Course Description

From the clash of empires to two world wars, from the dominance of Soviet ideology to the rise of ethnic nationalism, 20th century Central and Eastern Europe has witnessed unrelenting drama, change and conflict. This course considers the degree and extent to which nation-building processes and ethnic conflicts have developed and unfolded within Eastern and Central Europe as well as the broader post-Soviet space. Specific attention will be given to transition processes emerging from authoritarian societies to democracy and their influence on the relationship between ethnicity, nationalism and the conflict from the collapse of Soviet bloc to today.

The course is divided into four sections. The first section, drawing on the relevant theoretical and historical literature, reviews central issues in conflict analysis as well as explanations of ethnic identity and state nationalism within the region. The second section “Central Europe: rebuilding nations after 1991” is focused on cases with specific attention given to nation building and ethnic conflicts in Balkans. The third section applies the approaches and concepts of the first section to ongoing and potential conflict in Former Soviet Union (FSU) countries and to regional conflict trends. The last part “New regional projects and globalism: sources of conflict” addresses emerging issues and actors such as migration, regional powers and international organizations.

Students from all subfields and methodological backgrounds are encouraged to take the course regardless of their previous level of acquaintance with ethnic politics or nationalism. The class will be run as a seminar with students expected to participate in the discussion on a regular basis. Readings consist of both required and optional readings that students may wish to consult.

Course Objectives

The objectives of this course are threefold.

1) To give students an overview of the field of nationalism and ethnic conflicts with a particular focus on theoretical and methodological innovations in this field;
2) To assist students in producing original research on questions in this field and;

3) To develop the capacity of students to comment critically and constructively on ongoing research.

Students Responsibilities Students are expected to attend all class meetings on time, participate in class discussion and present on readings on a regular basis.

By the end of course students should be able to do the following:

- Analyse and discuss the major problem of nationalism and ethnic conflicts in a target region.
- Critically compare ways that multi-ethnic states have achieved democratization.
- Be able to present brief summary in a form of blog on ongoing issues in the region.
- Prepare a research paper on the topic of Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict in Eastern and Central Europe to be decided on in consultation with the instructor.
- All students will participate in a group presentation: 2-3 students will develop a discussion agenda for a specified class session, focusing on a case study to be agreed upon with the instructor.

Grades will be assigned according to the following:

Class Participation: 20% Class participation format includes regular attendance as well as participation in discussion of assigned readings and documentaries. Students are expected to come to each class having prepared the assigned readings in advance.

Course Blog contributions: 15% Each student will contribute to the course blog, two (2) pieces on a related topic based on an analysis of Eastern and Central Europe news sources, by submitting to the instructor two texts of approximately 500-600 words each. We will discuss effective blogging techniques during the second and third classes.

The deadlines for blog posting are: May 18, 2017 and May 30, 2017

Group Presentation: 25%

Presentation format: Students will be provided with topics for group presentations. Working in groups of 2-3 students will prepare a written and oral presentation to class on that topic. Topics will focus on one or more of the seminar themes. The presentation will consist of a written summary of 2 pages to be submitted the day of the presentation and an in-class oral summary using PowerPoint of approximately 20 minutes in length with discussion to follow. Students will select a working group topic and a date for their presentation by class May 04, 2017. Presentations will start the week of May 16.

Research Paper: 40%

Research Paper format: Students are required to conduct original research (essay of 15 pages for undergrads and of 20 pages for graduate students, typed, double spaced) using both traditional and web based sources, on the topic of Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict in Eastern and Central Europe. The research paper is due on 12th class (June 13, 2017. 11.59 PM or 23.59).

The paper should have a title page, an argument, a research question, evidence to assess the research question(s) and conclusions that include implications for theory (and policy where warranted). The paper can be a comparative analysis, a detailed case study or an evaluation of a policy. The research paper must use footnotes or endnotes as appropriate whenever referring to an author’s idea, citing empirical facts or drawing on research from publishing sources, a complete bibliography (minimum 10 sources for undergrads and 15 for grads) should be included at the end of the paper. The paper should be organized systematically and quotations from the source should be clearly indicated.

- The final essay must be submitted electronically through CULearn.

- Assignments are due on the dates specified in the course outline or communicated when the assignment is handed out to you. Late assignments will be subject to a penalty of 5% of the 100% assignment grade per 24 hours (not including weekends), starting the day and time the assignments were due. Assignments will not be accepted five business days after the due date.

- It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that the instructor receives all assignments. Students should keep the original copy of their assignments and are advised to keep all notes and drafts of work until after the final grade has been assigned and awarded.

- Exceptions to all these rules and policies will only be made for academic accommodations, as outlined below, or for medical or personal emergencies substantiated by official documentation. If you anticipate a problem with one of the above deadlines or rules please approach the instructor as soon as you can and well in advance of the assignment. This rule applies to all students, including students with PMC accommodations.

Course format:
The course is composed of lectures, seminars and group activity and is divided into four sections. The first few classes will serve as an introduction to the course and to overarching theoretical issues. This will be followed by an assessment of case studies from across the region in the middle two sections. The last section will be used to generate discussion about the post-Soviet region and its future, and to draw conclusions from theoretical perspectives and case studies.

The course is intended to generate discussion among students with the instructor acting as facilitator. We will review recent video documentaries and do group presentations. The discussion is intended to focus on specific subjects as outlined in the syllabus. It is essential students do the assigned readings. Further readings based on the students' own initiative are encouraged and welcome. Further readings are optional. Suggestions for additional literature on the topics are likewise welcome. Students are encouraged to follow developments on relevant subject matter by reviewing various scholarly journals. The language of instruction is English. Required and suggested literature is in English, but students are encouraged to read literature in other languages too.

Required Class Reading materials for the class is a combination of book chapters, journal articles and analytical studies. Course readings will be provided to students through ARES. Please consult the attached course schedule. Some minor changes in reading materials might appeared, in this case all the students will receive information about change well prior the scheduled class.

Academic Accommodations:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send the instructor your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). Requests made within two weeks will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with the instructor to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website (www.carleton.ca/pmc) for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Religious Observance: Students requesting accommodation for religious observances should apply in writing to their instructor for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Instructors and students may contact an Equity Services Advisor for assistance (www.carleton.ca/equity).

Pregnancy: Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. Then, make an appointment to discuss your needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Plagiarism:

The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own”. This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.
All suspicions of plagiarism will be dealt with according the Carleton’s Academic Integrity Policy (http://carleton.ca/studentaffairs/academic-integrity/). The Associate Dean of the Faculty will conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of F for the course.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

Submission, Return and Grading of Term Work:

Written assignments must be submitted directly to the instructor(s) according to the instructions in the course outline. If permitted in the course outline, late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside room 3305 River Building. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructors. For written assignments not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.

Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:
