CLCV 1003 is an introduction to the study of Roman antiquity from the time of the founding of Rome in the eighth century BC. down to the end of the Western Roman Empire in the fifth century AD. Rome’s culture and society will be set in their historical context and studied through readings, through translations from representative Latin authors, and through the art and architecture of the period.

Course work will entail the writing of three quizzes (multiple choice and/or fill-in-the-blank) worth 25% each (and covering only the material immediately preceding the quiz) and a cumulative final examination (predominately multiple choice/fill-in-the-blanks though the exact format is to be announced) worth 25%.
The dates of the quizzes are as follows: Quiz 1 (January 20), Quiz 2 (February 17), Quiz 3 (March 17). The final will be scheduled by the Registrar’s Office.

Required texts:

1 Alternatively BCE is used for BC by some writers, CE for AD.
2 The first and third quiz will also include a map.
3 Should you be absent from any quiz, you are responsible for contacting your T.A. to arrange for a make-up, which will be given one week to the day after the quiz missed and during the normal class time. A medical excuse will be required. You are also responsible for acquiring the class notes for the lecture material missed while writing the make-up; you should, therefore, ask one of your fellow students to take notes.
4 Students are required to take their exams at the time set by the University, unless an exemption is granted by the Registrar. Please note that I will not personally grant an early or deferred exam for this course.

COPIES OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED
Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

PLAGIARISM
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in “substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.”

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of “F” for the course.
