Overview

This course is interested in examining the transformation of the Roman Empire in the west, during the period conventionally known as Late Antiquity. Spanning the period between 400 (around the conventional 'fall' of Roman power) and the emergence of new kingdoms under leaders such as Charlemagne, the course will analyse the social, political, and cultural phenomena which helped to create the medieval world. We will keep one eye on events in the east, as well, since the emergence of the Islamic Umayyad Caliphate and the spread of Muslim power throughout north Africa, and then into Spain, is of great interest.

Course objectives:

1. To develop the tools of historical analysis, particularly balanced, critical thinking, as they concern the study of ancient history.
2. To apply these skills in class discussion, written analyses, and presentations.
3. To encourage the student to use his or her reading of the ancient evidence to develop and argue a particular point of view.

Readings

Required (at the bookstore):

1. C. Wickham. The Inheritance of Rome (Penguin).

2. P. Sarris. Empires of Faith (Oxford).
3. B. Ward-Perkins. The Fall of Rome (Oxford).

Course Evaluation/Important Dates

Note on plagiarism. I draw your attention to the University's regulations and guidelines on plagiarism, which can be found on the last page of this course outline. Note that I have a policy of submitting all work suspected of plagiarism to the Associate Dean of FASS, without exception. I also have a zero tolerance policy for late assignments without a medical note. All late assignments without adequate explanation will receive an automatic zero.

February 15, Friday:	take-home assignment due	25%
Throughout the term:	class presentations	10% (participation mark)
April 5, Friday:	research essay due	35%
April 27, Saturday:	Final takehome due.	30%

Note: submission dates etc. for final takehomes are determined by the university. The questions will be provided on the final day of class.

Schedule of topics: we will begin with a brief historical overview of the Roman Empire in both east and west to bring everyone up to speed, and then we will switch between narrative and thematic approaches to cover the changing nature of Roman power (January and February) and the various barbarian kingdoms (February and March). Throughout we will look at how the memory and structures of the Roman state were reinvented and reimagined in order to underpin new ideas about political, cultural, and religious legitimacy.

All evaluation in this course is via written work. Marks will be given for clearly-written, concise answers which address the question in a balanced, analytical and thoughtful way, and, particularly in the case of term papers and take-homes, support your arguments in a convincing fashion. I expect correct spelling and use of grammar! Poorly-written answers will lose marks.

All exams will be submitted electronically through WebCT e-mail by 11.59 EST on the set day.

1. The two take-home assignments will involve short essays questions on material covered in readings and in class. No further research is expected of you for this assignment. Questions will be provided one week before the due date.
2. The short essay will be about 10pp. More details to follow in class.
3. Class presentations will be on subjects germane to the course but which are not necessarily covered in detail in class. The purpose of the presentations is to give students the opportunity to develop oral communication skills as well as to break up the three hour block.
4. Please note: all written work provided as part of the take-home exam must be the work of the individual writing the exam. Group work is not acceptable. Citations should be used where appropriate, following the formats you have used for your term papers; if you are referencing from class notes, it is acceptable to cite as “class notes, date.”

Please make sure you keep up with the readings and attend class regularly. Both are vital for success in this course.

Office hours. My office hours are at the top of this page. Please e-mail me or talk to me after class to arrange a suitable time if they are not convenient.

Class time. I would ask all of you to give your full attention in class. If you have to make a phone call, send a text, etc., please leave the class and return when you are finished. This is to avoid distracting your teacher and the students around you.

Note: standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Other Notes

1. Please see the final page, “Regulations common to all Humanities courses”, for information on plagiarism, requests for academic accommodation, etc.
2. If you cannot complete an assignment due to illness or other unforeseen circumstances, it is your responsibility to inform me so that alternative arrangements can be made. Documentary evidence of your reason for missing an assignment must be provided.
3. It is your responsibility to come to class prepared. This includes doing the readings.
4. LATE PAPERS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED. There are NO exceptions, unless you have a compelling reason why you cannot submit your paper on time (illness, emergency etc.), in which case it is YOUR responsibility to inform me so alternative arrangements can be made.

COPIES OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED

Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

PLAGIARISM

The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in “substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.”

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of “F” for the course

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

PETITIONS TO DEFER

If you miss a final examination and/or fail to submit a FINAL assignment by the due date because of circumstances beyond your control, you may apply a deferral of examination/assignment. If you are applying for a deferral due to illness you will be required to see a physician in order to confirm illness and obtain a medical certificate dated no later than one working day after the examination or assignment deadline. This supporting documentation must specify the date of onset of the illness, the degree of incapacitation, and the expected date of recovery.

If you are applying for a deferral for reasons other than personal illness, please contact the Registrar’s Office directly for information on other forms of documentation that we accept.

Deferrals of assignments must be supported by confirmation of the assignment due date, for example a copy of the course outline specifying the due date and any documented extensions from the course instructor.

Deferral applications for examination or assignments must be submitted within 5 working days of the original final exam.
