

COURSE NAME AND CODE

Course	CGSC 3004B
Instructor	Mark MacLeod
Term	Winter 2020
Email Address	mark.macleod@carleton.ca
Office Location	TBA
Office Hours	TBA

COURSE DESCRIPTION/INSTRUCTORS STATEMENT

This course examines the role that Philosophy plays in Cognitive Science. We will approach this issue by reading the second edition of Clark's classic, Mindware. Clark looks at various topics in Cognitive Science from the critical perspective of Philosophy of Mind, and we will supplement our discussion of his text with a number of additional philosophical articles. This will be a blended course (some synchronous components, some asynchronous components).

EVALUATION

Students will produce weekly critical response sheets, and will make a seminar presentation focusing on one of the course topics. There will be no final exam.

TEXT

Clark, A. (2013). Mindware: An Introduction to the Philosophy of Cognitive Science (2nd edition). Oxford: New York.

Additional readings will be made available on cuLearn