Why?

Peace in Europe (post-WW II)

Jean Monnet (1943):

“There will be no peace in Europe, if the states are reconstituted on the basis of national sovereignty with all that this implies by way of prestige politics and economic protectionism. If the countries of Europe once more protect themselves against each other, it will be once more be necessary to build up vast armies.”

“The European states must constitute themselves into a federation.”

Economic interdependence as key

- Maastricht Treaty (1991): creates European Union; Euro; pushes integration beyond economics (foreign policy, home affairs)
- Amsterdam (1997) and Nice (2000) Treaties: preparation for enlargement; incorporate Schengen agreement into EU treaties
- Lisbon Treaty (2009): gives EU unified legal personality → in force since 2009

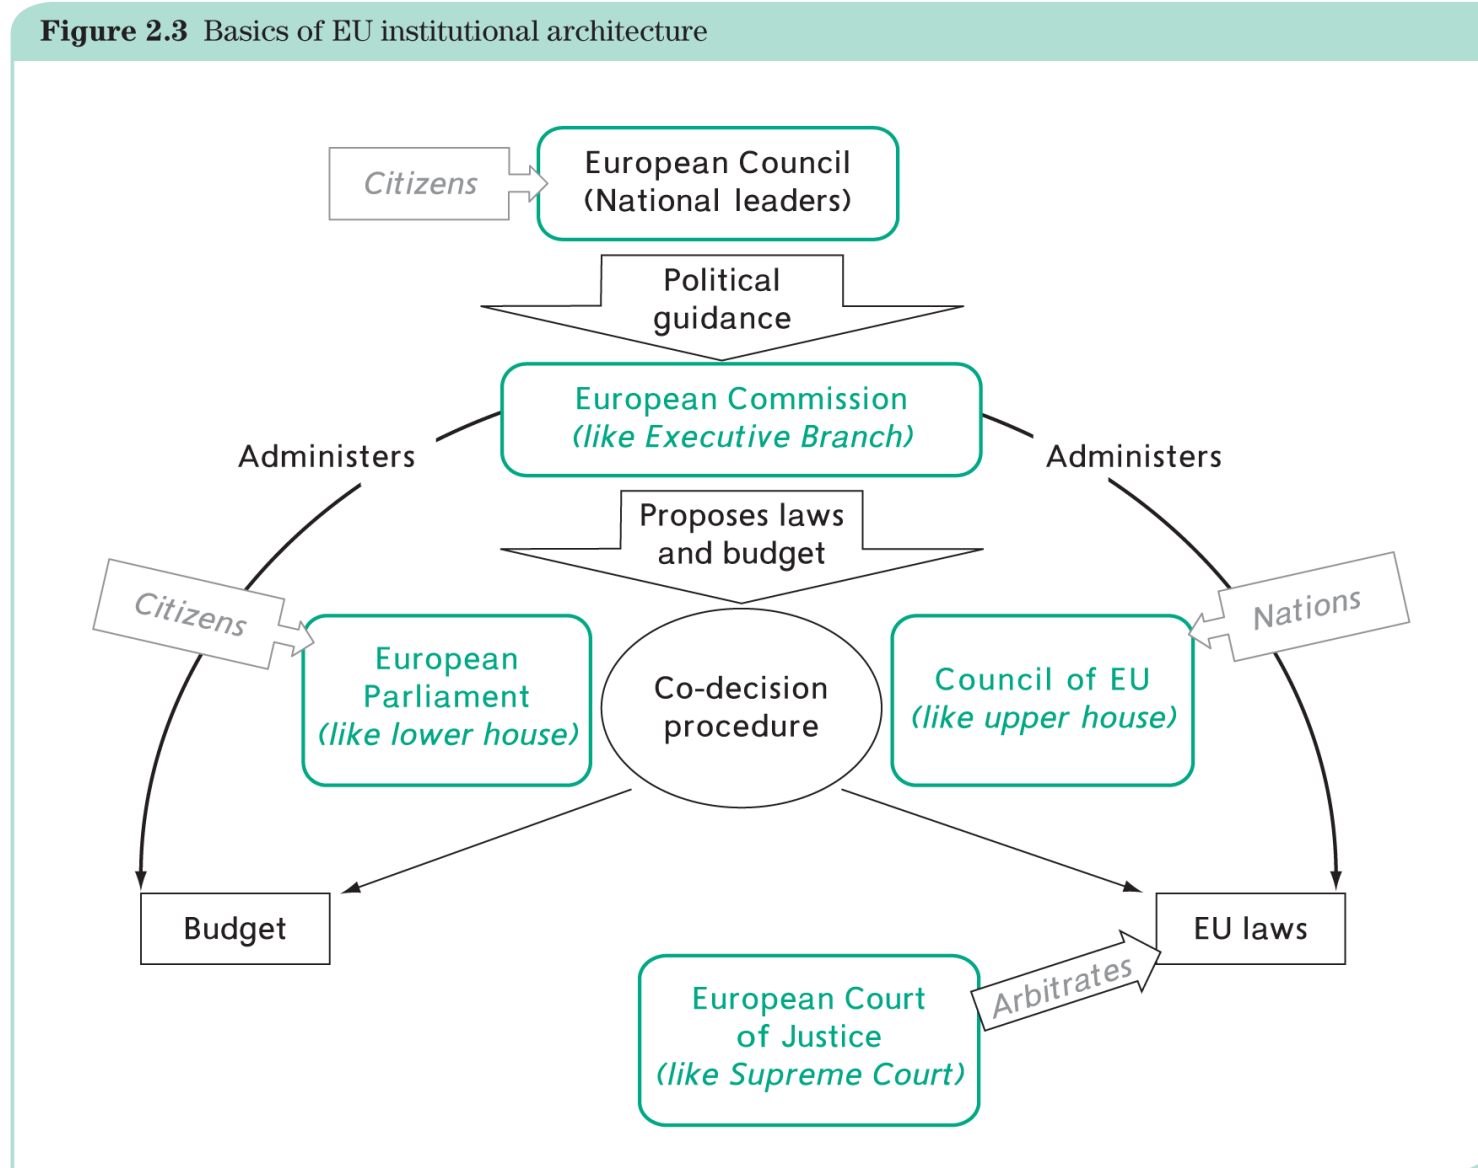

Differentiated integration

European Union

The 'Big-5' institutions

EU Institutions: a combination of a supranational principle (community matters) and an intergovernmental principle

Institution	Composition	Governance role
European Council (Brussels)	Member state leaders (intergovernmental)	Defines legislative, executive objectives
European Commission (Brussels)	EU bureaucrats (supranational)	Executive, some legislative functions
Council of the European Union (Brussels)	Member state ministers (intergovernmental)	Legislative, some executive functions
European Parliament (Strasbourg, Brussels)	Elected MEPs (supranational)	Legislative
Court of Justice (Luxembourg)	EU judges (supranational)	Judiciary

The European Council or Council of heads of state and of government (voice of the Member States) – president Charles Michel

Plays an important role:

- in providing overall political direction to the Union,
- defining goals and strategies

The European Council takes decisions on an intergovernmental basis, and implementation of the measures is left to the other EU institutions.

The Lisbon Treaty introduced a President of the European Council (Charles Michel since 2019) who holds office for 2.5 years, renewable for a following term (selected by qualified-majority voting in the European Council).

The European Commission (the voice of the EU) – president Ursula von der Leyen

- The European Commission is the executive branch of the EU.
- It enforces the Treaties and is driving forward European integration:
 - it proposes legislation to the Council and Parliament;
 - it administers and implements EU policies;
 - it provides surveillance and enforcement of EU law in coordination with the EU Court.
- It represents the EU at some international negotiations (e.g., WTO). However, the Commission's negotiating stances at such meetings are closely monitored by EU members.
- The Commission is made up of one Commissioner from each EU member (including the President).
- Commissioners are appointed all together and serve for five years.
- Commissioners are not supposed to act as national representatives.

The Council of the European Union (the voice of the Member States); current Presidency: France

- The Council is composed of representatives of each of the member states at the ministerial level plus a representative of the Commission; composition varies by policy field;
 - presidency rotates between member states every six months
- Functions:
 - To pass EU laws – jointly with the EP in many policy areas;
 - To co-ordinate the broad economic policies of the member states;
 - To conclude international agreements between the EU and other countries or international organizations;
 - To approve the budget of the EU, jointly with the EP;
 - To develop the Common Foreign and Security Policy of the EU, based on guidelines set by the European Council and
 - To co-ordinate co-operation between the national courts and police forces in criminal matters.

The European Parliament

- Organization:
 - 751 members (MEPs) directly elected; chaired by President (Roberta Metsola)
 - number per nation varies with population but is less than proportional;
 - MEPs physically sit left-to-right, not along national lines; organized in trans-national party groups.
- The European Parliament adopts laws by a simple majority: the usual 50 per cent majority threshold with one vote per member of Parliament.
- Main tasks:
 - sharing legislative powers with the Council of the EU and the Commission;
 - overseeing EU institutions, especially the Commission.

European Parliament (voice of the people)

- Democratic Control:
- Parliament is the primary democratic control over the EU's activities;
- MEPs are directly elected.

Political groups in the European Parliament

- EPP - Group of the European People's Party (Christian Democrats)
- S&D - Group of the Progressive Alliance of Socialists and Democrats in the European Parliament
- ECR - European Conservatives and Reformists Group
- Renew Europe - Renew Europe group
- GUE/NGL - Confederal Group of the European United Left - Nordic Green Left
- Greens/EFA - Group of the Greens/European Free Alliance
- ID - Identity and Democracy
- NI - Non-attached Members

Since 2009, according to Parliament's rules of procedure, a political group shall consist of at least 25 Members elected in at least seven Member States.

Court of Justice of the European Union

- Organization:
 - one judge from each member appointed for six years; chaired by president (Koen Lenaerts)
 - Court reaches its decisions by majority voting.
- EU laws and decisions are open to interpretation that may lead to disputes that cannot be settled by negotiation:
 - Court settles these disputes, especially disputes between Member States, between the EU and Member States, between EU institutions, and between individuals and the EU;
 - It has had a major impact on European integration via case-law.
- Judges are appointed by common accord of the Member States' governments.

What is the EU?

More than an international organization, less than a state:

- EU is a combination of intergovernmentalism (member-state control) and supranationalism (pan-European mandate)

Areas of success

- Nobel peace prize in 2012
- Spread of European norms and values (freedom, democracy, human and minority rights, rule of law) through various policies
 - Enlargement, trade, development
- Largest single market of the world:
 - The EU is the third largest economy in the world.

- Global leader in environmental matters
 - Green Deal
- The largest donor of the world

 - Refugee crisis
 - Brexit
 - Covid-19 pandemic

Canada and the EU: benchmarks
