

Benjamin J. Cohen

Benjamin J. Cohen is Louis G. Lancaster Professor of International Political Economy at the University of California, Santa Barbara, where he has been a member of the Political Science Department since 1991. He was educated at Columbia University, earning a PhD in Economics in 1963. He has worked as a research economist at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York (1962-1964) and has taught at Princeton University (1964-1971) and the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University (1971-1991). A specialist in the political economy of international money and finance, he serves on the editorial boards of several leading academic journals and is the author of twelve books, including most recently Global Monetary Governance and International Political Economy: An Intellectual History, both published in 2008. He has won numerous awards and in 2000 was named Distinguished Scholar of the year by the International Political Economy Section of the International Studies Association.

Francesco Mongelli

Francesco Mongelli is Senior Adviser in Directorate Monetary Policy at the ECB, and honorary Professor at the Johann Wolfgang Goethe University of Frankfurt. He holds a B.A. in Economics from the Free University for Social Studies (LUISS) in Rome, and also a Master's degree and a Ph.D. in Economics from The Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. He has worked at the ECB since 1998 holding various positions, including as organiser of the analytical agenda of DG Economics, and editor of the ECB Occasional Paper Series. Prior to that he spent several years as an economist at the International Monetary Fund in Washington. Mr. Mongelli's main area of research pertains to the effects of the euro on the functioning of EMU, the links between monetary policy and heterogeneity in the euro area, the links between economic integration and institutional integration, and comparing monetary policy preparation and the decision making in the main central banks. He also teaches Economics of Monetary Unions at the Johann Wolfgang Goethe University of Frankfurt. His papers have been published in various scientific and policy-oriented journals, such as the Open Economies Review, the Journal of Money Credit and Banking, the Journal of Common Market Studies, Integration and Trade, Economie Internationale, Bancaria, and the Journal of Economic Integration.

Andrew Martin

Andrew Martin, Research Associate, Center for European Studies, Harvard University, works on the comparative politics and social consequences of economic policy. He is co-directing a project on European social models and the current economic crisis, and starting a book on the politics of macroeconomic policy choices in the Great Depression and the current crisis. He co-edited with George Ross, are Euros and Europeans: Monetary Integration and the European Model of Society, including his chapter on the EMU macroeconomic policy regime, and The Brave New World of European Labor: Trade Union Responses to Economic Crisis in Western Europe. His publications include “EMU’s Flawed Economic Constitution: Macroeconomic Policy Disabled,” “Social Pacts, Unemployment, and EMU Macroeconomic Policy,” and “Macroeconomic Policy, Politics, and the Demise of Central Wage Negotiations in Sweden.”

Amy Verdun

Amy Verdun is Professor and Chair of Political Science, Jean Monnet Chair Ad Personam and the Director of the Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence, at the University of Victoria, in Victoria BC, Canada where she has been since 1997. She holds a PhD in Political and Social Sciences from the European University Institute Florence Italy (1995). From 2007-2009 she was the Graduate Advisor in the Department of Political Science at Uvic. Her earlier appointments were at the University of Leiden (1991-1992) and at the University of Essex (1995-1996).

Bernd Schnatz

Bernd Schnatz holds a PhD in Economics from Hamburg University (Germany). He has been working on various international economic issues at the Hamburg Institute for International Economics, the Deutsche Bundesbank and the European Central Bank. His publication record includes papers on currency crisis in emerging markets, the equilibrium exchange rate of euro, international trade, commodity markets and global business cycle indicators. For the past year, he has been acting as Head of the Balance of Payments and Foreign exchange section in the Directorate General Economics of the European Central Bank.

Philipp Maier

Philipp Maier is currently working as Assistant Chief in the International Department at the Bank of Canada. Prior to that, he worked as Senior Economist at the Central Bank of the Netherlands. Philipp Maier holds a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Groningen in the Netherlands, and has published in refereed journals, focusing primarily on central bank-related issues.

Paul Bowles

Paul Bowles specializes in globalization, regionalism and East Asian development. He is a Past-President of the Canadian Society for the Study of International Development and is also an Honorary Professor at Hebei University, PRC and an Adjunct Professor of the Autonomous University of Zacatecas, Mexico. His research has been funded by SSHRC, IDRC, the British Academy and the Ford Foundation. He has worked as a consultant to CIDA. He has published in leading journals such as The Journal of Development Studies, World Development, Cambridge Journal of Economics, New Political Economy, Review of International Political Economy and Journal of Comparative Economics. He has recently co-edited National Perspectives on Globalization and Regional Perspectives on Globalization (both Palgrave Macmillan, 2007) and authored National Currencies and Globalization: Endangered Specie? (Routledge, 2008). He is currently researching China's exchange rate and currency policies. He was awarded a UNBC Research Excellence Award in 2009.

Jörg Bibow

Jörg Bibow is Associate Professor of Economics at Skidmore College, New York, USA. He holds a PhD in Economics from the University of Cambridge, UK. Previously he held lecturing positions at the University of Cambridge, Hamburg University, and at Franklin College Switzerland. He is a research associate at the Levy Economics Institute, New York. He is the author of numerous articles and co-authored volumes published in Europe and the US on European integration, central banking, financial systems, international finance, and the history of economic thought. Last year Routledge, London and New York, published his book "Keynes on Monetary Policy, Inance and Uncertainty: Liquidity Preference Theory and the Global Financial Crisis".

Peter Kenen

Peter B. Kenen is Walker Professor of Economics and International Finance emeritus at Princeton University. He earned his PhD from Harvard and taught at Columbia from 1957 to 1971, where he served briefly as Provost of the University. He is the author or co-author of several books, including Asset Markets, Exchange Rates and Economic Integration, Economic and Monetary Union in Europe and, most recently, Regional Monetary Integration. At Princeton, he was, for many years the Director of the International Finance Section.

UBC
INSTITUTE FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES

UNIVERSITY OF
BRITISH COLUMBIA

Global Currency Competition & Exchange Rate Arrangements Present & Future