

PUBLIC LECTURE

Emma Peacocke was the first candidate to defend her PhD in Carleton's 'Production of Literature' programme, and is the author of Romanticism and the Museum (Palgrave Macmillan 2015). She has just returned from a Bader and a Banting Postdoctoral Fellowship at Queen's - where she got to publish her Mansfield Park ideas as a journal article.

Jane Austen, Dinosaurs, and a Female Fossil Hunter

Emma Peacocke
*College of the Humanities,
Carleton University*

Glebe Community Centre
Thursday, November 21st, 2019
7:00 pm, Scotton Hall
All are welcome to attend the lecture.
Admission is free and open to the public.

College of the Humanities
CARLETON UNIVERSITY

GNAG