

THE INSTITUTE OF AFRICAN STUDIES PRESENTS

“South Africa's corporatized liberation: an ANC and a country in crisis”

With
Dale McKinley, Writer, Anthropology and Development Studies, University of Johannesburg

Wednesday, October 18, 1:00- 2:30 pm
Discovery Center Room 482, Carleton University

Dale T. McKinley is an independent writer, researcher and lecturer as well as political activist. Born and raised in Zimbabwe, he has been based in Johannesburg since 1991. Dale is a long-time political activist and has been involved in social movement, community and political struggles for over three decades. He holds a PhD. in Political Economy/African Studies from the University of North Carolina (Chapel Hill), USA. Dale occasionally lectures at university level and is a regular speaker at various civil society and academic social and political conferences and events. The author of four books, he has written numerous book chapters, research reports, and journal, magazine and press articles on various aspects of South African and international political, social and economic issues/struggles. Additionally, he is a regular contributor in the South African print and radio/TV media. Dale has been (and remains) actively involved in several political and social movements.

This is part of the African Studies Brownbag Seminar Series

(<http://www.carleton.ca/africanstudies/>)

For more information, please contact the Institute of African Studies at 613-520-2600 ext. 2220 or African_Studies@carleton.ca

*For a campus map, please see: <http://carleton.ca/campus/map/>