc.) or other medium (poem, song with lyrics, website, museum exhibition, etc.) that illustrates, challenges, and/or deepens our understandings of one of the tropes being discussed for that week. Create a brief entry with all bibliographic information in APA style that will serve as a label for your object. Write a brief essay of 500 words analyzing and interpreting your submission, making links to readings and themes of discussion as relevant. Due on Monday evening by 7pm in the weekly discussion section of the Brightspace site.

Class Presentation: 20%

in-class 45-60 minute presentation in teams of 3 to contextualize, link, and lead discussion on the readings, including a list of key concepts and an example from the news, pop culture, research, or activism that centers African children's voices and perspectives.

Assignment 1: 15%:

due February 27 via the Brightspace site

Book Review: 10%

due April 2 via the Brightspace site

Take Home Final: 25%

due April 15 via the Brightspace site

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Readings:

Ultimately, this is your course. To maximize your ability to follow and synthesize the information you learn through presentations and discussions, you must be prepared to read all required texts. ALL READINGS ARE MANDATORY.

Required Texts:

The readings for this course will be available via the Brightspace site and/or online Library reserves.

Course Policies

EMAIL. Please note that it is official Carleton policy that ALL email correspondence between teachers and students must take place between Carleton email accounts. This means that I cannot respond to emails sent from hotmail, gmail, yahoo, or other accounts. Do not expect email responses in less than 48 hours, or on weekends.

PLAGIARISM

The University Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, artworks, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else, including the unauthorized use of generative AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT);
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement;
- submitting a computer program developed in whole or in part by someone else, with or without modifications, as one’s own; and
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Plagiarism is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly by the course’s instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of “F” for the course.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism?

A student found to have plagiarized an assignment may be subject to one of several penalties including: expulsion; suspension from all studies at Carleton; suspension from full-time studies; and/or a reprimand; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; academic probation; award of an FNS, Fail, or an ABS.

What are the Procedures?

All allegations of plagiarism are reported to the faculty of Dean of FASS and Management. Documentation is prepared by instructors and/or departmental chairs. The Dean writes to the student and the University Ombudsperson about the alleged plagiarism. The Dean reviews the allegation. If it is not resolved at this level then it is referred to a tribunal appointed by the Senate.

Please note that it is not permitted to submit identical (or near identical) assignments for two or more courses.

Statement on Student Mental Health

As a University student you may experience a range of mental health challenges that significantly impact your academic success and overall well-being. If you need help, please speak to someone. There are numerous resources available both on- and off-campus to support you. See <https://carleton.ca/wellness/>

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For accommodation regarding a formally-scheduled final exam, you must complete the Pregnancy Accommodation Form (click here).

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: <https://carleton.ca/equity/sexual-assault-support-services>

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation will be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

Late Assignments:

Your assignments MUST be submitted by the deadline. If you think you will not be able to submit your assignment in time (because of illness or bereavement) you must contact me as soon as you are aware of this. Late assignments will only be accepted providing that you make contact with me within 24 hours of the due date and you provide proper documentation within that same time period. All assignments without documentation will be docked 10% per day or part of day that they are late (including weekends) until they are handed in or are worth 0%.

Submitting Assignments: Do not email assignments for any reason (even to prove that you have completed the assignment on the due date but will be unable to submit in person until the following day). You are responsible for keeping a hard copy of your assignments until they have been graded. You are also responsible for keeping the graded copy for the duration of this course in the event that you are asked to produce it for a host of reasons such as my error in entering your grade!

Brightspace website: A website for this course has been constructed via Brightspace. Please refer to this site for a copy of the course outline and other pertinent documents for the course as they become available. This site will also contain the readings that are not from the course text. Finally, I will post your marks (except the final marks) on this site as you complete assignments.

ASSIGNMENTS

In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar (p 45), the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

A+ = 90-100	B+ = 77-79	C+ = 67-69	D+ = 56-59
A = 85-89	B = 73-76	C = 63-66	D = 53-56
A - = 80-84	B - = 70-72	C - = 60-62	D - = 50-52
F = Below 50

- WDN = Withdrawn from the course
- ABS = Student absent from final exam
- DEF = Deferred (See above)
- FND = (Failed, not Deferred) = Student could not pass the course even with 100% on final exam
