COURSE DESCRIPTION

This class (DIGH 2001/ENGL 2400) is a broad introduction to the field of Digital Humanities, focusing primarily on what the discipline is, what it allows scholars to do, and what types of questions it seeks to answer. The DH Tools & Methods class (DIGH 2002/ENGL 2401) is the complement to this class, which deals much more with software & tools specifically. Do you have to be able to program ahead of time for either of these classes? NO. We're here to: figure out what a computer can tell you about language and literature; how the online world changes how we receive, interpret, and create texts; what digital culture is; and eventually, give you the tools & skillsets to do that yourself.

This is primarily a reading, application, & inquiry-based class (see the full syllabus below). We ask big philosophical questions, examine (online) objects of study, discuss them, and try to come to some conclusions or consensus. On the whole, DIGH 2001 is designed to help one figure out what kind of digital humanist one might be, where one's skills and interests lie, and what kinds of texts and questions one might want to examine in the future.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

The class is part survey, part history, part ethics class, and part inquiry-oriented investigation of relevant topics. As such, students should come away with an idea of the types of questions DHers ask and why, and well as being able to ground those concepts in a historical context. Overall, the class is designed to give people an overview of the field, and learn which DH topics, projects, and sub-fields are most relevant to their own disciplines and investigations.

RULES OF THE ROAD

- This class isn't designed to turn you into programmer or anything of the sort overnight – it's primarily a theoretical course designed to introduce folks to DH and help you find out what “flavor” of DHer you might be. You're not expected to know everything out of the gate. Practice. Try everything. Play. Find what's most useful. Go with it.
- No one in this class is stupid. Ever. DH requires thinking in a different way and that can take time. Just because someone hasn't acquired a skill yet or a mode of thinking yet doesn't mean they're any better or worse than anyone else. Patience. Empathy. Trade skills. Everyone is a knowledge resource for everyone else.
- Sharing skills, tools, and ideas are part of what DH is (or should be) all about. “None of us is as smart as all of us” — Kenneth H. Blanchard
- We're all on Team Human, so we're all in the same boat. Everyone (including myself) has a chance to learn from everyone else here, in a respectful, safe environment.
- Be respectful of others with your presence, time, & attention.
- Discrimination or disrespect of any type will not be tolerated. Full stop.
- Feel free to bring your own experiences, scholarship and interests to bear on the work at hand. The more invested you are in it, the more interesting the end product will tend to be. Chances are, others will have had similar experiences to share that will be catalyzed by your contribution.
- Connect with others. Five intelligent people over coffee can teach you as much as any class -- five DH people with laptops, possibly even more so.
- Be prepared and ready to engage with the materials. It really does make things more fruitful and insightful for everyone.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Students will engage with readings & issues on the topic of Digital Humanities
- Students will gain an appreciation for the scope and sub-fields of DH
- Students will write response papers dealing with major debates within DH, as well as learning to analyze & critique digital artifacts from a DH perspective
- Students will collaborate with others on a Design Project, which involves conceptualizing and outlining specs for a new DH resource that could be feasibly implemented
- Students will be able to articulate "what kind of DHer they are" and have an idea of the types of projects and research they might like to pursue in the future

TEXTS

None. No (purchased) texts required – all of our readings will be online via Brightspace.

OTHER RESOURCES

Facebook and Discord groups, as well as the Brightspace forums, will be available for students to ask each other questions, share resources, find groupwork members, collaborate, and socialize.

IMPORTANT DATES (FALL 2021)

- Aug 31, 2022—Deadline for course outlines to be made available to students registered in fall and fall/winter term courses.
- September 7, 2022—Fall term begins.
- September 13, 2022—Last day for registration for fall and fall/winter courses.
- October 8, 2022—December examination schedule available online.
- October 10, 2022—Statutory holiday. University closed.
- October 24-28, 2022—Fall Break. Classes are suspended.
- November 15, 2022--Last day to withdraw from full fall & late fall classes
- November 25, 2022—Last day for summative tests or examinations or formative tests or examinations totaling more than 15% of the final grade.
- December 7, 2022—Last day of fall term classes. Classes follow a Monday schedule. Last day to assign take-home exams due on the final day of the exam schedule. Last day that can be assigned as a due date for term work.
- December 10–22, 2022--Final examinations.
- December 25, 2022-January 3, 2023—University closed.

GRADING

DH Biography	5%
DH Project Description	5%
Response Papers	25%
Design Document	25%
Final Paper	30%
Participation	10%

Full requirements will be discussed in class and assignment descriptions posted to Brightspace. Please not that for assignments with due date ranges, these indicate when the assignment dropbox opens (can be handed in) and closes (must be handed in)

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

DH Bio & DH project description: 5%+5% (1/2p + 1p) -- SEPT 15 & SEPT 29

The DH bio (Sept 15) is basically a short, half-page introduction to the group via the online forum. It should include a photo, your disciplinary background, interest in DH, and any interests that you'd like to share with the class more generally. These help to introduce you to the group, and be helpful for discussions & group projects later. Graded as submitted/unsubmitted.

The DH project description (Sept 29) is a short, (approx.) one-page rundown of a DH website or project, including a hyperlink, screenshots, its importance, scope, audience, and any suggested improvements. These serve to familiarize folks with what's out there for DH projects, and provide a useful index of resources for people. Graded as submitted/unsubmitted.

Response papers: 25% (6-7p) -- OCT 18-21

This project involves attempting to answer one of our questions from the syllabus - or any other associated topics discussed in class (ex. the digital divide, open data, public-facing DH). The paper should be in the form of a thesis-based research paper in MLA format. At least six secondary sources are required for this paper, and people are free to use up to two articles assigned for class; the majority of research should be through the library and academic sources (ie. you should not rely purely on Internet sources for an academic paper of this type). This is designed to be an opportunity to build on the readings and explore a question relevant to your interests.

Design Document: 30% (~3p / person) -- NOV 15-18

In groups of 4-5, come up with a hypothetical DH project. It can be a website, app, interactive story, game, online archive, or something similar. Outline its purpose, users, usefulness, rationale, possible technologies used, and simple design mock-ups, or reference similar sites, games, or projects to get across what you would like the site to look like or how it might function.

Final paper: 30% (6-8p) -- DEC 6-9

Individually, choose an object of study: a video game, interactive fiction, website, digital project, tool, or other digital artefact. Analyze it from a DH perspective, using materials from class and from secondary sources. The goal of this project is to have you choose a particular "school" of DH & a particular digital object-of-study, and deploy concepts from class (and the field itself) as a means of analyzing that object through the lens of Digital Humanities.

Participation: 5% (Ongoing)

As shown by attendance, engagement, questions, and discussions, especially on the online forum. Since most of the class is online, students are expected to post short responses, contributions, questions, or replies to the forum on a regular basis (ie. about one every couple weeks).

Please use MLA (Modern Language Association) document & documentation style. For relevant examples, see:

https://owl.purdue.edu/owl/research_and_citation/mla_style/mla_formatting_and_style_guide/mla_general_format.html

For formatting of Works Cited, see: <https://bibguru.com> or <http://www.citationmachine.net/>

Full assignment details will be available on Brightspace.

"Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean."

FORMATTING & ASSIGNMENT SUBMISSION

Papers should be typed/printed double-spaced on 8 ½ x 11" white paper. Please ensure a 1" margin on all sides of the page and use a 12 pt Times font or equivalent. Also, remember to keep backup copies of your papers, either hard copy or on a flash drive.

In most cases, assignments will be completed or handed in via Brightspace. The exception to this rule is the group design project, which can be emailed, done as a website, or presented through some other form of media (as long as all of the material in the assignment outline is covered).

ATTENDANCE

Students will be allowed three absences. Additional absences will impact the final grade. Absences and contributions to the class overall are taken into account when calculating the final participation grade. If you need to be absent from class due to unforeseen circumstances, email me before class to let me know you will not be attending and (in general) why. Try to get notes and materials from others to see what we've covered.

In cases where you are experiencing problems in class, or have circumstances outside of class that are affecting your academic work, the most important thing is to let me know. I don't need to have all the gritty details (and probably don't want to know) -- just keep me in the loop so that I know "where you're at" and hopefully alternative arrangements can be made. If you need some advice, guidance, a referral, assistance, or someone to listen, the door's always open.

Please note: If you vanish inexplicably for an extended period of time, there's a certain point at which it's out of my hands and I can't help you, due to the policies of the university. So don't do that.

PLAGIARISM

The University Senate defines plagiarism as "presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own." This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another's data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs."

Plagiarism is a form of intellectual theft. It is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly with the course's instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include failure of the assignment, failure of the entire course, or suspension from a program. For more information please go to: <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>

ACCOMODATION

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request, the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520- 6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: <https://carleton.ca/equity/sexual-assault-support-services>

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

Statement on Student Mental Health

As a University student you may experience a range of mental health challenges that significantly impact your academic success and overall well-being. If you need help, please speak to someone. There are numerous resources available both on- and off-campus to support you. Here is a list that may be helpful:

Information on Pandemic Measures

It is important to remember that COVID is still present in Ottawa. The situation can change at any time and the risks of new variants and outbreaks are very real. There are a number of actions you can take to lower your risk and the risk you pose to those around you including being vaccinated, wearing a mask, staying home when you're sick, washing your hands and maintaining proper respiratory and cough etiquette.

Feeling sick? Remaining vigilant and not attending work or school when sick or with symptoms is critically important. If you feel ill or exhibit COVID-19 symptoms do not come to class or campus. If you feel ill or exhibit symptoms while on campus or in class, please leave campus immediately. In all situations, you must follow Carleton's symptom reporting protocols.

Masks: Carleton has paused its mandatory mask mandate as of June 25, 2022. Even though masks will no longer be mandatory, we continue to strongly recommend masking when indoors, particularly if physical distancing cannot be maintained. For more information please visit <https://carleton.ca/covid19/policies-and-protocols/mask-policy/>.

Vaccines: While proof of vaccination is no longer required as of May 1 to attend campus or in-person activity, it may become necessary for the University to bring back proof of vaccination requirements on short notice if the situation and public health advice changes. Students are strongly encouraged to get a full course of vaccination, including booster doses as soon as they are eligible, and submit their booster dose information in cuScreen as soon as possible. Please note that Carleton cannot guarantee that it will be able to offer virtual or hybrid learning options for those who are unable to attend the campus.

All members of the Carleton community are required to follow requirements and guidelines regarding health and safety which may change from time to time. For the most recent information about Carleton's COVID-19 response and health and safety requirements please see the University's COVID-19 website and review the Frequently Asked Questions \(FAQs\). Should you have additional questions after reviewing, please contact covidinfo@carleton.ca.

University Regulations for All College of the Humanities Courses

Academic Dates and Deadlines

This schedule contains the dates prescribed by the University Senate for academic activities. Dates relating to fee payment, cancellation of course selections, late charges, and other fees or charges will be published in the Important Dates and Deadlines section of the Registration Website.

Online Learning Resources

While online courses offer flexibility and convenience, they also present unique challenges that traditional face-to-face courses do not. On this page, you will find resources collected by Carleton Online to help you succeed in your online courses; Learning Strategies and Best Practices, Study Skills, Technology and Online Interaction and Engagement.

Copies of Written Work Submitted

Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

Academic Integrity Policy

The University Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, artworks, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement;

- submitting a computer program developed in whole or in part by someone else, with or without modifications, as one's own; and
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Plagiarism is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly by the course's instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of "F" for the course.

Academic Integrity Process

Academic Accommodation Policy

Carleton University is committed to providing access to the educational experience in order to promote academic accessibility for all individuals.

Academic accommodation refers to educational practices, systems and support mechanisms designed to accommodate diversity and difference. The purpose of accommodation is to enable students to perform the essential requirements of their academic programs. At no time does academic accommodation undermine or compromise the learning objectives that are established by the academic authorities of the University.

Addressing Human Rights Concerns

The University and all members of the University community share responsibility for ensuring that the University's educational, work and living environments are free from discrimination and harassment. Should you have concerns about harassment or discrimination relating to your age, ancestry, citizenship, colour, creed (religion), disability, ethnic origin, family status, gender expression, gender identity, marital status, place of origin, race, sex (including pregnancy), or sexual orientation, please contact the Department of Equity and Inclusive Communities.

Requests for Academic Accommodation

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For accommodation regarding a formally-scheduled final exam, you must complete the Pregnancy Accommodation Form (click here).

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities \(PMC\) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made.

Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit:

<https://carleton.ca/equity/sexual-assault-support-services>

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation will be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist.

Grading System at Carleton University

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points and the percentage conversion can be found here. Grade points indicated are for courses with 1.0 credit value. Where the course credit is greater or less than one credit, the grade points are adjusted proportionately.

Course Sharing Websites and Copyright

Classroom teaching and learning activities, including lectures, discussions, presentations, etc., by both instructors and students, are copy protected and remain the intellectual property of their respective author(s). All course materials, including PowerPoint presentations, outlines, and other materials, are also protected by copyright and remain the intellectual property of their respective author(s).

Students registered in the course may take notes and make copies of course materials for their own educational use only. Students are not permitted to reproduce or distribute lecture notes and course materials publicly for commercial or non-commercial purposes without express written consent from the copyright holder(s).

More information

Student Rights and Responsibilities at Carleton

Carleton University strives to provide a safe environment conducive to personal and intellectual growth, free of injustice and characterized by understanding respect, peace, trust, and fairness.

The Student Rights and Responsibilities Policy governs the non-academic behaviour of students. Carleton University is committed to building a campus that promotes personal growth through the establishment and promotion of transparent and fair academic and non-academic responsibilities.

Deferred Term Work

In some situations, students are unable to complete term work because of illness or other circumstances beyond their control, which forces them to delay submission of the work.

1. Students who claim illness, injury or other extraordinary circumstances beyond their control as a reason for missed term work are held responsible for immediately informing the instructor concerned and for making alternate arrangements with the instructor and in all cases this must occur no later than three (3) working days after the term work was due. The alternate arrangement must be made before the last day of classes in the term as published in the academic schedule. Normally, any deferred term work will be completed by the last day of term. In all cases, formative evaluations providing feedback to the student should be replaced with formative evaluations. In the event the altered due date must extend beyond the last day of classes in the term, the instructor will assign a grade of zero for the work not submitted and submit the student's earned grade accordingly; the instructor may submit a change of grade at a later date. Term work cannot be deferred by the Registrar.
2. In cases where a student is not able to complete term work due to illness or injury for a significant period of time/or long term, the instructor and/or student may elect to consult with the Registrar's Office (undergraduate courses) or Graduate Registrar (graduate courses) to determine appropriate action.
3. If a student is concerned the instructor did not respond to the request for academic accommodation or did not provide reasonable accommodation, the student should consult with the department/school/institute chair/director. If a mutually agreeable accommodation to complete course requirements prior to the course grade submission deadline cannot be achieved, the Associate Dean will become involved. If academic accommodation is not granted, and the student receives word after the academic withdrawal deadline, the student may submit a petition to the Registrar's Office (undergraduate courses)/Graduate Registrar (graduate courses) for a final grade of WDN (Withdrawn) in the course(s). If academic accommodation is not granted, and the student receives word prior to the academic withdrawal deadline, the student may elect to withdraw from the course(s).
4. Furthermore, if academic accommodation is granted, but the student is unable to complete the accommodation according to the terms set out by the instructor as a result of further illness, injury or extraordinary circumstances beyond their control, the student may submit a petition to the Registrar's Office (undergraduate courses)/Graduate Registrar (graduate courses). Please note, however, that the course instructor will be required to submit an earned final grade and further consideration will only be reviewed according to established precedents and deadlines. Deferred Final Exams

Students who are unable to write a final examination because of a serious illness/emergency or other circumstances beyond their control may apply for accommodation. Normally, the accommodation for a missed final examination will be granting the student the opportunity to write a deferred examination. In specific cases when it is not possible to offer a deferred examination, and with the approval of the Dean, an alternate accommodation may be made.

The application for a deferral must:

1. be made in writing to the Registrar's Office no later than three working days after the original final examination or the due date of the take-home examination; and,

2. be fully supported by appropriate documentation and, in cases of illness, by a medical certificate dated no later than one working day after the examination, or by appropriate documents in other cases. Medical documents must specify the date of the onset of the illness, the (expected) date of recovery, and the extent to which the student was/is incapacitated during the time of the examination. The University's preferred medical form can be found at the Registrar's Office here.

Financial vs. Academic Withdrawal

Make sure that you are aware of the separate deadlines for Financial and Academic withdrawal!

Making registration decisions in Carleton Central involves making a financial and academic commitment for the courses you choose, regardless of attendance. If you do not attend, you must withdraw in Carleton Central within the published deadlines to cancel your registration. A fee adjustment is dependent on registration being canceled within the published fee deadlines and dependent on your course load. A course dropped after the deadline for financial withdrawal will receive a grade of Withdrawn (WDN), which appears on your official transcript.

Even if you miss the deadline for financial withdrawal, you might decide to drop a course to avoid a failure or a poor grade showing up on your student record and bringing down your CGPA. It is your responsibility to drop the course via Carleton Central within the published deadlines (see Academic Withdrawal).

If you are considering withdrawing from a course, you may want to talk to an advisor first. Course withdrawal may affect your student status, as well as your eligibility for student funding, immigration status, residence accommodation and participation in varsity sports, etc. Additionally, remember that once you choose your courses, you must use the "Calculate amount to pay" button to determine the correct amount of fees to pay.

Carleton Central is your one-stop shop for registration activities. If you are interested in taking a course, make sure to complete your registration. Simply attending a course does not mean you are registered in it, nor is it grounds for petition or appeal.

Student Mental Health

It is not uncommon for students to experience a range of mental health challenges that significantly impact their academic success and overall well-being. Carleton has begun to address this problem by developing a Mental Health Framework.

In addition, to help ease the stress and aid students' transition to university life, a new compassionate First-Year Grading Policy has come into effect, which will automatically convert all F grades in a student's first two terms to NR ("No Record") and allow students to convert any passing letter grade (up to 2.0 credits) to CR ("Credit"). Courses that receive an NR designation will not be included on a student transcript, and CR courses will not be factored into a student's CGPA.

A number of mental health resources are available to students, and can be found at the Mental Health and Well-Being website.
