

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS Sustainable Ocean Conference

The Dalhousie Marine Affairs Program is proud to host its 11th annual Sustainable Ocean Conference, September 23rd-24th in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Overview:

The Sustainable Ocean Conference is the only student-led event of its kind in Atlantic Canada. It is supported by the Sobey Fund For Oceans, a partnership between Dalhousie University, and the Marine Affairs Program dedicated to supporting students and ocean conservation initiatives. This conference is a free event aiming to bring together students and faculty, members of the marine management community and the general public.

The theme of this year's conference is Dive Deeper. It will investigate complex topics of ocean conservation and sustainability by navigating below the surface of current marine issues. The conference will focus on three sub-themes including the North, early-career scientists, and marine protected areas and investigate their potential connections.

Prizes will be awarded for the top speakers and poster presentations.

Submissions Details

Interested participants are asked to submit an abstract (250 words) detailing their project, the actual or anticipated results and outcomes, as well as major take-home messages and links to the provided themes of the conference

Please submit your abstract through our online form:

<https://forms.gle/gVdEu56TGiwurCBo8>

Deadline: Thursday, April 14, 2022

(Selected applicants will be notified in late April 2022).

For general questions, please contact:

Dylan Seidler and Maryam Nakhostin

Submissions Committee Co-Leads

oceansconf@dal.ca

Subject ATTN: Call for Abstracts

For more info on our conference, please visit: <https://www.dal.ca/sites/sustainable-oceans.html>