COURSE OBJECTIVES
The seminar has as its official mandate to focus on “key thinkers and case studies [in order] to approach “religion and public life” from Religious Studies perspectives.”
(http://calendar.carleton.ca/grad/courses/RELI/).

Currently, it is a commonplace observation that religion has made a remarkable recovery as a feature of public life in recent years (and especially since September 11, 2001). Whether this is true or not is highly debatable, in particular because the observation is premised on the dubious assumption that religion was once in terminal decline, not only as a feature of public life, but also as a private undertaking. What is abundantly clear, however, is that rubrics linking something called “religion” with something else variously identified as “public life”, “the public sphere”, “the public square” etc., have lately proliferated both in para-academic and bona fide academic settings. While the cultural conditions and political circumstances of the adoption of such rubrics may be fairly obvious, their actual content meaning and intellectual value remain – despite their presentation as transparently self-explanatory – rather obscure.

Therefore, It is the aim of the seminar to cast some light on the rubric itself, to determine as clearly as possible what it means or could mean, and to establish such meaning as effectively as possible in relation to particular academic settings (Religious Studies, Carleton University…) and social political contexts (Ottawa, Ontario, Canada…). To that end, the seminar will take as its point of departure three broad questions, as follows:

1) What, precisely, is the analytical utility (if any) of the rubric “religion and public life”?
2) What, precisely, is the cultural salience of the rubric “religion and public life”?
3) Inasmuch as (2) may be exerting considerable influence on academic practice (1), what (if anything) might be gained by critical approaches (such as a social history of ideas, institutional historical analysis, rhetorical criticism, deconstruction, etc.) to our programme rubric?

Finally, the seminar presupposes your acceptance of the principles of the modern research university, and especially: 1) that a seminar differs fundamentally from a lecture course; 2) that the academic study of religion is not the same thing as confessional apologetic or pastoral theology. Your understanding and appreciation of such principles will hopefully develop further during over the course of the seminar.

EVALUATION
Essay Proposal – 20% (1500-2000 words; due 25 October); detailed brief to be distributed
Essay – 50% (8,000-12,000 words; due 6 December)
Seminar participation/contribution, including as a leader – 30% (roughly 3% per class!)
SEMINAR LEADERSHIP
Because I am the instructor of record for this course, I am also in a certain sense the leader of the seminar. Yet, in one manner of speaking such leadership is ex officio. Thus, it is also customary for seminars to proceed under shared or rotating leadership. In some cases this sharing of duties has evolved into the ‘seminar presentation’ (largely for ease of administration, I suspect). In this seminar, you will not be asked to prepare a formal presentation. Instead, you will actually share leadership duties. Each one of you will be assigned a week (or weeks) in which you will share responsibility for leading the seminar.

POLICY ON ATTENDANCE
Not only is it common practice to evaluate participation in discussion and contribution to a seminar, it is also customary that habitual non-attendance be considered unacceptable performance. Such non-attendance entails a failure to contribute that is simply un-collegial. Moreover, since it is impossible to make up a missed seminar, a member who does not attend regularly cannot really be said to have taken the course. Therefore, any member who is absent from more than 3 meetings of the seminar will not receive course credit. In other words, all members of the seminar must be present (and active!) for (minimally!) three quarters of all meetings of the seminar. Period.

READINGS
All required readings are available to seminar members via the MacOdrum Library (Reserves), or electronically. Please note that readings are a prerequisite for seminar participation. Your ability to contribute effectively will depend on keeping up with the reading. Furthermore, all members of the seminar are encouraged to “read around” the seminar topics as much as possible, and to share their scholarship with the seminar. The preparation of an essay proposal and term essay will also undoubtedly involve such further reading.

OFFICE HOURS
Office hours will be held Tuesdays 15:00-16:00 and Fridays 12:00-13:00.

E-MAIL COMMUNICATION
Carleton communications policy states that faculty must conduct email communications with students only through their Carleton email accounts. Please be advised, further, that students can normally expect up to a 24-hour turn-around time on e-mail communication, especially during high volume times (i.e. before examinations, at essay time, etc.).

Assignments:

Unless specifically told otherwise by their instructors, students:
- must not use a plastic or cardboard cover or paper clips
- must staple the paper (there is a stapler on the essay box)
- must include the following:
  - Student name; Student number;
  - Course number & section; Instructor’s name
- No assignments will be accepted after the last day for handing in term work – see dates in next column.
- For assignments left in the Drop Box just inside 2A Paterson Hall beside 2A39, the box will be emptied every day at 8:30 a.m., assignments taken out at that time will be date-stamped with the previous day’s date, after 8:30 a.m. the current date will be used.
- Students are required to keep copies of their assignments. If your paper is lost at any point, you will be considered not to have submitted it if you cannot produce a copy immediately on request.

Grading System:

Item #10 in the Graduate Calendar – General Regulations
http://calendar.carleton.ca/grad/gradregulations/

Deferrals for Term Work:

If you miss a final examination and/or fail to submit a final assignment by the due date because of circumstances beyond your control, you may apply for a deferral of examination/assignment. For deferred examinations, you must apply within 5 working days after the scheduled date of your exam. To apply for deferral of a final assignment, you must apply within 5 working days of the last scheduled day of classes. Visit the Registrar’s Office for more information.

Plagiarism:

It is the responsibility of each student to understand the meaning of ‘plagiarism’ as defined in the Undergraduate or Graduate Calendars, and to avoid both committing plagiarism and aiding or abetting plagiarism by other students. (Undergraduate Calendar Academic Regulations, section 14.3, or http://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/regulations/academicregulations/) If you are accused of plagiarism, you must understand the meaning of plagiarism before the Final Examination period.

Academic Accommodation:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

- Pregnancy obligation: write to your professor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/

- Religious obligation: write to your professor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with your professor to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable) at http://www2.carleton.ca/pmc/new-and-current-students/dates-and-deadlines/

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/
