Course description and readings
The behaviour of financial intermediaries and institutions. The emphasis will be on international aspects. Topics will be discussed in detail in the first class. There is one required textbook. Additional required materials will be assigned during the term by being placed in the Dropbox folder and will be considered an addendum to this outline.

The book is on order at the university bookshop; or you may purchase it electronically at your favourite (e-)bookseller.

Evaluation
The course evaluation consists of two components: a research paper, due in the last class, worth 50% of the course grade; and a midterm take-home examination, worth the remaining 50% of the course grade. The take-home exam will be announced in class on February 15 and will be due in class on February 29. Details on evaluation will be discussed in the first and subsequent classes and will be considered an addendum to this outline.
