

Carleton University
Department of English
Summer 2019

ENGL2903A: Fiction Workshop

Schedule: Tuesday 6 pm to 9 pm

Location: TBA

Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor

Instructor: Richard Taylor
E-mail: taylorswave@gmail.com

APPLYING TO THE COURSE:

Like all the writing workshops in the English Department, students are admitted to the Fiction Workshop by permission of the instructor and the submission of a portfolio.

If you are thinking about taking the Summer Fiction Workshop, please email me beforehand for a chat at taylorswave@gmail.com.

Before the term begins you must submit a 5 - 10 page double-spaced portfolio. It must include a brief biographical sketch about who you are and why you want to take the workshop. You can include any of the following examples from your writing: stories, postcard stories, parts of novels, or creative nonfiction like blogs, magazine pieces, personal essays, memoir or travel writing, poetry. You can submit excerpts from longer pieces of work but describe how the excerpt relates to the longer piece.

Portfolios should be emailed to the English Dept. at english@carleton.ca Please include a cover page with your name, Carleton student number, Carleton email address and telephone number. Students are advised to register in an alternate course while awaiting a decision on your writing portfolio submission.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The Fiction Workshop offers instruction in creative writing with an emphasis on short stories, post card stories and novels, although creative nonfiction will be briefly discussed. Each participant must be prepared to submit committed work and to further the group's on-going dialogue on the pieces submitted. Early workshops will consist of fun, stimulating writing exercises. Participants are expected to use these prompts for warm up purposes and to hone their skills and to explore new territory. Time will be devoted to learning how to balance inspiration and discipline, finding a personal voice, choosing a subject and developing a sense of structure. There will be group critiques of works-in-progress.

PLEASE TAKE NOTE:

The Fiction Workshop will not be directed toward any particular genre or style. We should be trying to understand something of the complexity and mystery of storytelling and writing, wherever it occurs. I am looking for enthusiastic, committed people in the thrall of books and writing who are interested in developing and honing what talent already exists. Everyone will write and submit work to the group for critiquing by all participants. All kinds of original, imaginative writing are welcome, and freedom of expression for all points of view is zealously maintained. Every week several writers will submit a manuscript (story, chapter) to be workshopped and critiqued for the next class. These manuscripts will be taken home. Each writer will read each manuscript with a pencil or pen in hand and write comments about what makes it work and what might make it work better. I'll give you guidelines – Things to Consider When Critiquing a Piece of Writing. There is no text required for this workshop, but you will be required to read many handouts and examples of published material and read and edit the work of fellow writers. It is the responsibility of each student to pay for and reproduce sufficient copies of your work for each of your classmates and to hand them out the week preceding the workshop. Each manuscript must be typed, double spaced and double sided in legible typeface.

You must be willing to come to every class, and to deal with forthright analysis of your work in a select but public forum. Your text (manuscript) at first will have to speak for you; the discussion, in one form or another will go around the table of workshoppers; you will listen; I will listen; then perhaps sum up and sometimes interject, or occasionally take the discussion in a new direction. The sessions will be lively, resembling at various times an encounter group session or debating society. There will also be quiet moments of communication, humour, revelation and probably as much person to person with the instructor and others in the group as you would wish.

EVALUATION:

There will be three specific writing assignments: A short postcard story, 500 words or less. A short story, 2,000 words or less. A group mini novel assignment, 2,000 words or less. In teams of 3 writers each group member will write a short chapter of a group mini novel. Before the end of term each writer will also submit a revised and edited version of their post card story and short story and for each of these a half to full page commentary about your revision process.

There will be no mark for individual pieces. Because this is a creative writing workshop, there will be opportunities for spontaneity and improvisation, but you must be willing to read, write, edit and fully participate. Your final course grade will be based on the following factors:

- 1) (60%) Quality and originality of your writing.
- 2) (30%) Quality of your oral and written editorial comments on the work of others, and your discussion contribution. The energy, depth and enthusiasm with which you contribute to the collective process.
- 3) (10%) ATTENDANCE!

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.

Plagiarism is a form of intellectual theft. It is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include failure of the assignment, failure of the entire course, or suspension from a program. Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

If you have a documented disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact the Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation or contact your PMC coordinator to send your instructor your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term. You must also contact the PMC no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with your instructor as soon as possible to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. carleton.ca/pmc

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and its survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist.

Instructor:

Richard Taylor has been at Carleton since 1995 when he was Carleton Writer-In-Residence. He has lectured in 20th Century Literature and since the mid 90s he's taught the Fiction Workshop, and more recently also the Creative Nonfiction Workshop. He has taught writing in Hong Kong, Australia, Tuscany and over 150 workshops in Ottawa. For the last 14 years he has offered a summer writer's retreat, Write by the Lake in Val des Monts Quebec near a waterfall at his beautiful lake house Monet Bay. He has published a collection of short stories, Tender Only to One and a novel, Cartoon Woods, an Australian travel memoir, House Inside the Waves: Domesticity, Art and the Surfing Life, and many feature magazine articles. Hundreds of his writers have published work as a result of taking his workshops. While surfing and open water swimming around the world, he is working on a book about swimming with writers, Water and Desire.
