ENGLISH

We pay respect to the Algonquin people, who are the traditional guardians of this land. We acknowledge their longstanding relationship with this territory, which remains unceded.

We pay respect to all Indigenous people in this region, from all nations across Canada, who call Ottawa home.

We acknowledge the traditional knowledge keepers, both young and old.

And we honour their courageous leaders: past, present, future.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course introduces students to theories of emotions, affect, the senses, before considering how these theories help us make sense of crime, criminalization, victimization, punishment, and social control. We begin with an introduction to the “emotional turn” in criminology. From here we survey foundational texts on the sociology of emotions, affect, and law and the senses. We consider how emotions and affect challenge the rational/emotional duality. Experiences of fear, anxiety, panic, pleasure, lust, disgust, distress, shame, humiliation, pain, empathy, and revenge are examined in relation to fear or crime, offender motivation, processes of criminalization, experiences of and responses to victimization, adjudication, and the desire for punishment and social control.

TEXTS

All course materials will be made available on Brightspace and through Ares.

EVALUATION

• Syllabus Contract & Quiz	5%	Sept. 8 th 2023 (11:59PM)
• In-class Participation:	20%	Ongoing (See below)
• Critical Reading Responses	20% (2x10%)	Ongoing (Thursdays at 11:59PM)
• Final Paper/Assignment Proposal	10%	Oct. 13 th 2023 (11:59PM)
• Final Paper/Assignment Presentations	10%	Last 2 weeks of class
• Final Research Paper/Alternative Assignment	35%	Dec. 8 th 2023 (11:59PM)

Syllabus Contract & Quiz (5%, Sept. 8th 2023, 11:59PM)

Once you have read through this syllabus carefully and in its entirety, please complete the syllabus contract and quiz in Brightspace. This short multiple choice, true/false quiz will test your understanding of the course and academic integrity as outlined and defined on the course syllabus. You have until Sept. 8th at 11:59pm to complete this. Please see the guidelines on Brightspace for more details.

In-Class Participation (20%, Ongoing):

The seminar format relies on students taking an active role in generating, sharing, and learning knowledge. Attendance is taken for every class and your participation is evaluated at the end of each seminar. You are allowed to miss one class without repercussion. After this, a penalty applies for every class missed. However, if you have a reason for missing class, please contact me ASAP (preferably beforehand) and I will be happy to figure out a solution for you to make up your points. If you are feeling sick, please do not come to class. Your participation grade is reflective of: your attendance; your ability to discuss the specifics of the assigned texts and themes; your ability to make connections between readings, earlier class discussions, as well as comments made during class; and, the quality of the insights you bring to the discussion. Please see the guidelines on Brightspace for more details.

Critical Reading Responses (20%, 2x10%, Ongoing, Thursday at 11:59PM):

These two brief assignments will allow me to assess your understanding of and engagement with assigned readings. You must pick two (2) readings that interest you over the course of the term and write a response paper for each. Each reading needs to be from a different week.

You MUST submit your critical response on the link provided on Brightspace before or by 11:59PM on the Thursday before the class that the reading will be discussed. You cannot submit a response about a reading that has already been discussed in class. The idea is to have you write response papers in preparation for the discussion of the chosen readings.

Your first response MUST be submitted within the first four weeks of the semester so that you can get feedback that will help you improve on your second response.

If you are dissatisfied with the grade of one your responses, you have the option to submit a third response to improve your grade. If you choose to do so, I will drop your worst response, keeping the best two out of three. This is completely optional.

For each response paper I am looking for a condensed summary of the reading as well as a response that thoughtfully engages with the article. Your response paper should be 2-3 pages (font size 12, double spaced) and should do the following:

1. Provide a concise and specific explanation of the author's topic and main goals.
2. Summarize the specific arguments the author makes in the text.
3. Note which methods theoretical framework(s) is/are being used by the author(s). If no method or theoretical framework is explicitly identified, explain what you think is being used and why.
4. Provide a thoughtful reflection on the article. This reflection can take several possible directions: discussing a particular passage in one of the readings; pointing to connections across two or more readings; registering and elaborating upon your approval/disagreement with a key point in a reading; addressing the sources used in the texts etc.; relating the article course themes and previous weeks' readings/discussions. Please see the guidelines on Brightspace for more details.

Final Paper/Assignment Proposal (10%, Oct. 13th 2023, 11:59PM):

This assignment asks you to start thinking about your final paper/assignment. Your proposal should be approx. 2 pages (font size 12 double spaced) and should explain what your final paper or alternative assignment will be about. This will give you the opportunity to get started on your final assignment and receive useful feedback. Your proposal can be written in point form, outline form, or complete sentences, whatever works best for you. It should include the following:

1. Topic: What is the general topic of your final assignment? What lead you to choose this?
2. Thesis statement: What Is your central premise?
3. Sub arguments: What arguments will you use to support your thesis statement? What examples and evidence will you use to support these arguments?
4. What two course readings will you use in your final assignment? How will you incorporate these? What elements of the readings will you use? (Arguments? Examples? Theoretical frameworks?)
5. A minimum of three other readings or materials that you are considering using for your assignment. Briefly explain why you think these will be relevant.

Final Research Paper/Alternative Assignment (35%, Dec. 8th 2023, 11:59PM)

Final Research Paper (10-12 pgs.) on a topic that addresses course themes and content. The paper must draw upon at least 2 of the course readings as well as at least 5 other academic readings or materials not studied in class.

OR

Create a creative output that explores a theme(s) related to crime, emotion and affect, and that makes an “argument” or “statement”. Write a 6-8 pg. paper that explains your creative output, why it was chosen, how it is connected to the themes, concepts, theories, and research on crime, emotions and affect, and what “argument” or “statement” it is making. The paper must draw upon at least 2 of the course readings + 2 other readings or materials (these can be from the course or not). You must explain how these sources support your “argument” or “statement”.

Further details for both final assignment options will be posted in Brightspace and discussed in class.

Research Paper Presentation (10%, Last two weeks of class)

The last two weeks of class are designated to the presentations of your research paper/assignment. Presentations should be no longer than 10 mins in length. Further details will be posted on Brightspace and discussed in class.

Please note: Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean. In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar, the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

A+ = 90-100	B+ = 77-79	C+ = 67-69	D+ = 57-59
A = 85-89	B = 73-76	C = 63-66	D = 53-56
A - = 80-84	B - = 70-72	C - = 60-62	D - = 50-52	F=Below 50

PLAGIARISM

The University Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, artworks, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else, including the unauthorized use of generative AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT);
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement;
- submitting a computer program developed in whole or in part by someone else, with or without modifications, as one’s own; and failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Plagiarism is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly by the course's instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of "F" for the course.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Classroom teaching and learning activities, including lectures, discussions, presentations, etc., by both instructors and students, are copy protected and remain the intellectual property of their respective author(s). All course materials, including PowerPoint presentations, outlines, and other materials, are also protected by copyright and remain the intellectual property of their respective author(s).

Students registered in the course may take notes and make copies of course materials for their own educational use only. Students are not permitted to reproduce or distribute lecture notes and course materials publicly for commercial or non-commercial purposes without express written consent from the copyright holder(s).

POLICIES:

(i) Contact with Instructor

I will be available for consultation with students by appointment. Please e-mail me using the Brightspace/Carleton e-mail system should you want to set up an appointment.

(ii) E-mail Policy

Every student is expected to have a Carleton e-mail address and to check it regularly. University policy dictates that Professors will not send e-mails to students at any other addresses. If a class has to be cancelled, or if there is any other matter that you should know about prior to class, you may be sent an email on your Carleton account. E-mails will generally be returned within two business days. Please note that I read and respond to email between 9:00am-6:00pm on weekdays. Emails received late on Friday may not be responded to until the following Tuesday.

(iii) Late Penalties

All assignments must be completed for you to receive a passing grade in this course. Late assignments will be deducted a penalty of 2% for each day submitted after the due date (including week-end days) except under exceptional circumstances, i.e. grave illness. If you require an extension, please make arrangements with me ahead of time. Computer failure, conflicts with work schedules or similar problems are not a valid excuse for failing to submit an assignment on time (I recommend saving your assignments on google drive or emailing a version to yourself to ensure you have access to your work should something happen). Students submitting late assignments must submit them via the assignment link on Brightspace. Students are responsible to keep an extra copy of any assignment that is submitted for evaluation.

STATEMENT ON STUDENT MENTAL HEALTH

As a university student you may experience a range of mental health challenges that significantly impact your academic success and overall well-being. If you need help, please speak to someone. There are numerous resources available both on- and off-campus to support you.

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Informal accommodation due to short-term incapacitation: [provide information on your requirements for short-term informal accommodations. If you require supporting documentation, you may only request the Self-Declaration for Academic Considerations form (<https://carleton.ca/registrar/wp-content/uploads/self-declaration.pdf>) which replaces medical notes.]

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For accommodation regarding a formally-scheduled final exam, you must complete the Pregnancy Accommodation Form (click here).

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, please request your accommodations for this course through the Ventus Student Portal at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). Requests made within two weeks will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. For final exams, the deadlines to request accommodations are published in the University Academic Calendars. After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: <https://carleton.ca/equity/sexual-assault-support-services>

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation will be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>
