TYPES OF INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

INFORMATIONAL

- These are usually asked at the beginning of the interview
- Related to your background, knowledge about the company/job, and specific skills and experiences required
- Important to do research and prepare answers to these questions

BEHAVIOURAL

- The best predictor of future behaviour is past behaviour
- Require you to provide examples to demonstrate your experiences and competencies
- Think about examples that can be used to answer a variety of questions, and use SAR stories to structure your response

SITUATIONAL

- Demonstrates how you go about problem-solving and thinking in challenging situations
- Used to assess your critical thinking skills and evaluate your ability to make ethical decisions
- Explain how you would come to a decision. There is not always one right or wrong answer
