Information for Faculty – Customized Writing Workshops

Writing workshops are interactive sessions designed to introduce students to various writing strategies. They also facilitate discussion around particular writing assignments. We work in collaboration with professors and TAs to design and present customized in-class workshops at relevant times within a course.

In-class workshops provide opportunities for students to:

- Ask questions while involved in the process of completing an assignment;
- Increase awareness of the writing process, and;
- Develop strategies that work for them.

Workshops also help to introduce students to writing support services on campus and clarify the expectations of particular writing assignments.

To request an in-class presentation, please complete the Faculty Request form.