If you cannot find the answer to your question here, for questions of an academic nature, please contact Professor Maya Papineau-Koritar, M.A. Supervisor, at maya.papineau@carleton.ca and for questions of an administrative nature, please contact Renee Lortie, Graduate Administrator, at reneelortie@cunet.carleton.ca

Admission Information

The Post-Baccalaureate program is intended for students holding bachelor’s degrees from other disciplines who wish to gain a deeper understanding of advanced topics in economics as well as for students seeking additional preparation in advance for graduate studies in economics.

Admission into the program requires applicants to hold an undergraduate degree from a recognized university with a minimum B+ average, preferably with Honours. It is strongly recommended that applicants have successfully completed university-level introductory (micro- and macro-) economics, calculus, and linear algebra with a grade of B+ or higher in each.

For more information on admission requirements, please refer to the 2024-2025 Undergraduate Calendar Economics Program page found here:

<https://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/undergradprograms/economics/#admissionpbdeconomicstext>

Language Requirement: All applicants holding degrees (with a minimum of three years of study) from countries where English is not the primary language must present English Language Proficiency test results. Recognized tests and minimum requirements are:

- Canadian Academic English Language Assessment (CAEL) with a minimum score of 70 overall, with no less than 60 for each band score.

Please note that language proficiency requirements for the Department of Economics may differ from standards for general admission and other programs at Carleton University.

Post-Bac Program Structure and Requirements

The typical Post-Bac program consists of six core courses and one additional credit. The six core courses of the Post-Bac program are ECON 4001 (Mathematical Analysis in Economics), ECON 4002 (Statistical Analysis in Economics), ECON 4020 (Advanced Microeconomic Theory), ECON 4021 (Advanced Macroeconomic Theory), ECON 4706 (Econometrics I), and ECON 4990 (Research and Writing in Economics).

A candidate for a post-baccalaureate diploma must obtain a grade of C- or higher in each course taken in fulfillment of the program requirements.

Students will then have the option of taking 1.0 credit of 4000-level electives in Economics. ECON 3001 can be counted as an elective subject with prior approval of the M.A Supervisor.

Please Note: Students with undergraduate degrees completed outside Canada, the United States, or the United Kingdom may be required to take ESLA 1906 instead of one elective. As such, students would be required to take the six core courses, one elective (worth 0.5 credits), and ESLA 1906.

Additional Information and Resources

Undergraduate Calendar: For additional program information, university regulations, and important dates please see the Undergraduate Student Calendar – available here: <https://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/>

Local residential and e-mail addresses: Students must inform the Graduate Administrator of their local residential address and telephone number and are responsible for updating this information on Carleton Central.

New students will need to activate their MyCarletonOne account through Carleton Central to get their new Carleton email. Once you have followed the steps provided, you will be granted your new Carleton email account. Instructions for use can be found at carleton.ca/ccs/all-services/email/carleton-student-email

It is your responsibility to activate this account as soon as you are registered, and you must use this account for all communication with the M.A. Supervisor and the Graduate Administrator.

The only exception to this rule is if you have a verifiable, institutional email account—e.g., one provided by the federal government, an international organization, a large private sector firm, etc. In such a case, you must inform the Graduate Administrator of this alternative e-mail and ensure that you set up an auto-forward from your Carleton email account to that other account.

International Student Orientation: International students new to Carleton University are encouraged to attend an orientation session hosted by Carleton's International Student Services Office (ISSO).

More information on this event and international student orientation is available here:
