Course Code: AFRI 5000
Course Title: Disciplining Africa: Historical and Current Perspectives on the Study of Africa
Term: Winter 2019
Instructor: Paul Mkandawire
Time: Tuesday 2:35pm to 5:25pm
Location: Tory 230
Office: Dunton Tower 1320
Phone: 613-520-2600 ext. 3101
Email: paul.mkandawire@carleton.ca
Office Hours: Tuesday 1:30pm - 2:30pm or by appointment

This course examines the evolution of African Studies as a discipline, including the historical and ongoing debates over its boundaries and genealogies and its changing research paradigms. Because intellectual engagements in African Studies take place in multiple disciplines and through paradigms that transcend specific disciplines, the course will interrogate how different fields of study have contributed to the understanding of Africa, Africans and people of African descent. Intellectual, institutional and ideological contexts shaping production and dissemination of knowledge about Africa, Africans and people of African heritage will receive particular attention in this course.

By the end of the course, students will demonstrate ability to explain African Studies as a coherent discipline, its key analytical and methodological approaches coming from different disciplinary perspectives within African Studies, and possible future directions in the discipline.

Evaluation
Seminar participation: 15%
Seminar presentation: 15%
Essay proposal: 15%
Group presentation: 15%
Final Presentation: 10%
Final Essay: 30%

Participation
Weekly seminars will consist of discussion. A seminar is a forum within which to examine and discuss ideas and interpretations of assigned weekly readings. The success of a seminar depends entirely on student preparation and participation. Students should arrive to class having read all assigned texts and prepared to discuss them. Your class attendance and the quality (not quantity) of your contribution to class discussion will form the basis of your participation grade. Note that active listening is a crucial aspect of effective participation.
Seminar Presentation
There are seven seminars devoted to a major discipline. In the first half of each seminar, a visiting scholar or myself will give a lecture on a discipline from an Africanist perspective and answer questions from students. In the second half of each seminar, students, working in small groups of four or five, will identify, reflect and debate on major themes in the assigned readings and pose discussion questions developed beforehand to the class. On certain occasions the second half of the seminar will be dedicated to research proposal development and research essay.

Research Essay Proposal
On February 12 2019 all students will present their research proposals. Each student will have 12 minutes, including time for feedback, to present their research topic to the class. Presentations should include the topic, a proposed thesis statement, the major question(s) to be addressed, and sources to be utilized. The objective of the presentation is to elicit useful critical comments and questions from your peers and the instructor before completing the essay. The written proposal of 5-7 pages Times New Roman font size 12 single-spaced (10-14 double) not including bibliography is due on March 12.

Group Presentations
On April 2, three groups of students will each make a 40-minute presentation (includes question time) on one theme related to African Studies that was not the focus of class discussion during class. Each group will choose the topic, two readings, make a short presentation and facilitate discussion. The grade will be based on presentation, readings and facilitation of questions/discussion.

Research Essay
The major assignment should be a critical examination of a topic that is part of current conversations in the discipline of African Studies. The essay must demonstrate substantial research, critically assess research sources in a coherent analysis, and be well written and formally referenced. The essay must be between 12-14 pages Times New Roman font size 12 single-spaced (24-28 double), and is due on 16 April 2019.

Final Presentation
In partial fulfillment of the course, students are required to individually showcase their final research proposal/research essay before a wider audience of Africanist faculty at a special session of the Annual General Meeting organized by the Institute of African Studies. You will have the rare opportunity of receive valuable feedback and encouragement from a broad range of faculty with research interest in various sub-disciplines of African studies. Normally, this session takes place on the same day as the Institute’s annual general meeting, which all AFRI 5000 students are encouraged to plan ahead of time to attend. The date for this year’s AGM will take place during the week of 8 April on a date to be announced in class (and through CuLearn) by second week of January 2019.

Note: Deadlines are firm except in extraordinary circumstances. An assignment submitted after the due date must be accompanied by official documentation of such circumstances to avoid penalties. All written work handed in late will be marked down one grade point per day, i.e. a B+ paper submitted late becomes a B.
Class conduct
Carleton University’s Senate and Board of Governors enacted Carleton University Human Rights Policies and Procedures in May of 2001. The establishment of these policies and procedures was the culmination of the efforts of the Presidential Advisory Committee on Human Rights and a Human Rights Implementation Committee. The Carleton University Human Rights Policies and Procedures affirm that all members of the University community share a responsibility to:

* promote equity and fairness,
* respect and value diversity,
* prevent discrimination and harassment, and
* preserve the freedom of its members to carry out responsibly their scholarly work without threat of interference.

Carleton University Equity Services states that “every member of the University community has a right to study, work and live in a safe environment free of discrimination or harassment.” It follows, therefore, that students are expected to behave in a civil manner. Within seminar groups, vigorous discussion and conflicting opinions are welcome and encouraged, but personal attacks, disrespectful comments, and gender or racial slurs WILL NOT be tolerated and students can be expelled from seminar groups if their behaviour is deemed to be disruptive.

As a community, Carleton University supports and is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated and is treated with the seriousness it deserves. Carleton’s new sexual violence policy can be found at: https://carleton.ca/secretariat/wp-content/uploads/Sexual-Violence-Policy-December-1-2016.pdf

Academic Accommodation
You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website http://www.carleton.ca/equity/accommodation/student_guide.htm

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website http://www.carleton.ca/equity/accommodation/student_guide.htm

Students with disabilities requiring academic accommodations in this course must register with the Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) for a formal evaluation of disability-related needs. Documented disabilities could include but are not limited to mobility/physical impairments, specific Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/psychological disabilities, sensory disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), and chronic medical conditions. Registered PMC students are required to contact the PMC, 613-520-6608, every term to ensure that I receive your Letter of Accommodation, no later than two weeks before the first assignment is due or the first in-class test/midterm requiring accommodations. If you only require accommodations for your formally scheduled exam(s) in this course, please submit your request for accommodations to PMC by the deadlines published on the PMC website: http://www2.carleton.ca/pmc/new-and-current-students/dates-and-deadlines/

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at http://carleton.ca/equity/accommodation

Note: Students must always retain copies of all work that is submitted. All final grades are subject to the Dean’s approval.

Tentative Schedule

January 8
Introduction to Course
This class serves as an introduction to the course. We will discuss objectives, readings, evaluation and organization of the course.

January 15 Anthropology
Professor Paul Mkandawire
Readings

January 22 Medicine
Professor Paul Mkandawire
Readings

January 29 African literatures
Readings
Available at: http://www.jstor.org/stable/3818468

February 5 History
Professor Paul Mkandawire
Readings

February 12
Research Proposal

February 18-22
Winter break

February 26
Research Proposal

March 5 - Human Rights in Africa
Professor Paul Mkandawire
Readings

3. TBA

March 12 Popular culture in Africa
Professor Pius Adesanmi
Readings

4. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ofrxI7zDh_Q

Note: Research Proposals due

March 19 Gender in African Studies
Professor Grace Adeniyi Ogunyankin
Readings: TBA

March 26 Economics
Paul Mkandawire
Readings

April 2 Group Presentations
Groups 1, 2 & 3

April 9 Research Essay Writing
No readings assigned

Research Essay due date - 16 April 2019