

BUTTERFLY SHOW RETURNS TO CARLETON

The annual live butterfly show returns to Carleton University beginning today and runs until Oct. 11. Several hundred exotic butterflies, including several new species, will be free to fly in the Carleton University tropical greenhouses from 9 to 4 p.m. every day including Thanksgiving Monday.

The exhibit will also feature a hatching cage that will allow visitors to see the butterflies spring to life. The greenhouses are located in the Nesbitt Biology Building at the corner of University Drive and Raven Road. Admission is free, but donations are appreciated.

Group tours, including school tours, can be arranged by calling Ed Bruggink at 520-3513 or e-mailing edward\_bruggink@carleton.ca.

PAT MCGRATH, THE OTTAWA CITIZEN

The annual live butterfly show returns to Carleton University today and runs until Oct. 11. Several hundred exotic species, including the atlas moth, one of the largest moths in the world, will be free to fly in the Carleton University tropical greenhouses. Visits run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day, including Thanksgiving Monday.