

Study Permit Renewal Guide

If your study permit will expire before you expect to finish your program, then you must apply for a new study permit. This application is an extension or renewal of your student status. Most Carleton students make this application successfully by following the information found in this guide.

It's important to know:

- If your passport is about to expire, getting a new one is the first step.
- You must be in Canada to renew your study permit.
- If you apply for a new study permit before your current permit expires, you can continue to study and work in Canada as usual, even if your study permit expires while you are waiting for a decision on your application. If you are in this situation, you have “maintained status” in Canada while waiting to receive a new valid study permit. You will lose maintained status if you leave Canada.
- If you allow your study permit to expire without applying for a new study permit, then you must stop studying and working immediately. You may be able to apply to restore your status within 90 days. This is a more expensive and more complicated application.
- If you also need a new visa (Temporary Resident Visa or TRV), you must wait until your new study permit is approved before applying for the TRV. If your TRV expires while you are in Canada, it isn't usually an immediate problem. You need the visa only for travel to Canada.
- IRCC = Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada, the government department that will decide on your application and issue your study permit.
- Carleton students may contact the ISSO immigration advising team for personal advice and support.

1. Study Permit Renewal Checklist

Part One: Plan Ahead

1. Know when your study permit expires.
2. Know when your passport expires.
3. If you need a new passport, learn where and how where to get it, and how long it will take, which is different for each country. Many countries have embassies or high commissions in Ottawa where you can get this information. If there is a delay in getting your passport, don't let your study permit expire because of it! Contact the ISSO for advice in this situation.
4. Make a reminder for yourself about when you should start working on your application.
5. Set yourself a deadline and make a reminder for submitting the application.

The IRCC website advises you to submit your renewal application 30 days before the expiry date. That is a suggestion and not a rule. The ISSO recommends that most students apply about 3 months before their permit expires. You might apply even earlier if you plan to travel and will also need a new visa before leaving Canada. Please note that IRCC processing times are not always accurate.

Part Two: Apply Online for a Study Permit

Step 1: Gather your documents. Scan them or take photos.

You need these documents:

1. Carleton documents that show:
 - You are currently enrolled, and
 - The date when you will complete your program of study.

These are:

- A current Certificate of Enrolment, which you may order from Carleton Central. Select option #3. You can watch a video about how to order a Certificate of Enrolment.
- [For undergraduates] A Statement of Student Progress from the Registrar's Office that states when you will complete your program, based on the credits you still need to earn. Contact the ISSO first for a referral note.

- Please note that if you are currently doing a co-op term, the Registrar won't be able to prepare a Statement of Student Progress. In this case, you can submit a request for a Confirmation of Student Enrollment Letter in mySuccess that states your expected program completion date. Learn more here. You don't need a referral letter from the ISSO.
 - [For graduates] A letter from your department or the FGPA that states your expected program completion date. Request the letter from graduate.studies@carleton.ca.
2. Your Passport
 - Include all pages that have your personal information, valid visas, or entry and exit stamps.
 3. Financial documents that show enough money is available for at least your next year of study (tuition and living expenses), for example:
 - Letter from your parent or another person who supports your education and 3-4 months of their bank statements (or an employment letter, or other proof of funds)
 - Scholarship letter
 - Proof of prepayment of tuition

Other financial documents may also be accepted.
 4. Digital photo, like a passport photo. Check the technical specifications in the application information.

Some students will include these documents as well:

5. Medical exam receipt — This may be from the immigration medical exam you did before coming to Canada if it was within the last twelve months. Most students don't need to do a new medical exam after arriving in Canada, unless they want to do certain kinds of work.
6. Co-op letter — You need a letter from the Co-op Office if you are applying for a co-op work permit in addition to a study permit.

Step 2: Sign in and set up your online application

1. Begin an online application at the Government of Canada website. Use your Canadian bank sign-in information or a GC Key for an IRCC Secure Account.
2. Scroll past the references to a Personal Reference Code to look for “Start an Application”, then “Apply to Come to Canada”. Choose the option “Visitor visa, study or work permit”.
3. Answer the eligibility questionnaire (see the next section for tips).

After you finish the questionnaire, the system will create your document list. Once you start an application, you have 60 days to finish it. Your work is automatically saved each time you leave or sign out.

Step 3: Complete application form IMM 5709

1. Download IMM 5709 (the PDF application form) from the document list to your computer.
 - Open the file with Adobe Acrobat Reader.

- Fill in the information on your computer. See Section 3: Answers to Selected Questions on Application Form IMM 5709.
2. When the form is complete, click the “Validate” button, then save the document on your computer.
 3. Upload the form to your application.

Step 4: Upload supporting documents to your application.

- Each line accepts only one document. You may have to merge two or more documents before you upload them. SmallPDF is a website that can help you to merge multiple PDFs. On a Mac computer, you can drag and drop Preview thumbnail images to combine PDFs.
- One line of the application is called “Letter of Acceptance”. Upload your merged Carleton documents there.

Two application items are identified as optional:

- Schedule 1 IMM 5257. If you answered “No” to background questions #3-6 on IMM 5709, you probably don’t need this form.
- Client Information – This is where you may upload a letter of explanation and any additional documents. These aren’t needed for most renewal applications.

Step 5: Pay the fee and submit your application

When all your documents are uploaded, continue to sign the application electronically, pay the $150 fee with a debit or credit card, and submit the application. If you must give biometrics*, $85 is added to your fees.

*As of summer 2022, there is still a biometrics exemption for in-Canada applications. As long as the exemption is in place, if you pay the $85 fee, it will be refunded automatically.

Step 6: Watch your email for messages from IRCC

If you have not already given biometrics (fingerprints and photo) within the last 10 years, you will receive a biometrics instruction letter through your IRCC secure account. You must take this letter to a biometrics collection centre*, together with your passport. The closest collection centre to Carleton University is the Service Canada Centre and Passport Office at 885 Meadowlands Drive East.

Note:* As of summer 2022, anyone applying for an in-Canada extension of status is exempt from giving biometrics. This is a special measure due to COVID-19. The requirement to give biometrics may return in the future. Contact the ISSO or the IRCC website if you have doubts on this point. If you are not sure if IRCC has your valid biometrics already, you can check their status online.

Sometimes an immigration officer will ask for additional documents, such as a transcript. You must reply promptly, or your application will probably be refused. When the officer requests a new document, a line is added to your online application for you to upload it. In addition to uploading the document, it’s very important to click on “next”, or else the document will not be submitted.

You will be notified by email when a decision is made, and a new message appears in your account. This message includes the number of your new study permit and its expiry date. The actual study permit will be mailed to you at your Canadian address.

If you want to update information, such as your mailing address, after submitting your application, you can contact IRCC using the Web Form.

Note about Temporary Resident Visas

If you need a TRV (also called an entry visa), then you can apply for it after your study permit application is approved.

There won't be a problem if your TRV expires while you are waiting for your study permit, as long as you remain in Canada. If you have to leave Canada, you won't be allowed to return unless you have a valid TRV.

2. Eligibility Questionnaire

Online applications begin with a questionnaire. Your answers instruct the system about which forms and documents should be included in your application list.

You can click on the question mark icon to get details or definitions related to any question.
