

Contract Instructor Opportunities FALL/WINTER 2017-18

CGSC 3004 B: Philosophy and Cognitive Science [0.5 credit, Winter]

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Philosophy and Cognitive Science

Cognitive science from a philosophical perspective. Topics may include: philosophical methods for studying the mind, prospects for naturalizing consciousness and intentionality, assessing competing models of the mind.

Course Prerequisite(s): third-year year standing and 0.5 credit in CGSC 2001, or in PHIL at the 2000-level or above. Seminar three hours per week.

Pursuant to Article 16.3(c) of the CUPE 4600 Unit 2 Collective Agreement, subject to Article 15.2, expressions of interest are invited from member of the CUPE 4600 bargaining unit and other interested persons to teach the aforementioned cognitive science course during the 2017-2018 Fall/Winter terms. Offers of employment and replies to these offers are subject to Articles 15.4 and 15.5 respectively.

Applicants should be either near completion in a Ph.D. program in Cognitive Science, or hold a Ph.D. in Cognitive Science or Philosophy and have teaching experience in Cognitive Science and/or the Philosophy of Mind at the university level.

Applicants are asked to submit a Curriculum Vita that includes a listing of all courses taught within the CUPE 4600 Unit 2 bargaining unit at Carleton University and a contract instructor application form (see link below). Applicants who are not incumbents should also submit a brief teaching dossier, highlighting information that is relevant to the course, and teaching evaluations, if available, from other courses taught. Please send the material by June 5th, 2017 electronically to:
