

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP 2023-2024
INSTITUTE OF CRIMINOLOGY & CRIMINAL JUSTICE
FACULTY OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS

The Institute of Criminology & Criminal Justice at Carleton University is thrilled to invite applications from qualified candidates for a postdoctoral fellowship of 12 months, beginning as early as July 1st, 2023, and no later than September 1st, 2023.

The Institute is a dynamic national hub for interdisciplinary critical criminological research, teaching, and engagements. The Institute offers a BA through a unique collaborative structure with the Department of Psychology, the Department of Sociology & Anthropology, and the Department of Law & Legal Studies. For more information about the ICCJ, please visit: <https://carleton.ca/criminology/>

The ICCJ postdoctoral fellow will work with an interdisciplinary team of faculty on an original research project related to, or proximate with, the research interests of ICCJ faculty. These include: abolitionism; anarchism; affect, emotion and the senses; biocriminology; Black criminology; critical race theory; cultural criminology; digital technology; drug policies; globalization of surveillance and security practices; Indigenous studies; medico-legal surveillance; moralization processes; policing; porn and sexuality studies; queer and feminist criminologies; security governance; settler colonial studies; social control; social movements studies; social systems theory; sociology of law and punishment; surveillance of social movements; theoretical criminology; victimization; violence against women; youth and criminalization.

In addition to conducting original research in critical criminology intended for publication in high quality peer-reviewed presses, the successful candidate might have the opportunity to teach a single-term 4th year undergraduate seminar. The postdoctoral fellowship is intended to support an emerging scholar whose work makes visible and legible the limits of criminalizing and punitive logics and institutions.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have:

- A PhD either very near to completion, or completed in the past five years, in criminology or in related fields of inquiry.
- Completed the PhD prior to starting the ICCJ post-doctoral fellowship.
- A research and publication dossier appropriate to this career stage and aligned with the critical orientation of the Institute of Criminology & Criminal Justice.

Duration: 12 months

Start date: Negotiable, between July 1st, 2023 and September 1st, 2023.

Home unit: Institute of Criminology & Criminal Justice

Salary: C$43,000 plus benefits (see PSAC local 77000 collective agreement with Carleton University)

Research funding: The postdoctoral fellow will have access to a research fund of up to C$5,000.

Relocation expenses: Eligible moving expenses of up to C$1,500 will be reimbursed.

Application deadline: March 8, 2023.

Application process: Applications must be sent electronically in one single PDF file which includes the following: 1) a cover letter, notably identifying the ICCJ faculty member under whose supervision the fellowship would take place, and the expected start date of the fellowship; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a postdoctoral research proposal (max 2,500 words, excluding bibliographic references). Interested candidates should arrange for three confidential signed and dated letters of reference to be sent in support of their application.

The application package and the reference letters should be sent electronically to:
Nicolas Carrier
Director, Institute of Criminology & Criminal Justice
c/o Robin Dunbar, Institute Administrator
robin.dunbar@carleton.ca

Anticipated communication of results: April 2023. Applicants may be contacted for an e-interview during the adjudication process. A reversion listing shall be created and will remain valid until the effective start date of the selected ICCJ postdoctoral fellow.

About Carleton University:

Carleton University is a dynamic and innovative research and teaching institution with a national and international reputation as a leader in collaborative teaching and learning, research and governance. With over 30,000 students, 900 academic faculty, and 1,100 staff and more than 100 programs of study, we encourage creative risk-taking enabling minds to connect, discover and generate transformative knowledge. We are proud to be one of the most accessible campuses in North America. Carleton's Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities has been heralded as the gold standard for disability support services in Canada. Carleton's location in Ottawa, Ontario provides many opportunities for scholarship and research with numerous and diverse groups and institutions. To learn more about our university and the City of Ottawa, please visit www.carleton.ca/about.

Carleton University is committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our university including, but not limited to: women; visible minorities; First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples; persons with disabilities; and persons of any sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression. Carleton understands that career paths vary. Legitimate career interruptions will in no way prejudice the assessment process and their impact will be taken into careful consideration.