WHAT WE’LL DO: We will discover the unique identities of Russian literature and cinema, and how the cultures of each historical / political context have affected Russian literary landscape. The course is designed as a general introduction to the study of Russian culture and literature through a range of interdisciplinary contexts, perspectives and approaches. Through our readings, screening of movies, lectures and classroom discussions, the seminar will focus on situating individual works in a cultural and social context, from Goncharov and Dostoevsky to the contemporary authors.

HOW: Blended course: a combination of live and self-paced modalities:

ASYNCHRONOUS (self-paced) activities that you can complete on your own schedule while respecting due dates. It will be facilitated by e-mail, check-ins, chats, forums - cuLearn)

SYNCHRONOUS (live) expecting all participants to meet virtually at the same time. Live Sessions are recorded.
A. COURSE DESCRIPTION

The past decades have brought enormous changes to Russia and the other Slavic countries. Designed with those changes in mind, the Literature and Culture in Russia and Eurasia course puts emphasis on the study of Russian culture, especially its literature and cinema.

Through our readings, screening of movies and classroom discussions, the seminar will focus on situating individual works in a cultural and social context with the aim of gaining insights into the significance of cultural traditions. We will also be addressing the role of the artist / intellectual vis à vis social context, and the literary stylization of the individual and collective experience.

With an assumption that literature is a form of cultural knowledge, the course will explore the ways in which literature creates a transitional space where the boundaries of language and subjectivity are continually shaped and reshaped on both an individual and a cultural level.

While this course has no stated prerequisite, it is assumed that the student has a basic understanding or interest of/in modern Russian context. If you like literature and cinema, the names of Turgenyev, Gogol, Dostoyevsky, Bulgakov, Ulitskay, Pelevin, Solzhenitsyn, Sokurov, Mihalkov, Menshov, Zvyagintsev, Lungin will become more than objects of our study.

B. OBJECTIVES & OUTCOMES & FORMAT

OBJECTIVES

One of the main aims of this seminar is to give you the possibility of investigating complex topics from an interdisciplinary perspective. In order to have a glimpse into the historical and socio-anthropological background of the differences regarding cultural issues in the region, we would read and discuss different critical texts as well. They will help in clarifying the origins/causes of certain mentalities (for example, discriminative mentality), mythologies of ethno-genesis, origins of cultural beliefs, focusing on the dualistic character of the popular norms and values, their imprints in the art, gender roles within community, constructed images and stereotypes concerning different regions and the process of racialization and reappropriation of certain areas (ethnic, cultural, class, etc.), the impact of the unification/division and other aspirations.

Emphasis will be on illuminating concepts and ideas of reality and its representation, liberty and its conditions, social divisions and their implications on an individual, boundaries and their forms, nationhood and belonging, myth-making/invention and cultural tradition, and self-exploration and imagination.

In the process of our study, we will explore diversity of European cultures reflected in the novels, plays, movies and editorials. The course will proceed simultaneously along two lines of inquiry:

➢ The first concerns the works of literature and cinema directly: what, if anything, do these authors have to tell us about cultures (including that most puzzling of themes – cultural commonalities/diversities) and individuals (regarding their hopes, desires, concerns and struggles)?

➢ The second line will require us to reflect on editorials written by prominent European authors that help us understand the roots of intellectual exchange and nowadays intertwined cultures.
We will treat these sources as alternative cultural documents that open a window on the society, trends, and events and engage us with concerns of their time and of globalized modernity.

INTENDED OUTCOMES

- closer understanding of Russia and neighboring societies, the cross-fertilization of cultures and literatures;
- appreciation for the diversity of the cultures;
- ability to critically analyze material, synthesize and interpret material, media, diverse disciplinary perspectives, present and debate arguments
- ability to work independently and collaboratively in drafting, writing and oral skills;
- opportunity to analyze connections between specific texts and broader cultural contexts.

FORMAT: LEARNING/TEACHING METHODS

The general, methodological approach of the course will be a discourse analysis. To make most of it and create the opportunity for variety of expressions, we will employ elements of the flipped-classroom model:

There will be one up to three-hour seminar per week consisting typically of an introductory contextualization of major themes, followed by discussions, questions, and consolidation of the themes and perspectives.

Due to its format, the seminar offers students substantial opportunity for expression and intellectual challenges. The quality of the seminar depends on doing our readings and being prepared for each class. Participation in discussions is essential to the life of the seminar and standing in the course.

NOTE: The course assumes no prior knowledge of literatures, languages and cinema of Europe. All books are in English language and movies with English subtitle.
C. COURSE TOPICS & RESOURCES

TOPICS: The course is organized into four broad units as thematic frames for our discussion on several topics, including but not limited to issues of class & gender, social norms, belonging, a role of an individual, memory, as well as phenomena and paradoxes of changes and reforms:

➢ A concept of the superfluous man (лишний человек);
➢ Myth of the “Russian/Slavic soul”;
➢ Memory and nostalgia;
➢ Utopian & Dystopian.

To be able to discuss these topics, an essential part of this course is close examination of the sources, both primary and secondary. Since we will also be exposed to a various set of materials, we will, thus, be able to see the ways different disciplines interact – creating a network of complex perspectives on European culture.

There will be plenty of information covered in this course. However, the course is structured to accommodate diverse academic backgrounds and be low stress, providing everyone makes a good faith effort (and attends). I believe that all of us will work together to establish optimal conditions for honorable academic work and exchange of ideas.

Paying attention to the schedule (see the course schedule) and to the primary sources accompanied by the secondary sources (material posted on our cuLearn page) will heighten your performance and enrich your experience during our sessions.

I expect our journey through readings, movie screenings, and lively discussions will be an enjoyable discovery if you do assigned reading in advance.

RESOURCES
To provide a sense of the larger political/social/historical context of the cultures in question, we will explore heterogeneous materials: works of literature (fiction), journalist and scholarly writing, as well as other texts. The course also integrates a scholarly conference on post-socialist cultures and screening of films. Thus, readings of literary works will be supplemented with other documents to provide a sense of the larger cultural-political-social-historical context in which they were written.

The resources are a combination of the primary and secondary materials. Everyone is responsible for the required and supplementary readings for each week. All texts are in English translation and movies with English subtitle. You are welcome to read texts in the original language.

PRIMARY SOURCES: A combination of main readings and movies.

All books listed as the main readings should be available at the Campus Bookstore (as a paper edition) or Kindle Edition on Amazon.ca and electronic edition on the Library Reserves. The reading to be done by the scheduled session.
Available on-line (Library or our cuLearn page): to be watched on your own time but before the scheduled session. Synopsis, including trigger warnings and movie ratings, for each movie is posted on the cuLearn course page.

While this course has no stated prerequisite, it is assumed that the students like literature and cinema, as well as reading, sharing ideas and views with others.

E. COURSE STRUCTURE & REQUIREMENTS & EVALUATION

This seminar course meets once a week for a three-hour session. Students are expected to attend all classes and do assigned readings. Attendance is mandatory and participation, based on active and effective involvement in discussions, will form an important part of the final grade. Each student is responsible for the main reading, as noted in the Course Calendar. A student or a group is responsible for selected supplementary readings (as indicated in the Course Calendar). Sessions are designed to follow an interactive format and require active student involvement (such as group work, debates, discussions, questions).

Participation in discussion is essential to the life of the class and intensity of students' remarks will have a marked influence on grades. Much of the grade will also depend upon the quality of the presentation and the written assignment required by the course: an essay (running from ten to twelve pages). The presentation will deal with major aspects of the readings and the paper will deal with common aspects of the primary sources and discussions. Topics may be suggested by the students, but the elaborate topics for the written assignment will be provided in advance.

SUBMISSION, RETURN & GRADING OF TERM WORK

“Written assignments must be submitted directly to the instructor(s) according to the instructions in the course outline. If permitted in the course outline, late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside room 3305 River Building. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day’s date, and then distributed to the instructors. For written assignments not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.”

GRADING* - 12 POINTS

1. Effective Participation: attendance & active involvement

   b) active involvement 3.0
2. Presentation 3.0

* Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

“Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.”
Thus, there are three requirements:

1. Effective Participation: Attendance and active involvement in class discussion are expected from all participants in the course.

   To have worthwhile class discussion and foster dialogue, it is essential that students attend the class having read/watched the assigned material closely, being prepared to contribute by articulating and expressing your views, listening classmates and engaging in conversation respectfully. No one is expected to provide a brilliant insight at every moment but coming prepared to voice your perspectives and interpretations is assumed. All your ideas, opinions, comments and questions matter!

   Everyone should do the main readings/watch the movie and everyone is expected to contribute. Preparation means keeping up with the reading, articulating questions and issues to explore. Students are encouraged to be creative and personal in expressing their insights and reactions, as well as responding to specific issues and texts of the seminar. For each book/movie in our Primary list, students need to choose an issue, theme, character, paragraph(s) that appeal to them and communicate that during the class or after our session (Forums-Discussion); Or there is a comment or a question that you would like to share with the rest of the class (before or after the session). You are highly encouraged to participate through either of mentioned means in order to have your participation points granted accordingly.

   In the case you are not able to attend the weekly session for some good reason, please, inform me in advance (in person or via e-mail). The 1% will be taken off (of the Attendance total 10%) for each incident.

   Even though our sessions will be recorded and the recordings will be accessible until the end of the course, I strongly encourage you to make an effort to attend and participate during the scheduled sessions. The quality of your contributions is as important as their quantity.

2. Presentation: Everybody is expected to do an oral presentation.

   ➢ PRESENTING:

   A presentation should be on an article or a topic related to the supplementary readings (articles). We should have a couple of students per class for the presentation of the topics related to the readings. You are encouraged to work as a group (two to three people) in preparing a seminar presentation.

   Everyone involved needs to actively participate in the class presentation (either by outlining the issues, presenting the key points, asking questions, commenting on arguments and discussion) to have an individual contribution to the group work appropriately evaluated. It is up to the group to organize the division of the tasks. The presentation should have a form of discussion or debate that would involve a team engaged/class in an argument on an issue raised in the readings or assigned by the instructor.

   What is expected?

   a) to present key points/ ideas/ arguments/ propositions and information comprehensively and in an organized manner;
b) to connect the article to our main texts (novel, play, movie) either the one(s) already discussed or the one(s) assigned as the Main resource for the day of presentation;

c) to participate in constructive communication by listening critically and attentively in order to make connections, interpret, infer, confirm, summarize, question;

d) to lead the discussion by briefly highlighting key themes and issues to explore; Since the heart of this course is a discussion, the presenter is responsible for leading discussion/conversation.

How long?

Presenting the contextual material should take no more than 15 minutes and you will have the opportunity to have questions and lead the discussion for 5 - 10 minutes (s either the whole class or through break-up rooms), after which, if and when discretion dictates, I may take over.

Since the heart of this course is discussion, the presenter is responsible for leading discussion/conversation. A schedule is shared with you (Google shared doc – link provided in the General section) and you are supposed to sign up for presentation.

Each of you is welcome to use space within the cuLearn Forum where you can submit any materials or links you would like us to consider before class. Each of us is responsible for checking the Forum, but you must add any new material in a timely manner - at least 24 hours before your presentation. If you wish, post any materials you like or are pertinent to your presentation. Please, include a list of sources in your outline/presentation as well.

Timely feedback will be provided to each student and communicated through e-mail the same day after the class.

➢ PARTICIPATORY FEEDBACK

For the presenters and the rest of you (not presenting at the time), there is a Presentation Peer Assessment form (please, check the CULearn page) that should be completed and sent to me after class (email with attached form). It is considered as your participation.

NOTE: It is recommended that you discuss the presentation outline with me (in advance, ideally a week before presenting).
* Please, provide a 1-page outline, with the key points of the presentation, or the whole presentation to be posted onto our page a day before scheduled.

Presentation schedule will be posted on to our Page as a shared file.

The following resources may help with the mechanics of organizing and giving a presentation:

- Presentations - how to give good presentations (Dennis Angle, Mohawk College) https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AzsPgsHLNT0
- Kaltura Capture - recording tool
Content Sharing & Copyright
- “Student or professor materials created for a course (including presentations, posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments, exams, etc.) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). The content is intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).”

3. Written Assignment: For this course you will be required to write a take-home exam: an analytical reflection essay.

The take-home is related to the issues discussed during the seminar and relevant to the themes covered by the literature and cinema. It will be assigned during our last class on April 12 and posted on the course cuLearn page after the class. The complementary critical texts for both presentations and papers will be suggested when we discuss the main ideas and concepts (during my office hours). You are welcome to have your list of the resources.

PAPERS

Papers are expected to be sent electronically as an attachment (document format) to me by 4:00pm on April 27, 2021.

The essay will be evaluated on the criteria of framing of the topic (a clearly defined argument, consistent formulation of the main ideas, internal organization of the text, correct citation of sources) and technical matters (spelling, grammar, and use of style guide).

The papers, with comments and evaluation, will be returned to you electronically in a timely manner. Paper Style Guidelines: Please, use the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Paper. (check the General section on our cuLearn page, please.)

PLAGIARISM

The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own”. This can include:

➢ reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
➢ submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
➢ using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
➢ using another’s data or research findings;
➢ failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
➢ handing in substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.
All suspicions of plagiarism will be dealt with according the Carleton’s Academic Integrity Policy (http://carleton.ca/studentaffairs/academic-integrity/). The Associate Dean of the Faculty will conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of F for the course.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

SUBMISSION, RETURN, AND GRADING OF TERM WORK

Written assignments must be submitted directly to the instructor(s) according to the instructions in the course outline. If permitted in the course outline, late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside room 3305 Richcraft Hall. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructors. For written assignments not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.

Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by an instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

CARLETON E-MAIL ACCOUNTS: All email communication to students from the Institute of European, Russian and Eurasian Studies will be via official Carleton university e-mail accounts and/or cuLearn. As important course and university information is distributed this way, it is the student’s responsibility to monitor their Carleton and cuLearn accounts.

OFFICIAL COURSE OUTLINE: The course outline posted to EURUS website is the official course outline.
Appendix B: NETIQUETTE

We all are already aware of the ground rules in a traditional, face-to-face classroom environment, but there is an additional code of conduct students should be aware of when interacting with others in an online environment: “netiquette.” Netiquette is the practical code of behaviour for working virtually on the Internet. The following are some general netiquette guidelines to keep in mind in addition to the normal rules of behaviour for a classroom setting.

- Adhere to the same standards of behaviour online that you follow in real life and in a real classroom.
- Know where you are in cyberspace, and understand that many people will view what you type.
- Respect other people’s time and bandwidth – so contribute valuable comments rather than “noise.”
- Express yourself clearly online and respect the views of others.
- Share expert knowledge rather than “keeping it to yourself.” And share this knowledge with respect rather than using it to put others down.
- Don’t start “flame wars” (emotionally-charged opinions) and work to douse flaming whenever you see it.
- Respect other people’s privacy by not sharing or spreading inappropriate information. If someone posts information that you think may have been posted accidentally, let them know about it privately.
- Don’t worry too much about typing errors and spelling, as long as you can be understood. But be sure to spend time reviewing your messages before posting to be sure that they are written clearly.
- Be forgiving of other people’s mistakes, and cheerfully acknowledge your own mistakes if you make them. Don’t correct insignificant problems in front of the entire class.
- Use proper and respectful language and refrain from any off-colour jokes, insults, or threats.
- Challenge ideas rather than the students who offer the ideas. When you challenge an idea, do so respectfully and with the goal of increasing everyone’s knowledge.
- Remember that your colleagues can’t see you wink or smile when you type. You may want to use emoticons to indicate your feelings, such as the ubiquitous smiley face :) or frowning face :( Only use those emoticons that will be understood by others, or explain its meaning when you first use it.
