NEW REALITIES – NEW STRATEGIES

A new administration in the United States, and the deadly attack at a Quebec, City (Canada) Mosque have added new layers of complexity to an already changing urban security landscape. A major international conference, the first-ever of its kind, will bring together leading experts from around the world to develop new strategies to fight against extremists, violent civil disorder and terrorism/counterterrorism.

The International Urban Security and Resilience Conference, Workshop and Exhibition, May 16 - 19, 2017, to be held at the Toronto Sheraton Centre East, featuring prominent speakers from across North America and Europe, sharing the latest research, intelligence and best practices, all in an effort to find solutions to the increasingly complex security challenges of the 21st century. The Event is expected to attract 1,200 representatives of the security, intelligence and law enforcement communities, public and private security practitioners, senior government officials, community and corporate leaders, non-governmental agencies, and academia.
