

CU in the City

Sun, Sand, and Sex: A Conversation about Sex Tourism

Speakers:

Dr Megan Rivers-Moore
Assistant Professor
Pauline Jewett Institute of Women's & Gender Studies

Marie-Eve Carrier-Moisán
Associate Professor
Department of Sociology
& Anthropology

CU IN THE CITY LECTURE SERIES

Tuesday, March 20, 2018

6:30 pm

Venus Envy, 226 Bank Street

Light refreshments will be served

RSVP to events.carleton.ca/cu-in-the-city-sun-sand-and-sex-a-conversation-about-sex-tourism/

What is “sex tourism”? Why do tourists and locals participate? What’s in it for them? What’s love got to do with it? And sex? What about money? And race? In this joint conversation, Megan Rivers-Moore and Marie-Eve Carrier-Moisán will share stories from their research on sex tourism in Costa Rica and Brazil.

They will explore some commonly held ideas about the buying and selling of sex while on vacation, and show that sex tourism is more complicated than what most people think and works out differently in different contexts and locations. By sharing stories and experiences from Brazil and Costa Rica, they hope to shed light on the complex issue of sex tourism.

Carleton UNIVERSITY

FACULTY OF Arts and Social Sciences

carleton.ca