Office hours: Thursdays, 8:30-10:00 a.m., Loeb D-898.
Website: Accessible through Brightspace at <https://brightspace.carleton.ca/>
T.A office hours: TBA.

Course Objectives:

This course provides an introduction to some of the key economic issues related to taxation. Topics include taxation and the income distribution, equity and efficiency, incidence, income taxes, corporate taxes, consumption and wealth taxes.

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 or ECON 1000 or FYSM 1003. Students who believe they have taken a similar background course or courses from another university must provide appropriate documentation to the Department of Economics Undergraduate Administrator. Credit will not be given if taken concurrently with or after ECON 4401 (no longer offered) or ECON 4404.

Required Textbook:

The course will follow Public Finance in Canada Harvey S. Rosen, Jean-Francois Wen, Tracy Snoddon. McGraw-Hill Ryerson Ltd., 6th Canadian Edition, available at the bookstore. We will use the learning and assignment tools provided by the publisher through the Connect platform. Specifically, I will assign study modules and assignment/quizzes at the end of each chapter through Connect. To use Connect, class members must have an account, which is acquired through purchase of the e-Book or the access code provided with the print + digital package purchased through the university bookstore. Used versions of the textbook, or avoiding purchase of the textbook, will not provide class members with this content. Exams and all other course materials will be provided on the web-page at <https://www.carleton.ca/culearn>.

Topics:

The following table outlines the list of major topics to be discussed throughout the semester along with the accompanying section in the text. The amount of time devoted to each will vary and materials beyond the text (e.g., slides) will be supplied on the course web-page or the Connect platform that accompanies the text.

Introductory material	Chapters 1,2,3
Taxation and the Income Distribution	Chapter 14
Taxation and Efficiency	Chapter 15
Efficiency and Equity	Chapter 16
Tax Evasion	Slides
Income Taxation	Chapter 17
Taxation and Behaviour	Chapter 18
Consumption Taxes	Chapter 19
Wealth Taxes	Chapter 20
Corporate Taxes	Chapter 21
Special topics (time permitting)	Slides

Grading:

Marks are awarded for participation, a midterm, and a final exam. All exams are in person and the final exam is cumulative. Weights are as follows:

Participation	10 %
Midterm (October 17 th)	35 %
Final	55 %

Participation grades are given to students when they complete the study modules and assignment/quizzes on the Connect platform. All have equal weight and students that complete all exercises receive the full 10%. In addition to the material provided on Connect, students are encouraged to work through as many textbook problems as possible, as these are a good way to learn the course material.

There will be no make-up midterm exam. Students who can document a compelling reason for missing a midterm examination will be excused. In this case students must fill out a self-declaration form and send it to the instructor via email, in advance if possible. The weight of a midterm examination missed for valid reasons will be placed on the final exam. A tentative date for the midterm exam is posted above and the final examination will be scheduled by the University. Should the final exam be missed for any reason, a grade of 0 will be assigned and the student must arrange for the possibility of a deferred examination through the Registrar's Office within 3 working days of the exam. If granted by the Registrar's Office, this exam will take place during the time designated in the Calendar. Special final exams will not be given.

See Academic Regulation 3.2 for the official meanings of final grades, and note that regulations stipulate that no course grades are final until approved by the Faculty Dean. Further, course grades may be scaled upwards or downwards in a rank-preserving manner to better fit the relevant departmental distributional norm.

Plagiarism:

The University Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, artworks, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else, including the unauthorized use of generative AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT);
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement;
- submitting a computer program developed in whole or in part by someone else, with or without modifications, as one’s own; and
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Plagiarism is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly by the course’s instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of “F” for the course.

Accommodation Statements:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website.

Religious obligation: Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: If you have a documented disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact the Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation or contact your PMC coordinator to send your instructor your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term. You must also contact the PMC no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with your instructor as soon as possible to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. For more details, visit the Paul Menton Centre website.

Survivors of Sexual Violence: As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support.

Accommodation for Student Activities: Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist.
