Course Description

Welcome to GINS 4090 H. From the Treaty of Versailles to the War on Terror, this course explores the emergence and development of the twentieth century international system of states, international institutions, and non-state actors. How did the current international system change, who were they key players, and will it survive into the twenty-first century? Concentrating on diplomatic and strategic interactions (statecraft and foreign policy) and their social, economic, political, and cultural contexts, topics covered will include the decline of European empires, Cold War competition, the rise of China, and how Walt Disney helped fight WWII.

Format: Meetings will take place once/week for a three-hour block. The majority of the time will be spent in class presentations and discussion based on examinations of historical documents, images, and films. Occasionally, students may be asked to watch a film, listen to a podcast, or visit a local exhibition outside of normal class hours.

Objectives: This course aims to re-consider the twentieth century from a global and international perspective, questioning the western-centred triumphalist narratives of the Cold War's end. Students in this course will demonstrate an understanding of the field, will research and interpret primary sources, will engage in critical historical discussions, and will complete a high quality research project. Familiarity with twentieth century history, security studies, and diplomacy is an asset.

By the end of the course students will be able to:

1. Describe the historical development of several influential theories, institutions, events, processes, and agents in the twentieth century international system, with a special focus on the liberal international order;
2. Explain key events through multiple disciplinary perspectives, including historical methods, memory studies, and international relations (IR);
3. Demonstrate enhanced critical and historical thinking and research skills through the writing of an original research paper or project.

Required Texts

This course requires the following text. Please avoid purchasing the incorrect edition. Texts are available at the University Bookstore or can be purchased online at major retailers. You are welcome to purchase e-editions if available:

- Mark Mazower, Governing the World: The History of an Idea, 1815 to the Present, Penguin, 2012 (hereafter: Mazower)
- William R. Keylor, Jerry Bannister, and Tracey J. Kinney, The Twentieth-Century World and Beyond: An International History since 1900, Second Canadian Edition, Oxford University Press, 2011 (hereafter: Keylor et al.)
- Additional readings will be posted on the course website or available through ARES.

You are responsible for checking the course website regularly and reading, watching, and/or listening to all material listed for each week. Occasionally, I will post additional articles or links that are course-related and informative. For the intellectually adventurous I will happily provide more challenging readings – just ask.

Assignments, Evaluation, and Grading

Your grade in this course is comprised of two main components: participation/discussion and written assignments, plus an essay or project:

(I) Participation: Attendance, Class Participation, Response Papers (20%) - ongoing

- Seminar attendance is expected and attendance will be taken. The participation grade will reflect the extent to which students contribute to class discussions in an informed and critical manner, not only attendance. Participants are expected to arrive each week having completed the readings, prepared or answered the discussion questions (as applicable), and equipped to discuss the material.
- Students are expected to be in attendance for the duration of class (3 hours) each week. Arriving late/leaving at the break/leaving early does not count as ‘attendance for the duration’ and will be noted. Absences and weak and/or limited participation will result in a diminished final grade.
- Due to the nature of this course there are no ‘make-up’ opportunities for lost participation marks. If you are unavoidably prevented from attending class, please let the Instructor know as soon as possible (note: official documentation is required). If you would like to request an alternative participation arrangement, please see the Instructor no later than week 3. Alternative arrangements are at the discretion of the Instructor.

(II) Presentation and Seminar Leader (20%) - ongoing

- In groups of no more than 3, each participant will co-lead the seminar. This includes giving a 20-30-minute presentation on the week’s reading and themes, preparing 3-5 discussion questions to distribute to the class 48-hours ahead of seminar, and writing a 3-5 page reading response paper to be submitted on the day.

(III) Memory and Commemoration Project (20%) – all options due week 6

- Visit 1-2 public memorials in Ottawa. Complete assignment and write reflection paper.

(IV) Research Paper or Project (40%) – final paper due Week 11

- Students will write a 20 page research paper or project on an influential theory, institution, event, process, or agent in the twentieth century international system. No extensions or late paper.

Grading: Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale	Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale
90-100	A+	12	67-69	C+	6
85-89	A	11	63-66	C	5
80-84	A-	10	60-62	C-	4
77-79	B+	9	57-59	D+	3
73-76	B	8	53-56	D	2
70-72	B-	7	50-52	D-	1

Approval of final grades: Standing in a course is determined by the Course Instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by an Instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Submitting Term Work

Always keep a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments, or take-home tests submitted in your courses. You can be asked to re-submit work for evaluation.

- Submission of Term Work: All assignments are due in hardcopy at the beginning of class unless otherwise specified. If so instructed, please submit an exact copy of your assignment to the Course Website (instructions will follow).

- Late penalties: Late assignments will receive a -5% deduction for the first day, -5%/day thereafter, weekends count as one day.
 - Late assignments may be submitted to the BGIInS office or drobox in 2404R Richcraft Hall. Barring exceptional circumstances, assignments will not be accepted more than three (3) days after the original deadline.
- Policy on Extensions: Students are not entitled to extensions on assignments. Extensions are granted solely at the discretion of the Instructor. While medical notes, appeals from the Registrar, etc., may be considered, please note that extensions are not guaranteed and will only be granted in the most exceptional circumstances. No extensions for the research essay.
- Return of Term Work: Assignments are returned in class; you must regularly attend class to receive your grades. Grades will not be conveyed via email. For assignments not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned as per Carleton University policy.

Academic Accommodations

- Learning difficulties and/or impairments: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact the PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).
- Religious observance: Students requesting accommodation for religious observances should apply in writing to their instructor for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Instructors and students may contact an Equity Services Advisor for assistance (www.carleton.ca/equity).

- Pregnancy: Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Services Advisor in Equity Services to complete a Letter of Accommodation. Then, make an appointment to discuss your needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Academic Integrity

- The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:
 - reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
 - submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
 - using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
 - using another’s data or research findings;
 - failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
 - handing in “substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.”
- Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of "F" for the course.

Intellectual Property

- Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s). I maintain the copyright to all course materials; they may not be posted, uploaded, transferred, or sold without my express written consent in advance.

Course Communications

- All email communication to students from BGIInS will be via official Carleton university e-mail accounts and/or CULearn. As important course and University information is distributed this way, it is the student's responsibility to monitor their Carleton and CULearn accounts. Please note that "I didn't check my email" will never be a valid excuse. A respectful tone is expected in all e-communication. Students can generally expect an e-mail response within 48 hours, weekends and holidays excepted.

Medical Certificates & Illness

- In the unfortunate case of illness or injury, only a Medical Certificate signed by a licensed physician and indicating that treatment/counsel was sought on the day of the missed class, assignment or examination, will be accepted. Please note: "Doctors notes may not always be issued for the following reasons:
 - Missed classes/labs except in extenuating circumstances.
 - Minor illnesses (e.g. colds, flu).
 - Past illnesses that have been resolved and that there is no documentation for.
 - Obvious injuries (e.g. broken bone in a cast)."

Course Conduct

- In this course informed and critical discussion of complex and contentious issues is the central component of the learning experience. Thus, all participants are expected to arrive on-time, prepared to conduct themselves with decorum and civility, and to actively contribute to an atmosphere of scholarly inquiry and mutual respect. While spirited discussion and disagreement are encouraged, rudeness, combativeness, and disruption are not.
- Please refrain from conducting non-course-related activities during class time (i.e., social media, chats, games, constant texting, and the like). Electronic and/or digital devices (including mobile devices) which impede or hamper the class discussion will not be tolerated. Unacceptable conduct includes, but is not limited to, discrimination or harassment, threatening, stalking, and unwelcome communication either in person or through electronic or other means. I reserve the right to remove disruptive elements (including devices and persons) from the classroom.
