Course Description:

This is just the third offering of this seminar course which is a Canadian first in its own right. Throughout the Term, participants examine what has become a Canadian phenomenon known as "the Giller Effect" and explore its impacts on Canadian writers, culture, and the economy both nationally and internationally.

The Fall of 2016 marks the twenty-third presentation of the prize founded in 1994 by Jack Rabinovitch in memory of his wife, the journalist, Doris Giller (1931-1993). The core and founding principle for the Prize is "...to present the finest Canadian fiction to a broad and diverse audience. ...". The initial top purse was $25,000 and five finalists each collected $5,000.00. In 2016 the winner now collects $100,000.00 and seemingly gains a global reputation of various proportions as do the other four finalists who each receive a $10,000 award.

The primary focus for this seminar is to examine the prose which has been nominated by the respective publisher*and through a jury process has won Canada's most lucrative annual literary prose award. As described on the Scotiabank Giller Prize web site, it was "...in 2005 that the Giller Prize teamed up with Scotiabank to create the Scotiabank Giller Prize. It is the first ever co-sponsorship for Canada's richest literary award for fiction. The purse increased from $25,000 to $50,000 and grew again in 2008 to $70,000. ..."

(*Note current web site details ~ <http://www.scotiabank.com/gillerprize>)

The winners, finalists, and jury members continue to include many award winning writers, in particular, Nobel Laureate, Alice Munro. The prize which is announced on nation wide prime time television and media circuits has been credited with launching and furthering the careers of writers like Joseph Boyden, Vincent Lam, Lynn Coady and includes the novels and short stories of others like Michael Ondaatje, Esi Edugyan, Margaret Atwood, the late Austin Clarke, and Andre Alexis to name a few.

Each Fall, the literary and public communities await the jury's announcement of that year's list of 'Giller nominees' which is followed by a short list of five finalists. The award's winner is announced at a nationally broadcasted in Toronto gala which is broadcasted in November. (Note the web site's schedule of events).

 Thus, it is in this dynamic context that this seminar examines not only this phenomenon which is known as “the Giller effect” but also what that term might mean and include. Furthermore, what might be significant influences and trends if any since 1994 which may have affected the Prize’s win. Can one speculate about such patterns say to 2020? Does a Giller nomination affect Canadian writers, publishers and culture - locally? ... nationally? ...internationally? Students who select to follow this course must be prepared to attend and contribute to each weekly session. They must complete the core reading and writing tasks. These details will be clarified during our first session. Please be aware of the following dates for the upcoming 2016 Giller Prize:

September 7th, 2016 – the announcement of the long list of nominees;
 September 26, 2016 – the announcement of the short list of finalists;
 ___ Oct. __, 2016 – Finalists’ Reading – _____ TBA
 ___ Oct. __, 2016 – Finalists’ Reading – _____ TBA
 Mon. Nov. 9, 2016 – Gala in Toronto to celebrate the finalists winner. (CBC).
 #GillerWinner Twitter chat ~~ Thursday, Nov. 10, 2016.

As announced on January 19, 2016, the 2016 Jury has five members for the second time: Samantha Harvey, Jeet Heer, Lawrence Hill, Alan Warner, and Kathleen Winter.

Please note this seminar’s ‘broad strokes’ agenda given the evolving presence of local artists and events especially the FALL ’16 Schedule for the Ottawa Writer’s Festival (WF). As a Carleton or University of Ottawa student, most events are free with registration.

Dr. Hoey acknowledges with gratitude the support of Ms. Elana Rabinovitch, the Executive Director of the Giller Foundation and Dr. D. Staines, University of Ottawa for this seminar.

Please support our small bookstores like Octopus Books, Perfect Books and Books on Beechwood. These gems enable students and writers.

Accommodations:For Students with Disabilities:

Students who require academic accommodation(s) in this course are directed to contact the Paul Menton Centre (ext. 6608). The student must meet with a coordinator to complete a letter of accommodation and then discuss the situation(s) with the professor at least two weeks prior to any evaluation situation such as a test, a deadline for submitting an assignment, or an examination. Please note the deadlines of Nov. 11, 2016. (pmc@carleton.ca)

For Religious Observance:

Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of Religious observance should make a formal, written request to their Instructor for alternate dates and/or means for satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks class or as soon as possible after the need for the accommodation is known to exist BUT no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodation(s) in a way that avoids academic disadvantages for the student. Any questions and confirmations about a religious event or practice can be checked on the Equity Services web site or by contacting the Equity Services Office. (<http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>).

For Pregnancy:

Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss her needs with the instructor(s) at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated that the accommodation will be required. (<http://www2.carleton.ca/equity/>).

Plagiarism: (Please see Carleton's Academic Integrity Policy which can be found at http://www1.carleton.ca/studentsaffairs/ccms/wp-content/ccms-files/academic integrity policy.pdf

"Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own." Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. ..."
