COURSE DESCRIPTION

Policy-making is intricately connected to structures of global capitalism, domestic and international political systems, and relations of power and inequality. Throughout this course, we will critically explore how the development, implementation and effectiveness of environmental policies (both in Canada and around the world) are shaped and controlled by elite interests and institutions. We will look at how environmental policy-making is linked to a variety of actors and processes, including: transnational corporations, states and governments, international regulatory bodies and trade agreements, the mass media, the advertising and public relations industries, and scientists and researchers. We will also analyze policy proposals on a range of environmental issues and problems, such as climate change, resource extraction and industrial agriculture, and discuss our own role as citizens and consumers in influencing the policy-making process.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This course will encourage students to think critically about the social, economic and political conditions that underlie environmental policies and problems. How are current ecological challenges – and the policy responses to them – connected to our social and intellectual history? What types of policies – from market reforms to broader institutional transformations – have been put forward? What are the links between the policy-making process, struggles over power and resources, and growing economic inequality? At a more general level, this course will challenge students to identify their beliefs and assumptions about the social and the political world, and to identify opportunities for engagement with these issues beyond the boundaries of the classroom.

READING MATERIALS

- Students are not required to purchase books or a course pack for this course.
- All assigned readings will be available through Brightspace.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND EVALUATION

1. CLASS PARTICIPATION, PRESENTATIONS AND ATTENDANCE 25%

This is a reading intensive course. Students are strongly encouraged to keep up with the assigned readings and come to class prepared to discuss them. This is also a student-driven course, meaning that students are expected to be active participants. The grade for this requirement will be distributed over three kinds of participation throughout the term: class participation, attendance and a presentation.

Presentation: Seminar participants will be expected to present on the readings and facilitate seminar discussions once during the term. The presentations will be done in groups. The purpose of the presentation is to briefly review and analyze the main arguments and themes presented in the readings, and then stimulate class discussion. Oral presentations should be approximately 15 minutes.

Please note: The in-class presentations are scheduled to begin the fourth week of the term, in keeping with the current plan to return to in-person classes after January 31st. For weeks two and three of the class, students can earn attendance/participation grades by submitting a short, one-page reflection paper of their key takeaways from the lectures and readings. Additional details on this requirement will be provided during the first lecture.

Should classes remain online beyond January 31st, presentations would be done online. Additional details will follow once plans are confirmed.

2. SHORT ASSIGNMENT, DUE FEBRUARY 14TH 20%

This paper will give students the opportunity to analyze the state of knowledge around a particular environmental problem and set of environmental policies proposed to respond to that problem. The paper should be approximately 6-7 double-spaced pages. Late papers will be penalized 5 percent per day. Additional details to follow in class.

3. CRITICAL REACTION PAPER, DUE ON THE SELECTED WEEK 20%

The critical reaction paper will involve writing a critically reflective paper of approximately 6-7 double-spaced pages on all of the readings from one of the weeks during the term. The paper should briefly summarize some of the main arguments of the readings and then analyze the arguments within them. The point of the paper is to allow for a more sustained engagement with a topic that especially interests you. No other sources are expected to be used in the writing of this paper. Papers are due on the selected week. Please note that for the critical reaction paper, students are required to choose one of the weeks when they are not presenting on the readings.

4. FINAL PAPER, DUE APRIL 11TH 35%

Students will select their own paper topic, understanding that it must be relevant to the issues addressed in the course. While the paper can engage with some of the weekly readings, it must also reference additional academic sources. Papers will be graded on the quality of your research and writing, strength of your arguments and analysis, and your ability to situate your arguments within existing debates. Students are encouraged to discuss paper ideas with me at any point during the term. The final paper should be approximately 12-15 double-spaced pages. Late papers will be penalized 5 percent per day. Additional details to follow in class.

COVID-19 PREVENTION MEASURES

All members of the Carleton community are required to follow COVID-19 prevention measures and all mandatory public health requirements (e.g., wearing a mask, physical distancing, hand hygiene, respiratory and cough etiquette) and mandatory self-screening prior to coming to campus daily.

If you feel ill or exhibit COVID-19 symptoms while on campus or in class, please leave campus immediately, self-isolate, and complete the mandatory symptom reporting tool. For purposes of contact tracing, attendance will be taken in all classes and labs. Participants can check in using posted QR codes through the cuScreen platform where provided. Students who do not have a smartphone will be required to complete a paper process as indicated on the COVID-19 website.

All members of the Carleton community are required to follow guidelines regarding safe movement and seating on campus (e.g., directional arrows, designated entrances and exits, designated seats that maintain physical distancing). In order to avoid congestion, allow all previous occupants to fully vacate a classroom before entering. No food or drinks are permitted in any classrooms or labs.

For the most recent information about Carleton's COVID-19 response and required measures, please see the University's COVID-19 webpage and review the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs). Should you have additional questions after reviewing, please contact covidinfo@carleton.ca

Please note that failure to comply with university policies and mandatory public health requirements, and endangering the safety of others are considered misconduct under the Student Rights and Responsibilities Policy. Failure to comply with Carleton's COVID-19 procedures may lead to supplementary action involving Campus Safety and/or Student Affairs.

GRADES

In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar (p. 45), the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

A+ = 90-100	B+ = 77-79	C+ = 67-69	D+ = 57-59
A = 85-89	B = 73-76	C = 63-66	D = 53-56
A - = 80-84	B - = 70-72	C - = 60-62	D - = 50-52
F = Below 50

Please note that standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATIONS

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. Carleton provides academic accommodation to students for reasons of disability, religious observance, pregnancy and/or parental leave, sexual violence, and student activities. In the context of the ongoing pandemic, Carleton also provides accommodations to help students navigate the disruptions caused by COVID-19.

Providing accommodations means providing alternatives to students who cannot perform the essential requirements of their academic programs due to the reasons mentioned above. At no time does academic accommodation undermine or compromise the learning objectives that are established by the academic authorities of the university.

For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For accommodation regarding a formally-scheduled final exam, you must complete the Pregnancy Accommodation Form.

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact the PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: <https://carleton.ca/equity/sexual-assault-support-services>

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation will be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

Academic Accommodation Requests Related to COVID-19

Since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, Carleton has temporarily suspended the need for doctor's notes or medical certificates for academic accommodation requests related to COVID-19. This decision was made in recognition of the fact that alternate course delivery and assessment methods present unique challenges. In place of a doctor's note or medical certificate, students are advised to complete the self-declaration form available on the Registrar's Office website to request academic accommodation for missed course work including exams and assignments. Students are also encouraged to connect directly with their instructor to discuss required accommodations arising from the COVID-19 situation.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND PLAGIARISM

Students should familiarize themselves with Carleton's Academic Integrity Policy:

<https://carleton.ca/secretariat/wp-content/uploads/Academic-Integrity-Policy-2021.pdf>

The Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as "presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own." This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another's data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement; and
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Plagiarism is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly by the course's instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of "F" for the course or even suspension or expulsion from the University.
